EDITORIAL.

"LET THERE BE PEACE."

When the civil war drew to a close in 1865, devastation and ruin overpread this land. At this crisis the victorious general made a memorable utterance that impressed itself on the hearts of his countrymen, when he exclaimed, "Let there be peace"—there had been enough bloodshed.

To-day we hear a similar appeal from the rank and file of the Democracy of Centre county. For over three years our party has been rent by a cruel, political war. Three times the issue has been raised and fought to a finish, while in other parts of the Keystone state the Democracy is united and at peace, and is valiantly standing by and supporting the first Democratic national administration in years.

"The Centre Democrat" for three years has specially advocated, from deep seated convictions, a reorganization of our party which it sincerely believed was a righteous cause for clean politics and good government in Pennsylvania. Many, no doubt equally conscientious, differed with us; others may have been moved by other motives. Many unjustly attributed to "The Centre Democrat" selfish motives. Each side now accuses the other of being the original offender in starting personal controversies. We disclaim that responsibility, yet we will not annoint ourselves and before the high tribunal of the electors of our county pronounce our innocence. We are conscious of our good motives, but an observant public is the better judge of our effort. The question of responsibility we likewise leave to the public for deliberation—they are the final arbiters—and from their decision "The Centre Democrat" will not appeal.

It is a loss of effort to contend over the past—the future faces us, and that now greatly concerns the Democracy of Centre county.

"The Centre Democrat" desires all Democrats to note this declaration: We hope, and will strive, for harmony in our party, no matter the result of Tuesday's primary. Let our actions in the future be judged, rather than our present pledge.

"Let there be Peace," and if it can not be attained, let the honest, intelligent thought of the Democracy of Centre county properly and fully admonish the real offender.

Let there be peace.

CHAS R. KURTZ, Bellefonte, Pa., Sept. 13, 1913.

TO THE PUBLIC:

The last issue of the "Democratic Watchman," September 12th, 1913, contained a communication on page 4, signed by H. S. Taylor, that now merits a brief statement from me:

I refer to the concluding seven paragraphs, overlooking the last. He therein invaded the sanctity of my home; but I am conscious that his charges regarding my personal relations towards my late father, and also my aged mother, are infamous, wicked falsehoods. Being such, further discussion by me is unnecessary.

CHAS. R. KURTZ, Bellefonte, Pa., Sept. 13, 1913.

IN THE WORDS OF BRYAN.

The democracy of Centre county took a long step forward when, at the recent election on Tuesday, it effected a complete reorganization of its affairs along progressive lines. Wm. D. Zerby, the newly elected state committee man, represents the kind of democracy that stands for definite principles, and under his leadership the democrats of Centre county are in a position to restore their lost party prestige and march forward to new victories. The democracy of Centre county is to be congratulated.

LIVONIA.

Prof. H. E. Stover departed for Flemington where he begins work as the principal of the High school at that place.

Mrs. David Rockey, who has undergone an operation for appendicitis at the Lock Haven hospital is doing fine and expects to be home in the course of the next two weeks. Her place at home is filled during her absence by her niece, Miss Mary Houtz.

Miss Ruth Stover, who is teaching school in Sugar valley, will spend her week ends at home during the term.

Miss Jane Adams has secured employment in the Loganon telephone exchange.

Harvest Home services were held in our church Sunday. The attendance was good and the church was tastefully decorated while the sermon rendered by the pastor was one of the finest ever preached in our church.

John Wolfe is at present engaged in digging a well. The question is, will he find water.

Landlady (to lodger)—Come into the kitchen, sit, and see the grand procession as it starts. "I can see it well enough from my own room window."

"Of course, but I've let that."—Flegende Blatter.

House of Retired Wives.

One of the most interesting houses we saw in Algiers was the "House of the Retired Wives."

It stands directly opposite the Cathedral, which was once the palace of the bey; and the House of the Retired Wives is now occupied by the archbishop.

