HOWARD.

"If I can let into some soul
A little light,
If I some pathway dark and drear
Can render bright,
If I to one in gloom can show
The sunny side,
Though no reward I win
I shall be satisfied."

In Our Churches Next Sabbath.

Reformed—Pastor E. H. Zechman will preach at Jacksonville at half past ten, at Marsh Creek at half past two, and in Howard at half past seven. In each of these places the services will be appropriate to the beautiful Harvest Home season.

United Evangelical—Pastor M. J. Snyder will preach at Curtin at half past ten, and at Marion at half past seven.

Presbyterian—Pastor Walter Fay Carson will preach at Port Matilda at half past ten, and at Unionville at half past seven.

The union prayer meeting, which will be held this Thursday evening in the Christian Chapel is No. 3 of the series, and the subject to be considered is "Meditation—Aid to Prayer."

A Little Late.

The following items and a few others now untimely, would have appeared in last week's letter but for some unaccountable tangle, at some unknown place, which in some unknown way, sidetracked them before they reached the linotype machine. Take them for a cold lunch.

The aged George Armstrong Jacobs who has been gradually growing weaker for a long time, ended his long journey through this life about sunset on Monday evening, Sept. 8. Mr. Jacobs was born at McVeytown, April 19, 1820, being somewhat more than ninety-three years of age. In early life he came to Shingleton, near State College, and there married Miss Hannah Fox. Several children were born to them, of whom the following survive: Luther, of Lena, Ill.; John, of Boalsburg; Mrs. Eliza Leech, of Shingleton; Mrs. Ella Resides, of Bellefonte; and Mrs. Nora Sawyer, of Altoona. Mr. Jacobs was employed about the Pennsylvania State College when its foundations were laid, holding various responsible positions. Having served as a sergeant of the old Boalsburg militia company, his knowledge of drill led to his being appointed drill master over the small squad of boys who then formed the student body. He was also foreman of the gang of men who, under the direction of the well known horticulturist William Waring, planted the old orchard still standing on the college farm, in 1860, and afterward planted the maple trees which bounded Main avenue until they were substituted by the elms which are now growing into beauty. The two large, old maples which yet stand at the entrance to this avenue, near the corner of the engineering building, were planted by Mr. Jacobs' own hands, after having carefully selected them for these places, and their sturdy old age is evidence of his painstaking work. At the beginning of the civil war, Mr. Jacobs, as sergeant, assisted in raising and drilling a company, afterward Co. H of the Pa. Vol., and went with them into the three months' service, and later drilled another company. The death of his wife left Mr. Jacobs a lonely man, and in 1903 he came here and married Mrs. Catherine McElwain, Oct. 15, since which time he has been a resident of our town. He was a member of the Lutheran church, and the doctrine of the christian religion tempered and toned his whole life. Mr. Jacobs was of a particularly bright and cheerful temperament and won many friends by his bright smile and pleasing manner.

Y. M. C. A. Movement.

Last Sabbath afternoon two meetings were held, one for young boys in the Methodist church, from three to four o'clock, and another for young men and older, from four to five, in the Reformed church. The former was addressed by State Secretary for Counties, Mr. Campbell, and County Secretary, H. R. Altman, and the latter manifested an encouraging interest. In the second, with an unexpectedly good number of our men as an audience, the same gentlemen followed by Dr. Weston, Secretary of the Bellefonte club, presented the Bellefonte club, and the prospect is good that a club will be organized here in the near future. It is to be hoped that this promise may be fulfilled. Our town is woefully destitute of anything like entertainment, or a suitable place for either boys or men to assemble, as men and boys always like to do, in the leisure hours of the evening. Consequently our streets are filled with a miscellaneous assemblage of young and old of both sexes, moving aimlessly about, in search of entertainment of the right sort, and subject to the street influences which, in all towns are, to put it very mildly, sadly lacking in anything to aid in either the physical, mental, moral or spiritual uplift of the people. To say nothing of spiritual life, which is of course, the most important of all life, and looking at the subject from even the lowest point of view, the economic and intellectual gain which would be sure to follow in the wake of the establishment and maintenance of a Y. M. C. A. club, should stir the interest of every public spirited member of the community. Further efforts toward effecting an organization of the kind are to be made and everyone should turn out and "lend a hand."

