THE HOME CIRCLE.

Courtesy in the Home. The fact is, life would be far more agreeable to many of us, if home politeness were more assiduously cultivated. We know how brutal the frankness of home can be; how sen-sitive natures bleed and suffer, because of the inexcusable candor of criticism which takes to itself license in the privacy of the family.

We vex our own With look and tone, to show it by small acts or attention, by gentle words, by open admiration? "I never knew that my father cared for me at all," said a young girl, pathetically unaware of the sadness of her speech, "till once when I was very ill and they thought I was dying. I heard him sob behind the curtain." There is far too much taking love for granted in the Christian home.

In a like manner some of us fail to show the courtesy we ought in our intercourse with friends and acquaintances. Do you tell the pastor how much you have enjoyed his sermon or how greatly it has helped you? If not you are missing an op-portunity of cheering and alding the which he would prize and which would react in blessing your-self. Do you always and promptly send a note of acknowledgment in return for a little gift, for flowers and books and daintiness left at your door in times of illness? Are you careful to answer ordinary letters within a reasonable length of time, and to write often to the dear relative on the frontier, or in the distant city? sure in your mind that they are wrong and you are right? Have a care, my friend, for these small genuine courtesies of life.

A town, unlike a city, is no place to foster jealousies and nourish con-All should learn to know tentions. that whatever will conduce to the welfare of a town cannot injure her citizens. The disposition made manifest by her citizens point to her downfall or her rise. The character of the people make the town, not her structures, towering houses, domes and monuments, and when people lose interest in the promotion of their town they need not hope to thrive. Harmony among the people of a community is indicative of its progress. Farmers cannot be at variance with one another and prosper; merchants cannot, churches cannot, nor can any similar organization or community.

Go forth with a smile on your face and you will return believing that most people are good natured. Wear a frown and you will find plenty of quarrelsome people.

Let us not wait until our blessings are gone before we begin to prize

Let the Boys Help.

Why is it that boys are allowed to sit in the house doing nothing while, their over-worked mother is struggling against nature and fate to do about half the work waiting for her hands? Only the other day we saw three large able-bodied boys, loungabout the house, not knowing what to do with themselves, while mother, alone, tired and pale, trying to do the work for a large family and company. Not a boy to help about the house? Why not? Is there anything about washing dishes that will injure him? or about making the beds or sweeping or setting the table or washing or ironing. or cooking a plain meal of vituals? On the contrary, there is too much to benefit him in such work, the most important of which is to gain the idea that it is not manly to let the weaker "vessel" carry all the burdens, when it is possible for strong hands to work. Most boys would gladly to work. Most boys would gladly help in the house if they were asked to do so, and were taught how to do the work properly. Many a smart boy wants to help his tired mother but he doesn't know how, beyond bringing in wood and water. This done, she tells him to go and play while she plods wearily on. Not a boy's work? For shame! It is positive harm to his moral character to allow him to think it is right to be idle, while his mother is struggling under her burdens. Let the boys help, and those who can't get help love or money" will see their croubles disappear.

When you see a youth that will do any sort of work no matter how menial it may be, rather than be idle, you may make up your mind that he will amount to something. The young stroke of paralysis sustained about man who would starve before he six months ago. Four years ago he man who would starve before he would do anything beneath what he conceives to be his dignity, is not made of the right kind of stuff to cut much of a figure in this world. All honest toil is honorable. There is nothing so morally degrading as that aversion to manual labor, which is usually a combination of laziness

Looked Too Often .- Angry Purchaser-didn't you tell me that you had got as many as 12 eggs in one day from those eight hens you sold me? Poultry Raiser-Yes, ma'am. Angry Purchaser-Then why is it that I'm never able to get more than two eggs from them, and sometimes not so many, in one day? Poultry Raiser-I don't know, ma'am, unless it's because you look for eggs too often. Now, if you look for them only once a week, I feel quite positive that you will get just as many eggs in one day as 1

A Long Felt Want-"Madam, this story will fairly take your breath away." "I don't need it, but you'd better call on my husband and show it to him." "You think he will purit to him." "You think he will pur-chase? A dollar down and —" "! am quite sure he will look upon it as a long felt want. He has tried cloves and coffee and orange peel and he has yet to find something that will take his breath so far away that he can fool me when he comes in after hav-ing to work late at the office."

SALT RHEUM ON ARMS TERRIBLE ITCHING

Rough and Sore. Inflamed, Intolerable Burning. Pain and Loss of Sleep. Entirely Cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment.

R. F. D. No. 30, Dawson, Pa.—"Sometime ago my arms became rough and sore. The disease was pronounced salt rheum. My arms were inflamed, being very red from rubbing them to aliay the terrible itching. What little skin remained had a dead white appearance. I kept them wrapped in linen bandages as I could endure no clothing to touch them. Nothing seemed to relieve the intolerable burning. I tried several remedies without success. After suffering much pain and loss of sleep for seven months I sent for the advertised sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment which afforded me such relief that I purchased three cakes of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. Before they were used the disease had disappeared and has never reappeared. I was entirely cured by Cuticura Soap and Ointment. My complexion has been improved by Cuticura Soap and I find that it prevents all winter chapping." (Signed) Miss Fay Martin, Mar. 8, 1912.

Cuticura Soap is best for skin and hair because of its extreme purity, delicate yet effective medication, and refreshing fragrance. It costs but little more than ordinary soaps, wears to a wafer and gives comfort and satisfaction every moment of its use, for toilet bath and nursery. Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Getting a Wife.-Imagination and the child brain are synonymous," de-clares Henry Miller. He gives the following anecdote: "Little Bobbie had attended his first Sunday school, was deeply impressed with the experience. He was told that the first man was named Adam,' and he was very lonely and wandered about with no one to talk to, until God finally took pity on him. "Very carefully the Sunday school teacher explained that Adam, after spending lonely day, lay down to While he was sleeping an angel came and extracted one of his ribs and laid it alongside of the sleeping Adam. When Adam awoke, in the morning, he was surprised to find that the rib had been changed into a wife for him, whom he called 'Eve.' "Bobbie went home that day and explained the tale to his parents. That afternoon, after he had been running about, playing he developed a pain in his side, and when his mother found him he lying on his bed, crying bitterly. "'What is the matter with my little boy?' asked the mother. "'I'm get-ting a wife,' was the sobbing re-
