Bright, Newsworthy Letters From the Various Sections of the County.

REBERSBURG.

The first day of fishing Bob Hackenburger went to the head waters of Elk Creek and brought home seventeen speckled beauties of considerable length.

Miss Sarah Greeninger, of State College, spent the past week visiting her mother in Smullton and enjoying dandelions and other succulent vegetables which the scientific farms up there don't produce.

Mrs. Jessie Waite Whitman, of Chicago, spent a few weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Waite, and her grandma, Mrs. Catharine Neese, besides hosts of friends. She says she loves "the golden west."

Hon. Henry Meyer has been on the invalid list. It is hard for him to stay away from the farm which he visits daily.

Miss Mary Meyer has a responsible position in the high school of Patterson, N. J.

Mrs. Winifred Brungrat, of Selinsgrove, is visiting her sisters, Mrs. Harter and Mrs. Luther E. Frank.

There is serious complaint about the condition of the public road crossing the north mountain. All the road makers are waiting for Bigelow's State Tenner-Penrose machine to build "alabaster" roads free over the whole county. There will be long wait, to be sure. Meantime, there is work for the next grand jury.

Our citizens turned out nobly this week to build a cement sidewalk along the Union cemetery. Herbert Smull was the chief builder. The grange here has gone a glimmering. It is great on resolutions.

"The good roads" which are designated to land Bois Penrose in the senate again look firm on maps. If the "fool legislators" pass the bill to put all the township roads in the hands of Bigelow and his contractors, the people will surely vote down the $50,000-000 bond "graff"—and then we will have no roads except "huckleberry roads."

The fine piece of cement walk laid along the cemetery and to the high school building is due to the public enterprise of our citizens generally. The school township voted $40, and the trustees of the St. Peter's Lutheran and Reformed congregations, Messrs. John Ziegler, the former, and A. N. Corman, for the latter, led in the good work.

Mrs. Anna Minerva Weaver (nee Wolf), now of Bellwood, and her niece, daughter of her sister, Mrs. Jennie Mussler, spent some time pleasantly visiting Genl. Wolf in the "sunny south."

Mrs. Sarah Boob, of Millheim, took a spin to our burg Friday, in her new automobile.

Fruit trees should be sprayed now before they blossom; or not until after blossoming. Every bearing apple tree at twelve years is worth $100. Save your trees, by all means.

The death of John Esterline at Loganton last week, took away another of the old timers in Israel. Some of the Esterlines, nearly a century ago, resided in Brush valley. The gap, immediately south of the Bair plantation was named Esterline's Gap sixty years ago.

Some of our farmers paid a good round sum for large western horses, at Millheim, last week. A team of these Clydesdale grades, would weigh a ton and a half. They can draw some loads.

If the "Democrat" readers are sufficiently interested, your correspondent, who occasionally inflicts his scribbles upon them, will tell in plain English how trees and plants grow and thrive.

Charlie Bierly, the handy builder, has erected a fence of pretty emerald hue for Mrs. Chestie Stover.

Elias Breen has burnt a stack of lime on his place, southwest of Rebersburg.

Willis Frank Bierly is driving an express line trade between here and Couburn.

Victor Walker had the public road from Smullton to Centre Mills picked clean of loose stones at his own expense.

Hon. C. L. Gramley says he voted for the Child Labor bill all right. It was the feminine gender bill he voted against as his constituents requested him to do. Amos Cephas is a good friend of the ladies, too. It is the opinion of your correspondent that the legislature has about seven hundred humbug bills before it, which should all be killed.

Our quiet burg was the scene of unusual pugilistic activity on Saturday evening, the demerits of which are still in controversy.

Since the state pot-hunters got their Kalbfus law the demand for trespass notices has increased a thousand fold. Every woodland owner will post his lands. The notice must contain something like this: "Private land. No trespassing allowed. John Buck, owner." The extortionists will keep the licensed hunters, with their guns, in their own door yards.

The zephyry time has come, the gladdest of the year, when the farmers are busy from dawn to dusk; but this will not allay the eagerness of the state animal and food industries, whose agents, with charts and compasses, will soon be here to instruct the farmers at what angle to extract the lactical fluid from their cows; and where the separator should be placed; and what end of that pig pen should face southwest; and what chestnut trees have worms; and how to catch the curculio, the French way, and so forth, ad nauseam. How hard they have to chin to earn their $100 a month to save and guard the poor farmer.