When the bey was supreme in Algiers, before the intervention of France, the palace contained several hundred wives. And as new ones were frequently added, old ones had to be retired. So as a wife became superfluous or undesired, for any reason, she was sent across the street, where she had much more freedom than in the bey's palace; for there she was supposed to keep to her own apartments and not wander about at will. In the House of the Retired Wives she could move about at will.

She left all jewels and valuable presents which she had bestowed upon her in the palace for her successors, but she was fed and clothed until she died in her new home.—National Magazine.

Whirlpool Suggested Silencer.

Mr. Maxim had been working on the development of automobile engine mufflers for some time before he thought of a silencer in connection with a gun. In addition to this was the inventor's desire to enjoy target practice without creating a disturbance. Experiment ensued, covering a couple of years and all kinds of valves, vents, bypasses, expansion chambers, etc., but without success. One morning after his bath the inventor noticed the small whirlpool over the drain hole, the action of which retards the egress of the water. It does not silence it (as this phenomenon is usually accompanied by a more or less pronounced sucking sound), but in a gun the noise of firing is caused by the sudden egress of the gases, and if these could in the same way be slowed down the noise would in proportion be decreased. Acting on this suggestion, a little tube was then made, constructed so as to induce a whirlpool in the escaping gases from the gun. This, when tried, was a success.—American Machinist.

An Unworthy Peer.

In "The Memoirs of William Hickey, 1749 to 1775," we read that Lord Littleton was a professed gamester and "the meanest wretch in existence." "I was attending an appeal in the house of lords," says the author, "when Lord Littleton, passing through the lobby, said to the head doorkeeper, 'Can you lend me a cambic handkerchief? My rascal has neglected to put one in my pocket.' The man abruptly refused and added, in the strong language of the day, 'I'll be— if your lordship shall rob me of any more; you have had two already.' Another time Lord Littleton grossly abused his coachman for being ten minutes late with the carriage. 'You scoundrel,' said he, after a volley of oaths, 'did I not order you to be at the Savoy five a quarter before 7? Yes, my lord,' said the man, 'and I was not ten minutes after the time.' 'Blank—blank—blank—blank, you rascal. In those ten minutes I lost 2,000 guineas!'"

A Fine Flow of Speech.

A native lawyer was defending a lady client in one of the Madras courts. The lady was accused of assault, but the man of law endeavored to show that she herself had been assaulted and had suffered damage on the most conspicuous feature of her countenance.

"My learned friend," he said, "with mere wind from a teapot thinks to browbeat me from my legs. He runs around upon the sheet anchors of my case. My poor client has been deprived of some of her valuable leather (or skin), the leather of her nose. Until we are told what became of my client's leather nose the witness cannot be believed. He cannot be allowed to raise a castle in the air by beating upon a bush."—London Mail.

Highbrows.

Will Irwin, the magazine writer, is credited with the invention of the word "highbrow." It was coined to express a blend of "snob" and "academic." He first used it when, as a reporter, he had occasion to describe the proceedings of societies who talked about the betterment of the drama. He thinks that the word will be assimilated by the dictionaries.

Cheerful.

Professor of Chemistry—If anything should go wrong in this experiment, which is a particularly dangerous one, we and the laboratory with us might be blown sky high. Come closer, gentlemen, so that you may be better able to follow me without difficulty.—London Telegraph.

Bad Oversight.

"Why these points?" "Look at this press notice!" stormed the actress. "The critic speaks highly of your genius." "And never mentions my gowns."—Washington Herald.

Two Ways.

"Be mine" is the proper form when proposing to a girl because you love her. "Be my mine" is all right if she's rich, but stir the pronoun carefully.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Wifely Cheer.

"I haven't a pull with any one," said the unsuccessful man. "Oh, yes, you have, dear," said his wife encouragingly, "with the fool Miller."—Life.

UNIONVILLE.

The Unionville House Co. No. 1 will give a chicken and waffle supper in Grange Hall on next Saturday evening, Sept. 20th. Other refreshments will be on tap. This is one of the most worthy cases in which you can invest your money freely. Come on and help the Home boys. The Store says they expect to have at least 20 gallon of rich chicken gravy, more or less.