Hiking Across the State.

Friday morning last a couple of husky, stalwart young men, whose home is at Swarthmore, Pa., and whose names are Edward D., and Craig D. Voelker, brothers, passed westward through our Main street, on foot, carrying on their shoulders a full camping outfit. They stopped, asked something about their way, and with cheerful courtesy gave the story of their trip in conversation with the Howard letter. They left Philadelphia in the morning of Sept. 1, with the purpose of spending their holiday in a walking trip from that city to Erie, camping by the way. There is no test of strength, question of time, nor waver about it, they are simply out for pleasure and health, and in order to have some sort of schedule, decided to walk between these two points, following as nearly as may be the State Highway routes from point to point. It offered a ride in some passing auto they take it. If they happen to strike some town about meal time they may go to a restaurant and take a meal. Their impedimenta consists of a small dog tent, or sleeping bag, and a woolen blanket for each, with a small but very complete kit of cooking utensils, and three meals, or one day's rations of provisions. So far they have camped out in the open every night. Last Thursday night they camped near Mill Hall, and passed Howard about ten o'clock Friday morning, purposing to go on by way of State routes to Milesburg, Port Matilda, Philipsburg and Clearfield, arriving at Erie about Monday or Tuesday of next week. They were fine bright, gentlemanly fellows, and here's good luck to them.

Camping Out.

A party of our young people returned home from an eight-days' camp, last Monday evening, having left here in the morning of the previous Monday. The place chosen was the well planned and equipped cottage near Curtin station, which has many advantages. There were fifteen of the party, and they had with them two horses, two wagons and one buggy, which enabled them to drive all about the beautiful country by which they were surrounded, gather in forage, visit the county fair at Bellefonte, get their daily meat and papers, and escort some of their visiting friends to and from the station. It proved to be an unusually enjoyable affair, and the youngsters are all the better for it. They were chaperoned by Miss Woodward, and the names of the other members of the party are, Hilda Waggoner, Myrtle Pletcher, Margarette Kamm, Helen Weber, Ivy Pifer, George Pifer, Clair Leathers, George Foresman, Jason Snyder, Walter Holter, Cameron Holter, Charles Robb, Russell Wagner and Doyle Yearick. They had many visitors, among whom are recalled, Mrs. Jacob Robb, Mrs. John M. Wagner and Malcolm, Alma Pletcher, Christ Wagner, Donald Gardner, Walter Weber, Ralph Mayes, Harold Mayes, Mrs. Jennie Curtin, Miss Glenn and Estimer Curtin.

Lightning Strikes.

The severe electric storm of last Sunday afternoon carried considerable damage to the home of A. M. Butler the blind, striking one of the poles that carries his farm telephone wire, and following the wire to the house, splitting the poles, and breaking the wire. At the house it knocked off large portions of plastering about the chimney, shattered the front door and frame nearby, then to the parlor where Mrs. Butler and Miss Edythe were sitting, stunning them both, and then to the cellar when it again ripped off the plastering and made a hole in the ceiling, a large cupboard in which were kept the family supplies. The injury to the ladies was not serious, but they were, of course, greatly frightened. Another bolt fell within a hundred feet of the writer's desk, striking the stable of his neighbor, Jackson Kline, knocking off a board and splintering another, but doing no serious harm.

Sad Accident.

On Monday last, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Lucas, of Curtin township, sent their twelve-year-old son, Lloyd on horseback to the store at Romola. Not long after he was discovered on the road in an unconscious condition, evidently having been thrown from his horse and trampled by it. A long deep cut in the groin, with accompanying internal injuries, and concussion of the brain were his injuries. Dr. Kurtz was called to give him preliminary treatment, bringing him in his automobile to the station, and sent him to the Lock Haven hospital, where he was operated upon, and is reported to be on the way to recovery.

William Diehl, of Hartleton, was a business visitor in town, Monday.

The Hon. John Noll, of Bellefonte, was a caller in town last Wednesday.

Mrs. John W. Beck, of Easton, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Adam Kline.

Engene Helman, of Pettis county, Mo., is a guest of his uncle, Samuel O. Bower.