If you want your aged horses to kick up their heels and be frisky as colts, let your hens lay eggs in the horse trough.

Teddy Royer is farming the Reuben Bierly plantation, now owned by Curtis M. Bierly. This is Teddy's fourth year there and he knows every rock and root on the place—but one.

LINDEN HALL.

Mrs. D. C. Hess is slowly improving.

F. E. Welland and family were pleasant callers at her father's home at Rock Springs on Sunday.

Miss Helen Colyer, from Millheim, spent a few days with friends here.

Edward Zong, from Oak Hill, spent a few hours with his parents at this place. Come again.

Clearfield Building Tabernacle.

The interest in the union evangelistic meetings at Clearfield has already become so great that the large new M. E. church, where the services are being held, is not large enough to hold the crowd, and work on a tabernacle has been started. It will have a seating capacity of 2500.

GEORGEVALLEY, No. 1.

Some people are not satisfied with several pieces of chicken; they must have even a chicken and a half. Gertrude says she likes noodles very rich, exceedingly rich.

Harry Brossler and lady friend, Miss Pearl Schleifer, were to Millheim on Saturday evening taking in the "Old Maids Club"; it is said they took a tank along for use in case of emergency.

Notice to the traveling public:—We have had our roads through the valley just nicely sodded. Please keep off the grass.

I would advise the road makers of Georgevalley to use narrow ditching shovels, as the ditches are most too wide in some places.

Wm. Ripka is gradually falling in health. We all wish him a speedy recovery.

Perry Breen and wife, of Centre Hall, were callers at Wm. Ripka's on Sunday afternoon.

Messrs. Harry Burris and Arch Meyer were seen driving through our valley on Sunday. I wonder what the attraction was. Maybe Pearl would know.

The president of the Ladies' Missionary Society wishes to announce that the next meeting will be held as soon as she can secure a "pint."

There is a certain man in our valley who says he wishes scribe No. 1 would have been an M. D. several years ago, when he (W. P.) had a bone in his throat.

Among those from our valley who attended the party at John Bowman's on Thursday evening, were Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Sweetwood and son, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Auman, Charles Auman, Edna Wolfe, Mrs. R. F. Finkle, Mrs. A. N. Finkle and two daughters, Marion and Helen.

Most of our farmers are pretty well on with spring plowing; some have some oats sowed.

Miss Amy and Pearl Heckman went to their respective places of employment, Spring Mills and Old Fort, on Monday.

Mrs. P. A. Auman and wife took Sunday at R. E. Sweetwood's on Sunday.

HART.

GEORGEVALLEY, No. 2.

A. N. Finkle has placed his order for a new automobile, and scribe No. 1 had also placed his order, but has countermanded it, as he thought it more profitable to get a go-cart.

The party that was held at Jno. Bowman's on Thursday evening was well attended.

Harvey Vonada called on his lady friend, Mrs. Cain, on Saturday evening.

A. F. Vonada said he wished the scribes of Georgevalley would not write so much about his gander laying as he has not laid since.

Scribe No. 1 need not worry about P. L. S. as she has decided on the black-smith.

Mrs. R. F. Finkle and Miss Jamison say they like to clean house as long as they have some one to carry the water.

Arthur Gill made a call on Miss Edna Wolfe last Saturday night.

Nora need not look for Reuben anymore as he has found out that Margaret just put a double charge of buckshot in the shotgun.

P. A. Auman, our champion fisherman, went up an inch since scribe No. 1 wrote last, as he has caught some three inches long this week.

ZION.

Saturday and Sunday were real winter days.

The farmers are busy this week sowing their oats and planting early potatoes.

Ad. Reish has started a team on the state road.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Kane were to Howard over Sunday.

A. L. Shaffer and Hiram Lutz were to Howard one day recently to see Mr. Holter, the Cortwright roofer.

W. C. Corman gave his house several coats of paint which adds much to its appearance.

J. G. Royer contemplates improving his farm buildings by re-roofing the house and painting the barn.

This community was much surprised on Saturday to hear of the death of John Guiser, a highly respected citizen of the township.

W. N. Weaver, a former resident of this place, but now of Jackson, was an over dinner guest at Harve Shaffer's last week.

Christ Decker, the Bellefonte farmer, sowed his oats last week; well, there were others.

Conrad Leish built a garage for J. B. Stover.

