"WE SHALL RESTORE NOT DESTROY."

adapted to concentrating cash and restricting credits; an industrial system which, take it on all its sides financial as well as administrative, holds capital in leading strings, restricts the liberties and limits the opportunities of labor, and exploits without renewing or conserving the natural resources of the country; a body of agricultural activities never yet given the efficiency of great business undertakings or services as it should be through the instrumentality of science taken directly to the farm, or afforded the facilities of credit best suited to its practical needs; places unrequited forests, unattended, fast disappearing without plan or prospect of renewal, unregarded waste heaps at every mine.

"We have studied as perhaps no other nation has the most effective means of production. We have not studied cost or economy as we should either as organizers of industry, as statesmen or as individuals.

Plea For Justice.

"Nor have we studied and perfected the means by which government may be put at the service of humanity, in safeguarding the health of the nation, the health of its men and its women and its children, as well as their rights in the struggle for existence. This is no sentimental duty. The firm basis of government is justice, not pity. These are matters of justice. There can be no equality or opportunity, the first essential of justice in the body politic, if men and women and children be not shielded from their lives, their very vitality, from the consequences of great industrial and social processes which they cannot alter, control, or singly cope with.

"Society must see to it that it does not itself crush or weaken or damage its own constituent parts. The first duty of laws is to keep sound the society it serves. Sanitary laws, pure food laws, and laws determining conditions of labor which individuals are powerless to determine for themselves are intimate parts of the very business of justice and legal efficiency.

Must Restore, Not Destroy

"These are some of the things we ought to do, and not leave the others undone, the old-fashioned, never-to-be-neglected, fundamental safeguarding of property and of individual right. This is the high enterprise of the new day; to lift everything that concerns our life as a Nation to the light that shines from the heartiness of every man's conscience and vision of the right. It is inconceivable that we should do this as partisans; it is conceivable we should do it in ignorance of the facts as they are or in blind haste.

"We shall restore, not destroy. We shall deal with our economic system as it is and as it may be modified, not as it might be if we had a clean sheet of paper to write upon; and step by step we shall make it what it should be, in the spirit of those who question their own wisdom and seek counsel and knowledge, not shallow self-satisfaction or the excitement of excursions whither they cannot tell. Justice, and only justice, shall always be our motto.

Asks Help for Patriots.

"And yet it will be no cool process of mere science. The Nation has been deeply stirred, stirred by a solemn passion, stirred by the knowledge of too often debauched and made an instrument of evil. The feelings with which we face this new age of right and opportunity sweep across our heart-strings like some air out of God's own presence, where justice and mercy are reconciled and the judge and the brother are one.

SOIT:—Mrs. Fannie Soit, an aged resident of this place, passed away on Monday at 5:26 p. m., at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. H. Musser on West Howard street. She had been ailing for some time and her death was due to the infirmities of old age. The deceased was born in Mackeyville and would have been eighty-five years old in April. Her maiden name was Fannie Spayd. She was married to David Soit, a respected citizen of Mackeyville, who preceded her to the grave about eighteen years ago, since which time, she has made her home with her daughter. She was a sincere christian woman and a life long member of the Reformed church. Surviving her are her two daughters, Mrs. L. H. Musser, of Bellefonte, and Mrs. Thomas Barnhart, of Florida. The funeral took place on Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the residence of L. H. Musser. Rev. Ambrose M. Schmidt, of the Reformed church, assisted by Rev. G. E. Hays, of the Presbyterian church, conducted the services. Interment in the Union cemetery.

STRECK:—Alva Streck, born and reared in Beech Creek township, died at Benson Mines, St. Lawrence Co., N. Y., last Friday. He was taken ill suddenly and walked 13 miles Thursday to a small inn or hotel, on Cranberry Lake, from where a physician was sent for and reached him that night. He died in the inn the next morning at 6 o'clock when sitting in a chair, being unable to lie down. The deceased was born July 7, 1878 and was in his 35th year. He is survived by his mother, Mrs. John Streck, his father having died about three years ago. The following ten brothers and sisters survive: Charles, John and Harry, of Beech Creek township; Adam, of Lock Haven; William, of Glen Union; Eva, wife of Robert Renninger, and Miss Flora, of Beech Creek township; Minnie, wife of Horton Clark, of Bloomington, Ill.; Anna, wife of Patrick Gaynor, of Salamanca, N. Y.; Ellen, wife of George Gunshall, of Nittany. The funeral was held Tuesday morning, March 5th, at 10 o'clock, at the home of James Edwin Dunning in the Methodist church.

MILLER:—On Thursday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock Mrs. Sallie R. Miller, wife of John E. Miller, passed away at her home on east Howard street. Death was due to an attack of gall stones, from which she had been suffering for about three weeks. The deceased was born at Hublersburg, Centre county, Pa., October 13th, 1878, and was aged 34 years, 4 months and 14 days. Her maiden name was Sallie R. Knapp and she was the daughter of William and Mary Knapp. She was married July 8th, 1899 to John E. Miller, who survives her with five small children, namely: Charles, Myra, Louise, Anna and Merrill. She leaves the following brothers and sisters: Merrill and Eusebia, of Bellefonte; Charles, of Beaver Falls and Mrs. Lillie Peters, of Rochester, N. Y. She was a sincere christian woman and her death will be mourned, not only by the bereaved husband and children, but by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The funeral services were held on Monday at 2 p. m. from the house. Rev. E. H. Yocum, pastor of the Methodist church officiated. Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

