BETTER FOREST PROTECTION. State Department Issues Poster Re-

The Department of Forestry at vividly the advantages of protected forests and the curses which befall us as the result of forest fires.

Forest fires, in most cases, result or cigarette stub, or pipe ashes may be heedlessly dropped along the edge of a road or path through the forest; a small fire at camp or on a game runway is built and not thoroughly ex-tinguished: these little things may be the cause of untold loss in many ways to innocent people.

Sometimes people see forest fires start, and do nothing to extinguish them when they are small. They do not realize that the greater the fire the greater their own individual loss. The unfortunate condition is that the greatest evils resulting from forest fires are not direct. Diminished streams and impure water may not be noticed for several years. The gradual increase in the price of wood may not be attributed to the local The money that might have brought to a community because of its beauty is not missed because it was never expected. The failure of farm or fruit crops is blamed upon "the weather" or "the bugs," when unquestionably the real cause was changed forest conditions in the The poverty of a region is blamed upon "hard times,"
"the Administration," and other inthings. Forest fires have made tree growth impossible, hence lumbering and other industries dependent upon the forest are impos-sible. The soil is too steep and too poor to farm and is constantly getting poorer or thinner. There is nothing to do but move out or starve. Fires may increase the berry crop or the pasturage for a few years but the final result is far less than a crop of forest trees would yield.

The words of the poster are: "Stop beauty of a region, comfort, homes, lives and prosperity; protected for-ests increase in value. They furnish ests increase in value. They furnish labor, promote industry, afford recreation and sport, make a region beautiful, make homes safe and comfortable, make life worth living, and a prosperous state inhabited by a contented and industrious people. Which would you rather have: Forest fires, floods, disease, destruction, devastation or green forests pure water, health, thriving industries, health. prosperity. For information respecting Pennsylvania forests and tree planting, write to Commissioner of Forestry, Harrisburg, Pa."

Upon application stating number desired, copies of the poster described above will be sent to any one promising to place them in prominent

Local Politics Looking Up.

The political pot is beginning to boil and already the candidates eager to serve the dear people are button-holing citizens soliciting support. There will be a tax collector, bois treasurer, chief burgess, high consta-ble and six councilmen to elect in the besides election officers. The fight seems to centre around the office of tax collector and quite a number are seeking this position. On the Democratic side we here mentioned for this office the names of J. Kennedy Johnston, Harry Eberhart, John M. Keichline and William F. Shope. The Republican aspirants are W. C. Cassidy, W. H. Musser, William H. Brown Robert Montgomery, Samuel Donachy Paul Sheffer and Henry Lowry. The only man mentioned for tax collector on the Washington party ticket so far is G. Williard Hall. For boro treas-urer Edward Gehret, the present in-cumbent, will be the Republican nom-For the other positions we have not heard any one mentioned so far. However there is lots of time. The only county office to be voted for this year is that of Jury Commissioner, and a nomination on either ticket is equivalent to election.

110th to Meet at Tyrone.
30th annual reunion of the 110th P. V. I. Association will be held at Tyrone, on Thursday, October 16th, meeting in hall of Post 172, G. A. R., Pennsylvania Avenue and Herald street. The meetings will be called to order at 10 a. m. and in the afternoon at 2 o'clock. In the evening a camp fire will be held at 7:36 to which the public is invited. It was the inten-tion of the officers of the Association to hold the reunion at Gettysburg, in July, during the time of the Great Reunion of the Blue and Gray, but so many of the comrades did not favor the reunion at that time, and the only thing for the committee to do

"That Labor Mey Be Lightly Burdened."

To the Editor: In my reply to Mr. McKnight, I was quoting from the first Democratic Republican platform written Thomas Jefferson, viz: "Econo in the public expenditures, that labor may be lightly burdened." It appeared in type "highly burdened." Jefferson, although a Virginia gentleman of means, knew the basic principles of the government which he helped so much to establish.

He was opposed to the Adams theory of a titled aristocracy, all booted and spurned to ride the mon herd to death with a high and mighty salary and pension list. Therefore he advocated an economi- make you all laugh. cal government, with low salaries and Hernanda" (Powers). ow taxation, for he understood very well that the ultimate burden of taxation was placed upon the shoulders things," of the toilers and producers of all