Mrs. Isaac Stover, who had undergone an operation in a private hospital in Williamsport for an affliction of the throat, returned to her home again on Saturday, very much improved. Her friends are hopeful of her speedy recovery to normal health.

On the fourteenth, Miss Minnie Garbrick tendered her resignation as an operator in the Zion exchange, a position she filled very satisfactorily for several years. On the seventeenth she was married to Harry Smith, formerly of this place but now of Elmira, New York, in which place they have gone to housekeeping. Mr. Smith has a good position in said city and they expect to make that their home. These young people were highly respected by their wide circle of friends and acquaintances, who wish them happiness and prosperity through life.

STATE COLLEGE—Route 2.

We have had fine weather this last week; the farmers around here are through plowing and putting the spring crops in.

The box social that was held at Rock school house proved a success. There were two boys who thought they were too big to eat with the right girls so they went down the road and took three girls with them; boys, don't be too greedy.

W. R. Jones' school closed on last Friday; he gave them all a hearty welcome.

Miss Carrie and Ruth Womer held a farewell party on last Thursday evening for Mr. Jones.

Mr. Clark Huey, you can't come over our way or we will set a trap for you. Rock forge said that you were too loud.

There were two young men at the social who on their way home had to cross a foot bridge by Mr. Musser's. When they were on the end of it, it went down with them and they both went in the water; one fell on his knees and the other man on his back and he was hurt so badly that he could hardly make it home; the other fellow bought a cake and lost it. One on you, Earl.

Well as in olden times Gollath got the worst of it and the saving of the neck was all through saying I've got enough. The body guard retreated and all was over. In all such cases to the victor belong the spoils. Sound the alamo.

The oldest of the sons of Herbert H. Stover was almost run over by an automobile last week, when the little fellow crossed the road before the machine. By all luck it happened the car was not speeding very fast and averted an accident.

John Winkieblech, of Sunbury, has a large number of bushels onions by Jacob Winkieblech.

Water has again been run into the watering trough at the east end of town through the courtesy of the Water Supervisors and not because of any request. The company is not compelled to supply water for such a place as it has its rights lawfully purchased, is free from debt and can do with its water what they please. It is however no credit to our township, in not supporting such a trough when the trough has been gone to supplying water for the poor thirty brutes watered here by the hundreds. It is safe to say that at this trough more horses are watered than at any other one in the valley yet without compensation.

PLEASANT GAP.

We were sorry to learn of the death of one of our oldest residents, Miss Elizabeth Stine, on Saturday, at the home of Wm. Bilger. Funeral services held on Tuesday.

Ephraim Keller has been ill for some time. He is troubled with rheumatism.

Some of our citizens are not at all pleased with the hunting license law recently passed.

Ralph Noll is sporting a new Ford runabout. This makes six autos in our town.

Mrs. Wm. Irvin, who has been ailing for several weeks, was removed to the Bellefonte hospital last Thursday, where she will undergo an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Abner Musser, of Pittcairn, are visiting at Frank Irvin's home, and among other friends this week. Mr. Musser is holding down a good position with the P. R. R. Co. in the Smoky City.

Rev. C. C. Shuey preached a very able sermon in the M. E. church on Sunday night.

Prepared Grave—Shoots Self.

After ordering an extra wide grave dug in the cemetery ostensibly for his wife, John A. Enders, a baker living at Penn Argy, noted for his huge girth and 300 pounds weight, took a room in a Altoona hotel and sent a bullet through his brain.

YARNELL.

Garden making is all the go here now.

H. O. Miller has purchased an auto and he and his family spent Sunday at Pleasant valley.

D. W. McCloskey, of Plum Grove, spent Saturday night with his daughter, Mrs. Geo. M. Walker, and had the pleasure of meeting one of his old schoolmates, Jason Confer, of Brookville. They had not seen each other since in the year 1843, and they will both be 75 on their next birthday. They had a good sociable chat together.

We are awful glad that the Plum Grove scribe has suggested a good idea how to coax the minister up. We wonder if when he hears the chickens squall, he will come and pray for his members. We will say to the Plum Grove scribe that the cuckoo eggs are as scarce as hen teeth.

Here is a question for the scribes to answer: Two shepherds met and each had a flock of sheep. The one says to the other, "how many have you?" and the other shepherd says, "you give me two of yours and I'll have as many as you have." He said, "I won't do it, you give me two and I'll have as many more as you have." Now what is the number?