On Tuesday, the 9th, Mrs. J. F. Stover and daughter, Mrs. O'Leary and two boys, Mrs. M. M. Frink, of Byron, Mrs. W. E. Parsons, Mrs. Watson and Mrs. Henry Beezer of Bellefonte, composed a happy crowd of friends and neighbors who dropped in on Mrs. Susan McEwen to help celebrate her birthday anniversary. That they had a good time goes without saying.

Another happy surprise party occurred at the home of James R. Holt on last Friday evening, Sept. 12th. Ice cream, cake and coffee was served. Those from a distance that were present were, his sister, Mrs. J. F. Gates and daughter of Unionville, Pa.; his brother William Holt and wife, of Howard; Mrs. E. P. Dunkle and daughter of Bellefonte; and Mrs. Wm. Bodie, of Hunters Park. All told there were about 60 guests present. It was his birthday anniversary and the surprise a happy one.

On next Sunday and Sunday evening the last church services for this conference year will be held in the Free Methodist church. Everybody invited.

Mrs. Effie Hazel Blazer died at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Hazel on Saturday, Sept. 13th, aged 20 years, 2 months and 29 days. She was married five years ago to Samuel Blazer of Oak Hall and was not 15 years of age. She leaves to survive her, her parents, two brothers, Roy in the Philippines, Walter at the home of his sisters, Helen and Lela, at home. Less than a year ago her brother, Bruce, preceded her to the grave. Funeral on Tuesday morning from her parents' home, services by Rev. H. K. Ash assisted by Rev. J. M. H. K. Ash, a Lutheran minister from Boalsburg whose name we do not learn; interment in lower cemetery.

John Spotts, one of the oldest and most respected citizens of our town, passed away at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lena Lansberry on last Sunday morning, Sept. 14th, aged 85 years, 4 months and 26 days. Mr. Spotts lived the most of that long, useful life on a farm in Union township, and was a familiar figure on our streets until about the last year when he was confined to his bed. He was of a kindly, jolly disposition always making one feel happy by coming in contact with him. His family has lost a kind, indulgent and loving father, the community an honorable, upright citizen, a kind neighbor and faithful friend. Funeral from the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lena Lansberry on Tuesday morning, Sept. 15th. Service by Revs. Ash, Collins and Ziegler. Interment in the cemetery at Bush Hollow. For many years he had been a member of the church, he attended services at the Methodist church. He leaves to survive him, two children, Alfred and Lena, and two sisters, Henry and Jacob, and two sisters, Mrs. Hannah Bush and Mrs. Sophia Houston, of Missouri.

Being pressed for time I am compelled to take a number of interesting items; look for them next week.

AARONSBURG.

Mr. and Mrs. George McCormick and little son, from Potters Mills, were over Sunday guests of the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Mingle.

O. P. Adams transacted business at State College the fore part of the week.

Mrs. Harvey Reinbach and daughters, Grace and Eleanor, are visiting her parents for a few weeks in Altoona.

Sept. 14, Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Mingle had the pleasure of seeing all their children at their home, where they all enjoyed a sumptuous dinner. Will, his wife and Henry, from Akron, Ohio; Nellie, Potter Mills; Maze, Buffalo, N. Y.; Albert at home.

Mrs. Jennie Sylvis and son, Russell, are taking in the Grange picnic at Centre Hall.

Mrs. Bertha Tressler, nee Musser, from Bellefonte, is down to pay her parents a few days' visit. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Musser, they spent part of Sunday with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Hickenberg, T. Smulton.

Mrs. Pauline Bierly, of Rebersburg, was very pleasantly entertained for a few hours by her cousin, Mrs. O. P. Adams. Mrs. Mary Miller, from Millheim, accompanied Mrs. Bierly.

Warren Winkleblich and family spent the Sabbath in Brush valley.

The school will close on Thursday, so they all have the privilege to attend the Grange picnic.

This Tuesday Mrs. E. R. Wolfe and her interesting son Jason, of Wolfs Store, are visiting at the home of Mrs. Will Haines today, they will go to Grange Park.

