PARTY ENROLLMENT.

Shows Republican in the Lead

Bellefonte Boro.

The enrollment of voters entitled to exercises the right of franchise at the coming primary election shows the Republicans to be in the lead in Bellefonte borough, although not in the majority by any means. One thing stands out plainly and that is the big slump in the Washington party, which drops from second place to a very weak third. This is so, not only in the boro, but all over the county. Another thing noticeable is the large number of non-committal voters who refused to state where they stood as to party preference. They practically hold the balance of power.

Two to One.
Friday night of last week residents of west High street had their nerves jarred by cries of "murder" that came from a mass of struggling legs, arms, et cetera, in the road near the Meek residence. Those who hastened to the scene arrived in time to see two foreigners make a "bee-line" for Cole ville, and Walter Cathcart endeavoring to dig the grime of the road out of his ears and eyes. The scrim-mage brought forth the arrest of the two foreigners and on Saturday they were given a hearing before Squire Both parties were given an equal share of the costs and the case was dismissed.

A desire upon the part of the foreigners to become too familiar with Cathcart's wife is said to have provoked the quarrel, and being less discretionary than valorous, the angry husband after inviting each of the offenders to meet him in fistic combat, to which they demurred, he offered to lick them both, and the proposition was accepted. Cathcart claims that the foreigners were about to use a knife upon him when he yelled for Ladies Thrown From Buggy.

Misses Edna Wagner and Gertrude Ishier were thrown from a buggy at the Centre Hall railroad station one day last week. Miss Wagner was pretty badly injured, and has since been confined to bed. No bones were broken, but her spine was injured, and it may require some time before she will have fully recovered. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. Geiss Wagner, south of Centre Hall. Miss Ishier is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
George E. Ishier, of Centre Hall. She received a number of bruises over the body, but none of them were serious. Ladies Thrown From Buggy.

A CROOKED POLITICAL CAREER.

To the Democratic Voters of Centre County, and to H. S. Taylor in Par-

I deem it appropriate, as well as my duty, to take note of a communication published last week in the Watchman, signed by "H. S. Taylor."

The communication in question is a bitter personal attack upon candidate W. D. Zerby, Esq., inspired by a resentful, vicious man who succeeded some years ago in naming Mr. Zerby as our county chairman, and then was grievously disappointed because he, Taylor, found he could not use Zerby as a tool to do his crocked political work, when he declared he would organize the Democratic party himself to defeat Meyer and elect his brother Bert, a Republican, for Assembly.

Taylor Made Dishonest Apology.

Taylor made a dishonest apology at the outstart of his brutal attack on by in the "Watchman" when he said his reply was made necessary to an editorial that appeared in "The Centre Democrat" the previous week, because W. D. Zerby "is responsible for the editorial of the 28th," in this

In Taylor's own language I reply: "TAYLOR LIES AND HE KNOWS HE LIES," when he made that statement. He can not successfully defend it, because it is an absolute untruth. The publisher and editor of "The Centre Democrat" wrote the entire article in question, and Mr. Zerby is not responsible for a single line. The writer edits his own political articles, is responsible for every statement contained therein, and is prepared to defend them at any time or anywhere it may become necessary—despite the enraged Colonel who always squirms when under the searchlight of publicity. If Taylor does not like Mr. Zerby, he is entitled to assail him, if he chooses, as that is his privilege; but, we contend, he should do it in a manly way. When Taylor smarted under a "Centre Democrat" editorial, and then wickedly made that an excuse for a vicious attempt to besmirch another's he became a despicable character assassin, and clearly displayed all the traits of a coward. And this is not his first offence in this line

Let it be understood: This is not an attempt to defend, or as a reply to, the vague charges made by Taylor against Zerby, as Mr. Zerby, if he desires, is capable to take care of himself; but there is sufficient justification for us to comment on other matters in that article.

Grossly Abused His Position.

Taylor insists he is only an individual Democrat, and criticism of him now is unjustifiable. For several years he was chosen as the Democratic Chairman, and posed as the party leader in Centre county. That gave him insight and acquaintance with the party organization. But as a County Chairman he continually and grossly abused the confidence bestowed in him. In many primary elections and county conventions he notoriously employ-ed the party organization to advance his favorites and tools, and likewise to punish such as met with his displeasure-all of which is a gross violation of common decency in politics, and was an abuse of the position he held. That was how he observed his motto: "To every Democrat a square deal." That was how he observed his motto: I know his record, and he knows I know it.

Because the writer referred to Taylor's failure to defeat the late J. C. Meyer and elect his brother Bert, he brands the writer a "ghoul in the night who holds up the dead before him for protection." That insinuation belongs to me and not Mr. Zerby, as I wrote the article. You know I well know what was your true attitude towards the late J C. Meyer whom you frequently persecuted while you were county chairman and controlled the party machinery.

Taylor's Hostility to J. C. Meyer.

