WITH THE STATE NEWSPAPERS.

Results of the Maine election indicate that the Progressives must be up and doing in this state or Penrose will get them-DuBois Express.

Senator Penrose doubtless developed his desire to be a "jiner" as a result of his experience as a member of the Down and Out Club-Johnstown Democrat.

So far as it has progressed grape juice diplomacy has shown a decided He denied that he tried to get away, superiority over some other varieties we might mention. -Connellsville News.

Senator LaFollette was wiser in his day and generation than some other Progressives. When it came down to a choice between a Democratic tariff for the benefit of the people and a Republican tariff by and for Big Business, he courageously and consistently chose the former .-- Johnstown Democrat.

During the sixteen years of Republican bliss every appointment of the faithful was taken as a matter of course. Now when a Democrat receives the same favors there is a great howl from the Third Party organs that the Democrats have no regard for merit system. It all depends upon whose back is being scratched .- Selinsgrove Times.

After an investigation of the enrollment figures over the State, the "Ledger" concludes that the Washington Party has collapsed and that the Roosevelt hysteria has subsided. This, however, is not to be taken as an endorsement of the Penrose machine. The political campaign of 1912 was a remarkable protest against the Republican leadership. If the protest is not heeded it may be necessary for another similar but more determined protest .-- Carlisle Evening Standard.

Just at this time when the Demoeratic administration and Congress are on trial before the people of the country there is a scanning of the horizon for political signs as to how the people are considering the situation. That may best be ascertained by the result of the scattered elections that are held as occasion arises. It is therefore a matter of gratification on the part of Democrats when an election for Congress in the Third District of Maine, always a strong Republican bailiwick, the one formerly represented by James G. Blaine, and at a special election when the vote would be expected to be short, a Democrat should come within five hundred votes of being elected. Furthermore the Democratic vote at that special election did not show any falling off from that of the regular election when President Wilson was elected, and enthuslasm attendant upon a national election was rife. Nothing better in the way of signs of the times could be wished for than the Main election, even if the election of a Republican there was a foregone conclusion .--- Easton Argus.

Nervous Troubles.

Neurasthenia, or nervous prostration, has so many forms and so many causes that it is one of the most puzzling diseases a physician can be called upon to treat. No general rules can be given, each case having to be han dled on its own merits. It calls for a psychologist rather than a physician. Some of the many well defined forms that neurasthenia takes have received names of their own. Among these are agoraphobia, which shows itself in fright when in crowded places; moupphobia, or dread of being alone; claustraphobia, or fear of confined places; anthrophobia, or horror of society: from above; siderodromophobia, or fright at traveling on a railroad train. less flow of ideas. ### "Come Ye to the Waters."

Julian Grande, who recently returned to England from Bible lands, has had some interesting things to say about Damascus. The pride of the district lies still in its rivers, Abana and Pharpar, but this does not hinder the citizens from polluting them with the refuse of the streets, making the water quite undrinkable in summer. Water is brought from a distance and sold in the streets at about a farthing a quart, and to buy a cupful of cold water and give it to "one of those little ones" is a typical act of eastern charity. Pious Moslems will buy water and then gather the thirsty children round them, using almost the very words of Isalah-"Ho, every one that thirsteth. come ye to the waters." -Homiletic Review.
