Receipt For Making Good Husbands.

One of our lady subscribers who says she enjoys the department of our paper, hands us the following receipt for making good husbands, which she has tested and it worked like a charm:

First. Be a good wife; in so doing you will have a good influence over hubby.

Second. Treat him to kind words, kisses and good dinners. Prepare the dishes he likes best, if your means will allow.

Third. Keep his room in order no matter how often he scatters things around; put his boots where he will always know where to find them.

Fourth. Never scold; no matter how wet the wood or how much the stove smokes; tell him you like it that way; smile and go on.

Fifth. Make him believe he is all the world to you, as, indeed he should be. Laugh at his jokes, no matter how stale.

And last but not least, keep all his buttons sewed on and all in their proper places, and all his socks well darned. Then, if you don't have a good husband we will say that you must have remarkably poor material to work on.

Social grace requires the wife to dress neatly, if simply, to make home pleasant, and, as far as compatible with her duties, to be ready to be the companion of her husband when he is ready to sit down at home. She will cheerfully recognize his every small attention and gladly reciprocate. To bring home a flower or a dainty little gift is a gracious act, which the tactful woman will appreciate.

A Word of Advice For Young People. We are sure the following beautiful lines from Louise M. Alcott will be appreciated by the readers of this column. They were written especially for the younger members of the household and speak of it as of great profit to listen and heed:

"Dear young men and maids, let one, who in the capacity of teacher, nurse, friend, or author has been much behind the scenes for fifty years assure you that the secret of success lies with ourselves as men and women now and in God's good time, as the fathers and mothers in the coming generations. Boys, for such I love to call you, and such most of you are, till five and twenty, set up a high standard and never tire of trying to reach it. Don't begin your day with a cigar and end it in a theatre, billiard room or club. Keep innocency, for in the end it shall profit your soul much and open the way to heaven for thee. Never believe the pernicious saying that 'young men must sow wild oats.' "Girls, don't be in haste to wed. Build up healthy bodies by good food, plenty of exercise and sleep. Learn all the household arts before you attempt to make a home. Above all, select your friends with care. Avoid girls who live on love, on flirtation and on enjoyment, and use the privilege all women may claim, to decline the acquaintance of young men whose eyes will not bear inspection by the innocent eyes of women. Set your standard high and live up to it, sure that the reward will come, here or hereafter, and in the form best suited to your needs.

"Birth, marriage and death are three solemn mysteries given us to study, and the second of these is the key which solves the problem of the other two, since well-born children and true wealth and love will help us to bless and save this world, and send us rejoicing to receive our reward in the next."

The cheerfulness which should be one of the chief characteristics of the home life is often sadly in the minority, simply because the example of a cheerful disposition is not set by the wife and mother. One glimpse of her face as she begins the duties of the day is sufficient for the rest of the family. If it bears the illumination of a pleasant smile as she passes from room to room, if her greeting to others is bright and cheery, if she has a pleasant word for those with whom she mingles, they will catch the inspiration and the day will be bright and sunny thereby.

How kindness brightens and beautifies the home. As the gentle breezes, the warm showers, the sunshine of the springtime all call forth vegetable life and fruitfulness in nature, so kindness brightens, beautifies and enriches the home life, filling it with the sweetest peace joy, memories that are more precious than the contents of an alabaster box.

To have a home of our own and to live distinctly and honestly within our means is essential to all married life. How many couples now in mature life and surrounded by luxury and wealth, look back to the days of early privations as among the happiest days of their life. No sensible person will deem it a hardship to begin on a moderate scale. And when we have descended to the top steps of prosperity, we may look back on the days of small things as the golden days of our hearts if not our purses.

Bitter experiences are sometimes productive of sweet results. Among the more homely but most essential accomplishments of a young woman is that of housewifery.

remainder of their lives at their old home town. They are at present staying with their daughter, Mrs. A. W. Mitchell, at Ridgway.

Howard I. Hout, who for two years, farmed the McCool place, between Centre Hill and Tusseyville, will move onto the Strohm farm, at Centre Hill, now owned by J. C. Goodhart. Mr. Hackenberg, of Potters Mills, will be employed by J. H. McCool on his Centre Hill farm.

Harry Harvey, of State College, who has been a patient sufferer for more than a year from an affection of the bones and who has undergone treatment in New York, Philadelphia and Bellefonte, left last Wednesday for Harrisburg, where a specialist will endeavor to arrest the disease. Harry was a member of the class of 1914 and a bright student.

State College is enthusiastic over the prospects of a building boom. The Times boasts that at least eighty buildings will be constructed. The largest will be those of the Farmers Trust Co., Dunn & Wood, and John L. Holmes. In May the Nittany Real Estate Co. expects to begin remodeling the hotel. Most of the residences will be erected in the west end.

Charles B. Neff, west of Old Fort, is reaping the benefits of the silo. A large quantity of corn was put into a silo last summer, and this winter Mr. Neff is keeping a dozen or more cows in good flow of milk, by judiciously feeding the ensilage, cotton meal and grain. His herd of cows is in fine condition, and proving profitable, much less than producing it without the ensilage.—Reporter.

C. A. Stuck, of Port Matilda, sold a dog to James Kline, of McClure, Pa., and shipped the canine by express. About a week later Mr. Stuck was surprised to find the dog at his home, reduced to almost a shadow by hunger and exposure. In its travels the dog had probably crossed the Seven and Muncy mountains with nothing to guide it but instinct. Its feet were bleeding from the long tramp.

The Penn State Glee club started on its trip to the Pacific coast on Saturday. The club gave a concert in Pittsburgh Saturday night. After leaving Chicago stops will be made in Illinois, Kansas, Texas, New Mexico, Arizona and California, the terminus being either at San Francisco or Los Angeles. At Chicago the club will be joined by H. G. Hollister, class of 1911, who engineered the trip for the club.