When you say: "J. C. Meyer was my friend" you justly failed to say you were his friend, because you were not. I know it, Mr. Meyer well knew t, others knew it. Jealous of the man, you used your position but a few years ago, as county chairman, to suppress him in the councils of the party, because he was too large mentally and superior in ability; you could not hope to control him or use him in your schemes, or deliver him bodily to Guffey or Hall. Your treachery to this man cannot be forgotten. Although his lips now are sealed, that does not ameliorate your shortcomings, or blot out that portion of your crooked political career-still fresh in the memory of so many living witnesses. You can not now conceal your guilt, in your attempt to crawl behind his tomb. Stand up! Face your record, if you are a man!

Helped Defeat Democratic Ticket, Yes, you had a reasonable excuse to vote for your brother on the Republican ticket—that is conceded; but when you opened up regular head-quarters and, fresh from the county chairmanship, used that information to the detriment of a Democratic nominee, you again abused the political confidences you enjoyed as county chairman. When you likewise bent your energies to get every Republican voter to the polls for Bert, you gave every Democratic nominee on our ticket that year a stab in the back; and in this way you largely contributed to the defeat of the entire Democratic County Ticket that year—except J. C. Meyer.

Democrats He Fought in 23 Years Service.

You do not mention this when you allude to your "more than 23 years loyal honest services to the Democracy of Centre county;" you do not mention the services you recently rendered for the election of Gov. Tener; or your support of "Billy Brown" a Republican for Recorder against Francis Speer a Democrat; or your support of Yarnell for Sheriff against A. B. Lee; or a Democrat; or your support of larner fall against R. M. Foster, the reg-your relations with Cephas Gramley last fall against R. M. Foster, the reg-ular Democratic nominee. You now are known to be conspiring to accomplish the election of "Billy" Brown, a Republican and your political henchman, as tax collector of Bellefonte, over J. Kennedy Johnston, a prominent Democrat whom you hate. With "Billy" Brown in that office, you no doubt hope to get your clutches again on the throats of tax payers of this community, who are in distress. That is a mere sample of your loyal Democracy.

23 Years Service-What Did Taylor Get Out of It? when you boast of your 23 years service, you wisely withold from the public how much you got out of it in those years. Let your political account be accurately stated, and carefully audited, as the public might be interested in the balance that may be found. Your boast is similar to Meek's amusing boast in the same issue. After Meek fought Democrats like Bryan, Guthrie, Palmer, Kimport, the late Gov. Curtin. Senator Wallace. Senator Mackey, and others, and later R. M. Foster, he, Meek, asserts he "has given 52 years of loyal support" to the party. He also wisely withholds from the public what he, (Meek,) got out of it in those 52 years, as he clung on the party teat most of the time. We fear his balance also would be enormous.

You and Meek are of the same plumage, and for years have defiled the Democratic party; therefore it is natural to find two such soiled birds now in Private Individual's Political Headquarters! When you claim to be a private individual, not subject to criticism, you forget that last spring you opened political headquarters in Bellefonte. It is declared, on good authority, that you handled large sums of money, possibly several thousand dollars, quite likely from Guffey or Hall, or a brewery, to try and lick Arthur Kimport another Democratic County Chairman you could not use as a local man you could not use a local man you could no man you could not use as a tool, nor could you bulldoze him at Harrisburg by your violent threats to do your bidding. With this fund you tried to crush the re-organization movement in Centre county, in the hope of corrupting voters at the primary election, or hiring heelers at "so much per" to travel the county and disseminate your "influence." When you recently drove to the extreme end of the county and carried the petition with you, to induce Mr. Smith to become a candidate to start this fight in our party, do you think you now are immune from criticism on the plea that you are merely a private individual? You are mistaken, and can't hide your crooked work from public gaze by such a plea. Taylor the "Character Assassin."

One more point and I am done. Taylor in his article condeming the writer of that editorial says: "The character assassin is more deadly and dangerous than he who steals into a house in the dead of night, intent on murder or rape." I agree; that point is well taken. If there is a character assassin in Bellefonte, Taylor is the man. In the last six months I was the victim of his comparable testion. the victim of his cowardly tactics. He was one of a few who tried to be-smirch my character and humiliate my family by cowardly charges when President Wilson sent my name to the United States Senate for appointment as Surveyor of Customs at Philadelphia-but he failed. I say guilty, BECAUSE in an unguarded moment in a bar room in Bellefonte, where he spends so much time, he there boasted of his part of this contemptible work, declaring he thereby had me "licked to a frazzle"—but he failed. The ghoul also made the same statement, when sober, to other recitizens in Bellefonte.

Meek is reported to have engaged in the same conspiracy to assassinate my character-a dangerous pursuit when the career he made in his palmy days is still fresh in the memory of so many of our people. Men who reside in glass houses should not go too far from home.

Meek's Wilful Wicked Lies.

After my appointment, Meek resumed his maliciousness, by publishing falsehoods that later were proven, by Custom House records, to be his own wicked, wilful lies—and that he was guilty of his own charge, made against

If the Colonel is sincere in his desire to wreck someone's political career for that article, I again repeat, I cordially invite him to jump into the real offender, the writer, and not assassinate the character of an innocent party. Taylor's Self-Praise a Weak Commendation.

Taylor may boast of his loyalty and services to Democracy, but self praise is poor commendation, while the estimate of an observant community is more reliable. The public knows of Taylor's loyalty, and the real value of his services to the Democratic party—over all of which there hovers a dark cloud that mars the possibility of a useful career.