Tomorrow E. G. Mingle will be the auctioneer for Adam Maize's sale at Millheim.

Miss Bertha Hosterman, of Woodward, was a Sunday guest of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Mingle.

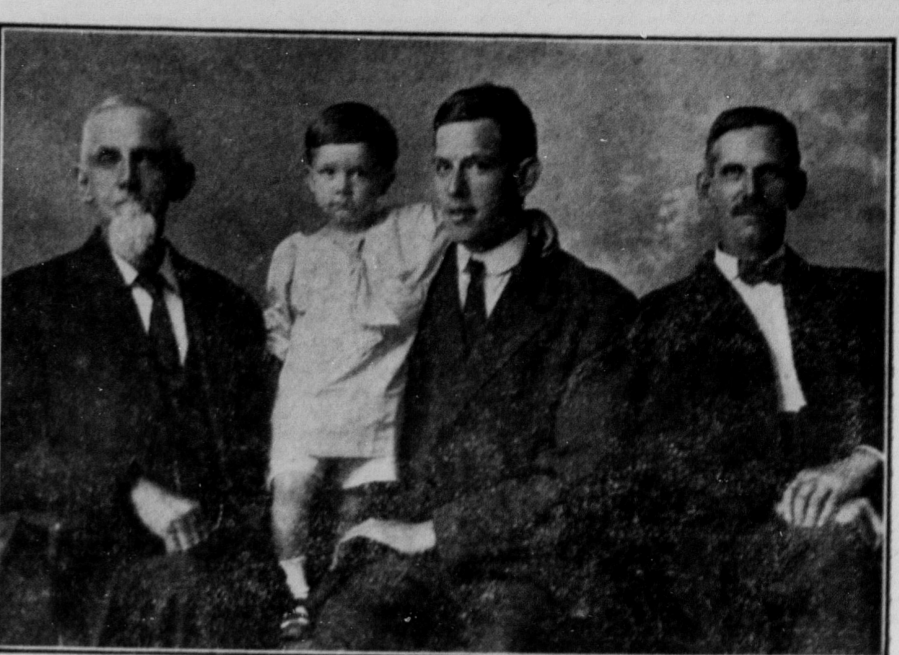

Marion Stover, who is now spending a few days in Williamsport, left here on Saturday to be with her brother Paul, ticket agent there; from there she will go to Harrisburg to again resume her work as stenographer.

Mrs. Elvina Winters, from Rebersburg, was the welcome guest of her aged mother, Mrs. Mary Haffley, for a few days this week.

Mrs. Annie Wyle, from Akron, was seen in our burg on Sunday for a few hours, also Mrs. Emma Beaver. Ira Gramley, from Millheim, spent a few hours at the home of John Durst, on Sunday afternoon. Those who spent a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Stover, on N. 2nd street, were the lady's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Perry McKinley, from Potters Mills, and Mrs. Stover's sister, Mrs. Clark Herman, from State College. On Monday Effie Weaver was very agreeably surprised by a visit from Mr. and Mrs. Harry Osman and their bright little daughter Maud, of Harrisburg. Mrs. Calvin Eby, of New York City, is the very welcome guest of her mother, Mrs. Caroline Maize and her many friends here in town, but is leaving us again this coming Friday. Walter Orwig, from Altoona, is spending this week with his family here.

Change of Sale Date.

The public sale of S. R. Benner, of Rock Forge, which was advertised to take place on the 27th, has been changed to the 25th, Thursday of next week.

Four generations of the G. W. Rumberger family. On left, G. W. Rumberger; on right, John C. Rumberger; next, Samuel B. Rumberger; and last but not least, Samuel B. Rumberger, Jr.