THIEL:—Samuel Thiel, a former Centre county, but late a resident of Storm Lake, Iowa, died at the home of his wife, Mrs. Thiel, at Marsh Creek, this county, on Wednesday, February 26th, 1913 at 2:45 p. m. Death was due to Bright's disease from which he had been suffering for some time. About two months ago he came east to visit relatives and in hopes of regaining his health, but he failed to improve and gradually growing worse, passed away as above stated. The deceased was born at Marsh Creek and would have been 67 years of age on the 29th of this month. He was united in marriage with Miss Celia Mack thirty-four years ago and she survives him with the following children: Charles and Clarence, of Storm Lake, Iowa, and her mother, the following brothers and sisters: Jacob, George, Joseph, Laura, Mary, Ella and Margaret, all of Marsh Creek. The funeral took place Saturday, March 1st from the Marsh Creek church, Rev. E. H. Zockman, officiating. Interment at Marsh Creek. A great deal of sympathy was expressed for the widow and children especially as they were unable to reach his bedside previous to his death.

WITHERITE:—The venerable widow of the late A. C. Witherite, of Boggs township, Lydia Ann Witherite, (nee Bumgardner) departed this life on the evening of February 24, 1913, between 6 and 7 o'clock, after about eleven days' illness from what purported to be pneumonia, which after all seemed to be a complication arising from declining age. Her grand-children came from Germany to New York from where they came to Milford county, this state. Her father died when she was 19 years old, and her mother when she was 14. She married A. C. Witherite on Dec. 1, 1853, and became the mother of three children: Henry A., who lived till 1908; Clara Jane, who died young; and Mary Alice Rodgers, of Osceola, Pa., who nursed her during her last illness, and survives her with her husband, J. A. Rodgers, and children, Fiddell and Edna at home. Mrs. H. A. Witherite and her children, Wilhelms A., of Connelville, Pa., wife and daughter, and Margaret; Mrs. Eva Belle Garbrick and husband, of Tyrone, Pa., with an aged sister of the deceased, Mrs. Henrietta Rider, of Kenwaydin, Clearfield county, who together with a nephew of hers, Wm. H. Bumgardner, of Fulton, Pa., attended her funeral, which took place on the 27th ult. Rev. J. Zeigler officiating. Interment was made in Messiah's church cemetery. She was an estimable woman, a peaceable neighbor, a faithful wife, a devoted mother, and a prayerful Bible reader and a God-fearing believer of its precepts, chaste and upright in her deportment, respected by all who knew her. Aged 83 years, 1 month and 14 days. Z

WHO OWNS THE SCRAPS?

Mrs. George P. Jackson, of Evanston, Ill., writes to the butcher shop the other day and bought four and a half pounds of tenderloin steak which was ordered dressed into "fillet of beef." She paid for the steak and then saw it pared. The "trimmings" were retained by the butcher. When the woman reached home she weighed the meat and found that two pounds had been cut away and had gone into the butcher's scrap box. Mrs. Jackson then caused the arrest of the butcher.

After listening to the arguments of the meat sellers to the effect that it was "the custom," the magistrate discharged the butcher on the grounds that he was only a helper, but advised the woman to proceed against the provisions of the shop, which counsel she expects to follow.

It is likely that the case will decide who owns the scraps, a question upon which there seems to be a diversity of opinions. When a person purchases a pound or two of meat and notices the butcher trim off a large portion of it after it has been weighed and then observes that he has been charged the full price for the meat scraps that have been consigned to the butcher's scrap box that ultimate consumer is apt to become pessimistic. Of course, all butchers do not operate this way. Some of them trim the meat Tribune-Republican observes, however, that the act which aroused the Evanston woman is "the custom" in a good many shops and hopes that the Evanston case will establish a precedent that will assist in reducing the high cost of living in that suburb of Chicago and elsewhere.

The purchaser surely is entitled to full legal weight and should "scrap" for the scraps, if necessary.

Your Soil Is Alive

O all intents and purposes, soil is alive. It breathes, works, rests; it drinks, and, most important of all, it feeds. It responds to good or bad treatment. It pays its debts with interest many times compounded. Being alive, to work it must be fed. During the non-growing seasons certain chemical changes take place which make the fertility in the soil available for next season's crop. But this process adds no plant food to the soil. Unless plant food is added to soil on which crops are grown, in time it starves. There is one best way to feed your soil. Stable manure, which contains all the essentials of plant life, should be spread evenly and in the proper quantity with an

I H C Manure Spreader

I H C manure spreaders are made in all styles and sizes. There are low machines which are not too low, but can be used in mud and deep snow, or in sloppy barnyards. They are made with either endless or reverse aprons. Frames are made of steel, braced and trussed like a steel bridge. Sizes run from small, narrow machines to machines of large capacity. The rear axle is placed well under the box, where it carries over 70 per cent of the load, insuring plenty of tractive power. Beaters are of large diameter to prevent winding. The teeth are square and chisel-pointed. The apron drive controls the load, insuring even spreading whether the machine is working up or down hill, or on the level. I H C spreaders have a rear axle differential, enabling them to spread evenly when turning corners.

I H C local dealers handling these machines will show you all their good points. Get literature and full information from them, or write
