Bright, Newsw Letters From the Various Sections of the County.

REBERSBURG.

The recent heavy rains have washed deep gutters in the mountain roads, leaving them in a miserable shape, but the farmers of this community are devoutly thankful that this valley has so far escaped the destructive hail storms which visited some of the neighboring valleys.

Oats harvest is coming on a pace and the wet weather has prevented some of the farmers from hauling their wheat.

A trip to the mountains after blackberries and cherries is now the order of the day if you have time.

Noah Corman is planning extensive improvements on the home now occupied by the Ziegler family.

Rev. Solly, wife and children are visiting at the home of Mrs. Solly's father, Jared B. Kreamer.

It is reported that W. J. Hackenburt has purchased the store-site and building and vacant lot adjoining which is now occupied by the general merchandise establishment of Claude Haines. The upstairs of the building is occupied as a lodge room by the Odd Fellows. It is understood that there will be no changes made for a while. These properties were formerly owned by John Harter.

Chicken and waffle supper at the Rebersburg hotel Saturday evening. The supper was ordered in advance and the visit of this party attests the popularity of the table d'oté furnished at our Eats Emporium.

Mrs. Ada Brown, of Keokuk, Iowa, Mrs. W. S. Musser and Miss Jennie Reifsnider, of Millheim, spent an enjoyable day Saturday visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Noah Corman. Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Musser are daughters of Jos. Kreamer.

Mr. and Mrs. Elias Breen, of Smultion, started Tuesday for Denver, Col., where they will visit their son George. They will stop about a week in Iowa enroute.

At a meeting of the school board a week ago Tuesday, that body elected Prof. William C. Strack, of Lebanon, principal of the Miles township high school.

Rev. W. K. Evens, D. D., of Pottstown, Pa., has been visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brungart. Sixty years ago Rev. Evens taught the Brungart district school of Miles township.

Prof. Elmer Bierly, of Chattanooga, Tenn., has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Judith Bierly.

S. A. Wakefield, of Scranton, agent of the International Correspondence Schools, spent last Thursday and Friday in our midst, displaying his wares.

Ricker Bros, cattle buyers, of Mill Hill, came into our valley again last week and when they departed they took with them about 33 head of beef.

C. W. Eberbach, of Detroit, Mich., who represents a seed house there, has been driving through this section drumming up business.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans, of Spring Mills, visited Mr. and Mrs. Noah Corman Saturday.

It is our solemn duty to report a horse trade in which it is said both interested parties got stung. While we were unable to ascertain the full particulars of the transaction, we are informed that the main actors in the tragedy were brothers, Lowell Bierly backing a sorrel horse and Charles Bierly favoring a bay. It is said that it was a case of "hoss and hoss" so everyone ought to be happy.

The Odd Fellows of this vicinity are planning a picnic to be held August 23 in Charles Smull's grove. It is understood that the Aaronburg Silver Cornet Band will dispense harmony on the occasion.

Jacob Winkleblich and son and Clayton Winters took a flying trip to Lewistown Saturday, where Mr. Winkleblich bought a team of horses. Victor Walker drove the party over in his benzine buggy.

Samuel Griese, of Monroe, Wis., is visiting at the home of his brother-in-law, Fredrick Fehl.

Last Sunday was one real warm day, the kind that is good for what ails the corn.

Still another valuable measure to educational progress which our representative, Hon. C. L. Gramley, had passed, encountered the unrelenting axe of Monsieur veto J. K. T. on Saturday. Thus does the high and mighty statesman repay Hon. C. L. G. for not voting for Leib and upsetting the initial fraud in the House of Fools, which it cost the Tenser Highway lobby so much to undo and repair.

Some of the new laws here are agitated because of the people and it is alleged, unconstitutional gun license law, because they cannot get any definite ideas of how it will work. It seems even Dr. Kalbfus, (pronounced differently in Penna. Dutch), has different ideas about the law, which is imported from York state, like many another fakeristic phantasy. The doctor, who with his game warden, owns all the game in Penna, says the law is suspended, because his department is stuck with the job of getting out the tyrannical tag. So he has notified a sporting club in Montgomery county where game grows on the trolley poles and wires, and at the side rooms of saloons, that they may hunt plover now in season without a license! Not long since the same obfuscated authority, who can retire a law, issued a bull to the effect that a man can carry a gun anywhere and hunt unprotected game without a license. Yet, there is a penal clause in the bill given us by Hon. Cephas L. Gramley, that makes it the duty of the game warden to arrest any man seen off his own or his immediate neighbor's premises, with a gun, if he cannot display a tag on his arm between the elbow and the base of his thumb. Of course, this conflicts with the constitutional right of every citizen (aliens excepted) to have and bear arms, etc. But what difference does that make. The late Adonis of a speaker of the H. of P. ruled the Constitution out of order, when Representative Watson, of Indiana, pierced the empyrean with his high tenor voice, demanding that every member should at once enforce the Constitution! What's the Constitution in the gilt Palace of Graft on the Hill of the Helvetii, at Harrisburg, anyway!

The "Committee," which in the last issue of the Democrat called a Bierly reunion at Nippeno Park is something of a romance. Be it known, this is the head centre of the Bierlyan race in N. America. It was in full classic grove on the Pactolian waters of the stream named after the peaceful Penn, that the Bierly association was formed by Dr. Franklin Pierce Barker some years ago. Since that reunion the ever-reiterated "friends-chaft" has become still more separated, over an area from Philadelphia

VACCINATED STATE'S HOGS.

Owing to hog cholera near State College, 150 hogs belonging to the state's big farm have been vaccinated to prevent the disease.

to San Francisco; yet there is no race suicide element in it. But this innumerate "Committee" does not call the living together at historic Nippeno, August 20th, next. He summons the "ancestors" of all the old Bierlys from the Elysian fields, together in the fringe of woods on the pellucid Otzinachson and hold (ostensibly) a spiritual symposium there! As we are all pretty live yet, here, we do not consider ourselves invited.