W. F. Slagle, a Bloomsburg implement dealer, was indicted by a Montour county grand jury last week, charged with attempting to burn down his warehouse at Danville. The Journal states that this is the same party who came to Millheim about two years ago and laid claim to a horse, buggy and wagon that had been sold to citizens in town by Ray Miller, and made the buyers pay again for the same.

Last week S. P. Hockman sold his farm at Mingoville to C. S. Garbrick for $5,000 and he expects to occupy it this coming spring. It contains 115 acres and is a very desirable property. Mr. Hockman has been farming long enough and came to the conclusion to take matters a little easier, as he has done his share of hard work in his time. He will make sale of his personal property on April 5th.

Mrs. Louisa Weaver, who recently lost all her household effects in a fire at the boarding house she conducted at Philadelphia, is a sister of W. Speer Breen, of Millheim. The fire, from which Mrs. Weaver narrowly escaped with her life, claimed one victim, Miss Elizabeth Loyal, a boarder, who was suffocated. John Collins, another boarder, received a broken leg by dropping from a third story window. At the time of the fire Mrs. Weaver, daughter, Miss Elsie, and son, Clifford, and the two boarders mentioned above, were the only occupants of the house.

The Junior Aid Society, of the Pleasant Gap Lutheran church, will hold an Easter mystery supper at Noll's Hall on Saturday evening, March 23rd. The proceeds to be applied to the building fund. Apart from ice cream, cake and home made candies, there will be several new features introduced. The mystery menu will consist of twenty-five articles listed, a 2c proposition—you will be served with any item on the menu for two cents. The selections are all use ornamental and otherwise enjoyed by all. The patronage of a generous public is solicited. A delightful time is assured for all participants.

Early Wednesday morning of last week Ellery Spotts, who resides on his farm about three miles west of Unionville, went to his barn to attend to his feeding and morning chores. He took a lighted lantern to the mow to enable him to see in throwing down hay, and upon returning to the floor left the lantern above. The latter either upset or exploded—at any rate Mr. Spotts soon discovered that his mow was in flames, which spread very rapidly. Fortunately, Mr. Spotts was able to remove his live stock in safety, as well as a number of farming implements. The barn, however, together with the adjoining silo and all the feed, were totally destroyed, entailing a loss of possibly $2,500.

Prof. P. H. Meyer, Centre county's expert music teacher, realizes that an automobile can at times develop as much "cussedness" as a Missouri mule. The Professor doesn't say that his car should take singing lessons but, since a recent experience, firmly believes that it is sadly lacking in the common rules of good behavior. He came to this conclusion a few mornings ago while trying to run his Ford runabout backward out of the shed at his home in Centre Hall. The Professor, whose feet are accustomed to pressing piano pedals, evidently got mixed, for instead of reaching the soft pedal, he got the opposite. At least his machine so understood it, and made a beautifully executed cadenza plunging forward, passing through the garage doors, and demolishing a garden hose, and reaching the services of a physician and a machinist to set matters aright again.

RATS CARRY GERMS.

Not long ago the newspapers told of a campaign against rats begun by citizens of a certain town. They determined utterly to destroy this pest. The idea was a splendid one. Every town in Pennsylvania would do well to adopt it. The rat is one of the greatest menaces to the public health.

The common brown or Norway rat infests our towns and cities by the millions. Aside from great damage which it does to property, it carries with it germs of many diseases. It inhabits sewers and dump heaps of all kinds. No one knows what extent the rat is responsible for many epidemics which spring up from time to time. It has been proven to be an active agent in the spread of the Bubonic plague, historically called the black death.

Rats are susceptible to a disease which very much resembles leprosy. They carry numerous internal parasites. Among these are the trichina or flesh worm, which is the cause of trichinosis. It is said that this disease will never be eradicated from man until all rats and mice have practically been destroyed.

To rid your home and your town of rats will mean the saving of lives and property. The rat is a filthy disease carrying animal and a campaign against it will be decidedly worth while.

Isn't It True?

A lawyer in court room may call a man a liar, a scoundrel or a thief and no one makes a complaint when court adjourns. If a newspaper prints such a reflection on a man's character, there is a liable suit or dead editor. This is owing to the fact that people believe what an editor says.

You can strengthen your resistance-power by taking Scott's Emulsion. It contains available energy in concentrated form, which quickly nourishes all the organs of the body. ## Why Salves Can't Cure Eczema

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and cannot penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the well known liquid eczema remedy, oil of wintergreen, thymol, glycerine, etc., as compounded in D.D.D. Prescription.

troubles but none that we can recommend as highly as this for we know that D.D.D. stops the itch at once. We just want you to give D.D.D. a trial. That will be enough to prove it.

What Three Bushels More to the Acre Means

EIGHT years ago the farmers in a central state averaged crops that ran three bushels less to the acre than they now get. Suppose each acre of farm land in the country were so tended that it produced an increase equal to that of this state. How much more money would you have with which to buy the luxuries of life that you earn and deserve? Your share in this prosperity depends entirely upon yourself. The first step is to fertilize your land properly with manure spread by an

IHC Manure Spreader

The spreader that does its work as it should must have many excellent mechanical features. The apron should move without jerking; the beater should meet the load at exactly the right point to pulverize the manure without too greatly increasing the draft of the machine; the speed changes of the apron should be positive. All these features are provided for in the construction of IHC spreaders.

IHC spreaders are made in low styles which are not too low for use in deep mud or snow, narrow and wide, with both reverse and endless aprons, for use under all conditions. The rear axle is located well under the box, instead of at the rear. Placed in that position (under the box) it carries over 70 per cent of the load and insures ample tractive power.