Miss Mary Allison is spending a week or two with Williamsport friends.

Miss Alice Pletcher left Tuesday last to begin her season's work in Philadelphia.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Thompson were eastward passengers on No. 52 Tuesday afternoon.

Charles V. Woodward, of Philadelphia, was an overnight guest in his old home last week.

Miss Katherine Martin, of State College, was a guest of the Charles E. Yearick home last week.

Isaac R. Williams attended the funeral, at Martha Furnace, of Mrs. Howard Stewart last Wednesday.

The Misses Della and Laura Williams took No. 52 Tuesday, for a two week's sojourn in Philadelphia.

Mrs. W. E. Barton, of Jersey Shore, is at the home of her father, Joseph "Backer, on "the divide," with her little daughter.

Former editor Earl Tuten, of Bellefonte, stopped in town long enough last Thursday to conceive a large admiration for the place.

James Crayer, one of the former useful young men of our town, and now an important member of the hospital force at Bellefonte, was a home visitor last week.

Capt. H. C. Holter is beginning a fine improvement upon his Main street house, an important feature of which will be the raising of it about two feet from the ground.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Green visited in Johnsonburg last week and when they came home Tuesday they were accompanied by Miss Leotta House, Mrs. Green's sister.

Miss Mary Klingeman, of Hartleton, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kunes, with their two daughters, and Harvey Mann and daughter, of Blanchard, were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ward V. Schenk.

The Howard letter is indebted to Mr. David E. Holter for the largest, smoothest, cleanest and in all respects most nearly perfect pear he has seen this year. It would have been a winner at the late fair.

Two improvements are under way this week on Walnut street: A new sidewalk in front of the residence of Mrs. S. H. Bennisson, owned by former sheriff Cooke, and a new kitchen added to the home of lumberman, John Lyon.

Mrs. W. I. Harvey, who acted as substitute for Miss Carrye Butler while she was on her vacation trip, is now helping in the Kline and Wolf store, being one of those who can "lend a hand" in almost any emergency.

Assistant cashier of our bank, Willard McDowell, whose old enemy rheumatism made a sharp attack upon him some weeks ago, has returned from a course of treatment at Mt. Clemens, greatly improved, and is at his desk again.

Erroneous information made me say last week that Chalmar Decker is employed as engineer of a dinky engine at Cameron. Mr. Decker is craneman on a steam shovel at Tryonville, Crawford county, Pa., and I thank him for the correction.

William H. Thompson has begun repairs upon the house lately purchased by Mrs. A. W. Gardner, putting on new siding, a new and enlarged front porch, and tearing away the old lawn fence. This will brighten up another spot on Main street.

H. M. Confer and family have arranged to go to Niagara about Oct. 1 for the winter and possibly longer. Several of the family have already taken up their residences there. Their house has been rented to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Bechtel, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Confer, for the season.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Yearick and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bennisson enjoyed Old Home week at Williamsport, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Lord.

The Presbyterian congregation of last Sabbath evening, was unusually well entertained in music, Miss Mayama Long, of Clarkburg, Virginia, rendered a very sweet little piano solo; and Mrs. J. Will Mayes and A. A. Pletcher sang "Ashamed of Jesus," as an alto and tenor duet, accompanied by Miss Long, with very fine effect.

In addition to those mentioned last week as going from among us to party at other localities, there must be placed the names of Miss Jane A. Kane, who has been chosen as principal of the High school at Thompsonstown, Juniata county, and John J. R. Williams who will teach at the Fishing Creek school in Spring township.

Lloyd Lucas, one of the industrious farm boys of Curtin township, met with a distressing, perhaps fatal accident Monday evening. He was hitching one of the farm horses to a wagon, when by some accident he fell or was thrown down, and the horse trampled upon him in several places. He is injured internally, and is suffering from concussion of the brain.

Miss Carrye Butler, dean of our corps of obliging and efficient telephone operators, has returned to her post after an extended vacation during which she visited friends and relatives in several points of the middle west spending about her time in or near Chicago. Miss Butler's appearance indicates that she enjoyed a thoroughly good time and good living among good friends during her absence.

