LETTER FROM ILLINOIS.

Big Rock, Ill., March 10, 1913.

Dear Editor:—I have been very busy since coming west, but will take time to drop my friends a few lines through the Centre Democrat. As it is impossible for me to write to all my friends, I have taken this plan. Myself and family left Bellefonte on the 19th of February and arrived in Chicago; it was sleeting and raining about as hard as I ever saw it, and when we got to Elburn it was zero weather and you were not safe driving or walking. The rain and sleet had frozen to trees and telephone wires and telephone poles snapped off like matches. Sour cherry trees are nearly all ruined in this community. I tell you we were just like the western horses that the people buy in the east, we have to be acclimated. We have seen one of the worst blizzards that has ever been here, so we have had it pretty tough, the weather was so nice in the east. Our furniture had arrived in Big Rock on the first of March and we moved on the 3rd and had lots of help. I find the people very generous and kind here and really believe that we are in a very generous community. Nothing is too much trouble for the people to do for us and so I really think we will have a pleasant home. We have moved a distance of ten miles and had lots of things broken. Any person writing to us please address all mail to Big Rock, Kane Co., Ill.

ADVICE TO STUDENTS.

Recently in the Commoner W. J. Bryan in writing to Earl Cranston, Jr., East Side High school, Denver, Colorado, gives the following good advice to students: "You may quote me as saying: A request for advice from a student to one who has passed middle life can best be granted by a response which will be useful, and the obligation to make such answer is the greater you are in this case, as you reach a large number of students."

"I need not dwell upon the necessity for education; it may be assumed that those to whom these words are addressed already appreciate the vital importance of mental training. They need rather to be warned against the temptations that come with education, and there are two which most deserve consideration:

"The first temptation is to forget God; the sin of the first pair in the Garden of Eden grew out of a determination to trust the head instead of the heart. They could not see why limitations were placed upon them, and therefore they resolved upon disobedience. The mind must not think of itself too highly; it is not the commander-in-chief of man's destiny. Faith is greater than reason. Pascal truly says that the heart has reasons that the reason can not understand, because the heart is of an infinitely higher order. Learning is good, but remember always that 'the fear of God is the beginning of wisdom.' Religion is the most practical thing which man has to do, because it alone gives him a conception of life, and furnishes a foundation upon which a moral code can be built.

"The second temptation is to put selfish interests above the common good—the temptation to regard education as a means of getting ahead of others rather than as a means of larger service. Let not the training of the mind work against your sympathy with your fellows. Education will make you stronger; put that larger strength at the service of those who are weaker and learn a lesson of paramount importance, namely, that life is measured not by what we get out of the world, but by what we put into the world.

"I venture to offer these two suggestions for your annual, in the hope that they may, in some small degree, strengthen your readers for a large contribution to the welfare of society. Very truly yours, W. J. BRYAN."

FRUIT TOWN.

Well spring is here, the birds have again returned to make their homes with us, the trees will soon be putting forth their green leaves, and the blossoms will appear to fill the air with their sweet fragrance, but how many who enjoyed all this last spring have gone to their home beyond.

Cash on Delivery to Parcels Post.

The parcel post has met with such universal favor that the service is to be further improved by the department and on July 1 a new feature will be added.

Under the approved regulations a parcel bearing the required amount of parcel post stamps may be sent anywhere in the country and the amount due the sender from the purchaser collected and remitted by the postoffice department.

The regulations provide that the parcel must bear the amount due from the addressee and the collection will be made, provided the amount is not in excess of $100. The fee will be 10 cents to be affixed by the sender in parcel post stamps. This also will insure the parcel to an amount not to exceed $50.

Another new privilege is that, by adding the regular 10-cent special delivery fee the sender may have his package delivered by special messenger.

How Wilson Forecasts Weather.

President Wilson has tipped off the Weather Bureau that he has what he considers an infallible barometer. It is his razor strap, and every morning the little piece of leather whispers to him to wear his raincoat and umbrella or his frock coat and accompanying finery.

"When I find that my razor does not glide smoothly over the strap," said the president, "I know that it is going to rain, for my well-tuned strap is very sensitive to atmospheric conditions. I have utmost confidence in the strap and always consult it before filling engagements."

If you change your postoffice address this spring kindly notify us once and be sure to give the old as well as the new address.

RECENT DEATHS.

VIERT—Charles Vierd died at his home in South Phillipsburg on Thursday of last week, aged 67 years. His death occurred just about ten days after that of his wife, the late Mrs. Sarah Vierd, of which this paper made mention in the last issue. Five sons survive. Interment was made at Frenchville.

BIERLY—Mrs. Nancy Bierly, widow of the late Israel Bierly, died at Tyone on Saturday night while on a visit to relatives. The remains were taken to the home of her daughter, Mrs. W. G. Smith, at Loganton. She is survived by three sons and three daughters. Funeral services were conducted at 10 o'clock, this morning in the United Evangelical church. Interment in the Loganton cemetery.

PRICE—David O. Price, an aged resident of Brownstown, Wisconsin, died in that place March 3rd, of a complication of diseases. He was born at Centre Hill, Centre county, Sept. 7, 1827, making his age 85 years, 4 months and 26 days. He went west in 1852, taking his family with him, and making the trip with a wagon and team. On reaching Chicago, which was then but a small place and the surrounding country nothing but frog ponds, his team stalled, and he was obliged to call for assistance to haul out his wagon. A few years later he purchased a farm of 160 acres near Wadams Grove, Illinois, and here he lived until 1895, when he moved to farm nearby where he died. His wife, whose maiden name was Anna Weaver, died in 1874. Four children survive.

STEINKERCHNER—Mrs. Elizabeth Steinkerchner died at 3:20 Friday morning at the family homestead at Drifting, Clearfield county. While she had been a sufferer for some time with rheumatism, her death was the result of a stroke of paralysis which overtook her on Monday evening. The deceased, whose maiden name was Miss Elizabeth Ollinger, was born at Pine Glen, this county, on April 4, 1836, making her age 76 years, 11 months and 10 days. She was the daughter of John and Mary Ollinger. She was married to Mr. Steinkerchner about 37 years ago, and has had a long and happy life. Besides her husband she leaves eight sons and daughters to mourn her departure. Her aged mother, who resides at Grass Flat, and two brothers and two sisters also survive. The funeral took place on Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the St. Severinus Catholic church, of which the deceased had long been a devoted member.

THE GOOD ROADS BILL.

Confirmation of the appointment of State Highway Commissioner Bigelow by the senate is believed to have opened the way for consideration of the good roads amendment proposition, whose friends refrained from pushing it during the period in which any uncertainty as to the future management of the highway department might have been used against it. All this is now out of the way and there is believed to be plain sailing for the amendment. Its passage by the senate is considered as assured and it will then be sent over to the house, where the friends of good roads will rally to its support.

It appears probable now that an attempt will be made to secure special election for submitting this proposed amendment to the people, but that it will be allowed to await the regular election next November, when the voters will have an opportunity to say whether or not the building of main state highways throughout Pennsylvania shall be financed in an adequate manner.
