A TALE OF TWO CATS.

And What Came of Their Midnight Carousal.

When the employees of the John Meese store opened up their place of business on South Allegheny street, Saturday morning, they were slightly perturbed to find a mystery on their hands in the form of a broken pane of glass in the door at the rear of the room, which strongly pointed to an attempt at burglary. A search through the store revealed no trace of any goods having disappeared during the night, but that fact in nowise lessened the puzzle of how the glass became broken. The fragments of glass were strewn quite a distance from the door, indicating that the pane had been struck a heavy blow from the outside.

The incident had "Billy" Conley sweating drops as large as hickory nuts and in spite of all the Sherlock Holmes stories he remembered reading, his imitative efforts at deduction proved fruitless. The police were given a hint to be on the lookout for a second attempt that might be made in that neighborhood. And thus the mystery remained as deep as ever and twice as dark until the morning of the second day, and the story had reached the ears of Charles Koontz, the blind cigar dealer, who resides in the Reynolds building on Bishop St. Mr. Koontz at once sent for the manager of the store, and offered to solve the mystery to the satisfaction of all concerned. His explanation began with a sleepless night on Friday caused by several cats fighting in the small court at the rear of his residence and the Meese store. Getting up in the night Mr. Koontz had gone to the bath room to secure something with which to quiet the disturbing felines. Finding nothing handier than a drinking glass, he hurried this in the direction of the cats which caused a loud crash followed by the much desired silence. He then went back to bed and thought nothing more of the incident, nor did it recur to him until the next night when he was thinking over the burglar scare in the neighborhood. It then dawned upon him that he might be the innocent cause of the turmoil, and by putting two and two together, he figured out that he likely missed the cats when he threw the glass. Being totally blind he had nothing but instinct to guide him in hurling the missile, and while his intentions were good his aim was not, and the glass door suffered in consequence.

This is the explanation that has eased the mind of Manager Conley of the store, and in fact the entire neighborhood, that had become uneasy over the thought of burglars. It might be added that the cats escaped unharmed.

THE COUNCIL MEETING.

The first meeting of the Borough council for May was held on Monday evening with President Keller in the chair and the following members present: Judge, Walker, Brokerhoff, Beizer and Cherry. The first thing in order was the report of the different ordinaries, nothing very important being elicited.

Verbal communications being called for, Dr. Ambrose M. Schmidt, Probation Officer of the Juvenile Court, addressed council on behalf of the boys and girls of our town and to plead for better supervision under the curfew ordinance. He stated that young people of a tender age were running the streets and alleys until late at night. The training which they received was of the worst kind. Boys and girls were being led from the paths of virtue and such a condition is a menace to the community. He further stated that there are eight cases in his hands now of young girls who were corrupted in this manner.

Judge Ellis L. Orvis, District Attorney, Paul Furney and Burgess John J. Bower also addressed council along the same lines. Judge Orvis stated "that there was no town in the state where as many young girls ran the streets at night as in Bellefonte. Traveling men coming from Boston remarked upon the fact, and the Pennsylvania Railroad Company had complained of the large number of young girls who gather at the night train. It is time something be done to put a stop to this state of affairs." The remedy suggested by the Burgess was that plain clothes policemen be appointed, whose duties would be, to look into this matter and see that it is broken up. The present uniformed police are unable to cope with the matter. Council seemed greatly impressed with the necessity of action in the matter and referred it to the Fire and Police committee with power to act.

On motion of Mr. Walker council agreed to apply oil to the streets and to adjoining property owners would purchase the oil.

Complaint was made in regard to the crossing on South Water street opposite the Bellefonte Laundry. It was ordered repaired.

Mr. Cherry brought up the proposition of the sewer on West Lamb which R. B. Taylor is supposed to have torn out when he put in the siding at his coal yard. It was directed that Mr. Taylor be made to replace the same.

A note for $5,000 was renewed for six months dated May 5th. An order was directed to be issued for $125 to pay interest and a new note for $500 was authorized. After approving the bills council adjourned.

Asks $20,000 For Loss of Foot.

Suit for damages amounting to $20,000 was made Saturday against the S. B. & B. railroad by James McKee, of Watsonstown, father of Reginald McKee, seven-years-old, whose left foot was cut off by a train on that line on Tuesday July 30, 1912. At the time of the accident the boy's father was expected back on a Pennsy train from the encampment at Gettysburg, which he participated in as a member of Treat's band. The lad was patiently awaiting his arrival. About the time the train was due he ran across the tracks, his home being opposite the station and not far from the S. B. & B. tracks. A train on that road came around the hill and ran the boy down. He was carried home and the foot had to be amputated. James Scarlet, of Danville, will represent the plaintiff.

Centre County to the Front Again.

From last week's Clearfield Public Spirit we take the following: "Centre county is always getting something big. That county has just been granted a State Game Preserve of 3500 acres and if there are any big offices to be had from the State or Nation they'll come forward and take them. But Clearfield county politicians will still continue to fight each other while Centre county 'gets together' and gets everything. There is a difference which Clearfield Democrats will never want to see so long as they can expend their energies in war upon each other."