Miss Elsie Gardner and Miss Leotta House are learning the mysteries of the switchboard in our local telephone exchange. It is expected that one of them will take the place of Miss Annie Confer when she leaves, with her parents for Niagara, and that the other will be a permanent substitute. Miss Confer has earned the good will and good wishes of her time in phone-using community, by her obliging ways and careful attention.

The second weekly union prayer meeting, held in the M. E. church last Thursday evening evinced a rapidly growing sentiment in favor of this move. The attendance was eighty-six, as against fifty-seven the first evening, and the interest was a real live one. There is good reason for hoping that the new arrangement will so commend itself to the whole community that it will permanently supersede the old one of separate meetings in the several churches. As noted above with the Sabbath appointments, the next one will be held in the Christian Chapel, and the subject for consideration will be "Meditation an Aid to Prayer."

Miss Elizabeth Parsons, of Altoona, spent Sunday with her sister, Mrs. H. A. Moore. With her was Miss Gertrude Elise, of Orlando, Florida, a niece of both the above named ladies, and whose father, B. B. Elise, still living at eighty, in the Florida home, was a friend of the writer in the earlier years when both were interested in Dickinson Seminary at Williamsport.

Miss Elsie is the manager of an orange grove, owned by her father, which last year yielded more than four hundred boxes of oranges and grape fruit, and it is most interesting to hear the bright woman tell of them, and her experiences in growing and handling them.

MILESBURG.

Mrs. Fred Scandrol, who has been sick for some time past at her home in this place, was taken to the Bellefonte hospital for treatment.

J. P. Heverly has had quite a few visitors this summer. They have now all returned to their home for the winter.

Miss Elizabeth Scandrol, who has been attending Milesburg High school, was unable to resume her studies this term by reason of her mother's illness.

JACKSONVILLE.

The heavy frost on Saturday and Sunday nights has killed most of the corn and garden vegetables.

Miss Alta Yearick and Miss Eulogy Earley, of this place, and Miss Hope Strunk, of State College, left Friday for a week's outing at Grange Park. They will be joined later by some of our male sex.

Saturday afternoon Nevin Yearick and his best girl drove to Grange Park to spend Sunday.

Quite a few of our people expect to attend the encampment on Wednesday and Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Beightol spent Saturday with Mrs. Beightol's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harter, at Blanchard.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Vonada and children, of Juniata, arrived Saturday to see his sick mother, who is still in a critical condition.

Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Yearick and children visited at the home of Howard Neff, at Curtin, on Sunday.

B. L. Noll and family took dinner down on the farm with R. H. Stamm on Sunday.

Miss May Bickel visited friends in Howard recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gummo, of Clinton county, visited the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Glossner, at this place on Sunday.

G. H. Dunkle was called to Bellefonte Monday, as a witness on a law suit.

On Monday, the 15th, the stork again visited our town and left a bouncing boy at the home of Edward Dolen and his name will be Nevin Dolen. This makes three boys that has come to our town in six weeks. Hurry up you people who want boys while they are being sent around.

ROMOLA.

William Moyer, of Orviston, spent Sunday with his lady friend, Miss Gertrude Packer.

Mrs. Jacob Beightol has returned to her home in Snow Shoe.

Quite a few of our people attended the fair and report of having a nice time.

Mrs. George Heverly has returned from the Lock Haven hospital.

Mrs. Andrew Boone is slowly improving at this writing.

Mrs. Harvey Weaver and children, who were seriously burned, have returned from Mill Hall where they were under the skillful treatment of Dr. S. J. McGhee.

Edward Confer has been stricken with typhoid fever.

Edward Bowes and Relda McCartney, who have typhoid fever, are getting along nicely.

Mrs. Joseph Poorman and son, Chester, spent Sunday at Lock Haven.

Lock Haven Grocer's Ill Luck. J. D. McUlta, a Lock Haven grocer, suffered a peculiar loss one night last week when the shelving along the entire one side of his store toppled over onto his show cases. With the shelving came all the goods that had been piled thereon, and the result was a chaotic heap of canned tomatoes, corn, coffee, cocoa, sugar, syrup etc., a great portion of which was ruined. Mr. McUlta had just stocked his store with a new consignment of goods.