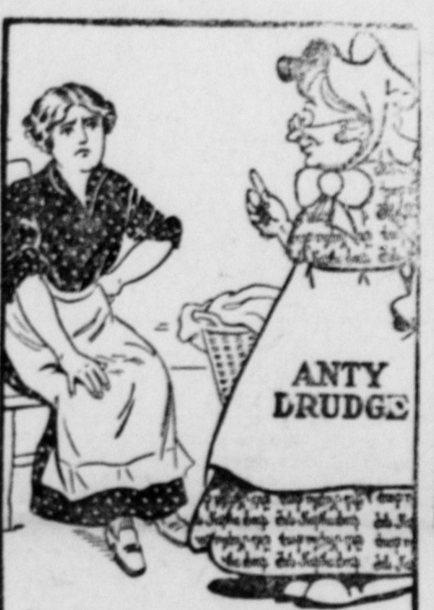

Fate of the Peanuts.

A popular author, who writes human interest stuff for several newspapers, went to the department of agriculture in Washington one day and secured a peck of diseased peanuts. The scientists in the department were having a hot argument as to whether or not the peanuts, if eaten, would kill a human being, and the author took the edibles to his office to have them photographed. He saw a big story in the fact that the high browed scientific men could not tell when a peanut was fatal.

The next morning, when he entered his office, he found that the whole peck was gone. He instituted a search, and finally discovered that the colored janitor had stolen and eaten the peanuts.

After keeping the janitor under observation for three days and seeing that he neither peeked nor pined, the author abandoned his story and wrote to the department:

"Quit arguing. The peanuts are harmless."—Popular Magazine.

Mrs. Sufferer—"Just look at me sitting here and all the work piled up! My feet are so sore and swollen I can't stand on them. Somebody told me to use Fels-Naptha Soap and take a foot bath with it every day. Do you know anything about it?"

Anty Drudge—"I've heard from several of my friends that it is good to use as a foot bath. I'd try it. But I do know it does all kinds of work in the easiest and quickest way. You wouldn't have to stand on your feet so long and make them sore if you would use Fels-Naptha Soap. I always keep a box on hand."

Fels-Naptha Soap and cool or lukewarm water will quickly and easily do the largest wash without hard-rubbing or boiling the clothes. Fels-Naptha makes dirt disappear, dissolves grease and takes out all kinds of stains. It gives tired women time to rest and a chance to grow strong and well. Just as good for all kinds of housework as it is for washing.

Better buy it by the box or carton. Easy directions are on the Red and Green Wrapper. Fels & Co., Philadelphia.

THE LYRIC THEATRE Programme

THURSDAY NIGHT. "The heart of a heather" (Powers), a 2-reel production with Edwin August in disguise as a Chinaman. A story of a Chinaman befriending a white man, who saves his sacred horn from the flames and later the Chinaman saves the daughter of the woman he loves from the Chinese tong. "The wonderful taperwains" (Feature), the greatest living fancy shots with rifles, shot guns and pistols. "The quarter meter" (Powers), a comedy triumph. "The greatest love" (Nestor), an exceptional western drama. Don't miss this feature.

FRIDAY NIGHT. "The snake" a 2-reel 101 Bison feature. This is a very strong offering; the scenes are most interesting when the Hopi's dance with snakes in their mouths and twined about them. "The quarter meter" (Powers), a comedy triumph. "The greatest love" (Nestor), an exceptional western drama. Don't miss this feature.

SATURDAY NIGHT. "Dark Feather's Sacrifice" (Nestor), a good Indian love story. "A new way to win a girl" (Gem), a great gripping comedy. "A woman's folly" (Rex), an interesting drama. "Told in confidence" (Gt. Northern), for laughable purposes only. Don't miss these programs. Doors open at 6 p. m. Saturday, Orchestra.

NEW DRUG STORE AT STATE COLLEGE

It's The Principle That Counts

Most any kind of a man can open a drug store, but it takes a good one to run it successfully. Doing business as we have in the Bellefonte store for 19 years means careful work and satisfied customers. It means that our business has been run to please our patrons. This is the kind of business we propose to give to the people of State College.

It would be impossible to build such a business as our Bellefonte store enjoys, if the principle back of the business was not the right principle. When you deal at our stores we guarantee satisfaction because we know our principles are right. Deal with us and you are always safe and satisfied.
