Edward Bowes and Relda McCartney are able to be around again.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Confer, of Orviston, spent Sunday at Jacob Confer's.

There will be a box social held at the home of Tom Confer, Saturday evening, Oct. 4th. All are cordially invited.

OAK HALL.

O. L. Rishel, who had been suffering from rheumatism, is able to be at work again.

Our roofing man, W. J. Folk, has made an improvement to the town as well as his property by having his house painted.

Say Doc, when you pass your neighbor's and spy something suspicious do not form a hasty opinion about your neighbor's dogs. How about it? Ha! ha!

Mrs. Claude Radel is spending some time with her parents at Millersburg.

The planing mill and foundry which was formerly run by Edward Sellers, but which is now under the management of W. H. Roush, is ready for work again, after being repaired and will hereafter be known as The Planing Mill and Foundry Co.

We are pleased to note that Miss Margaret Ferree is getting along very nicely and expects to come home during the coming week.

Say boys, bring your lady friends to Sunday school, as it isn't near as hard a walk, as it is to the mountain.

SPRING MILLS.

Harry Korman and friends returned to Altoona, after spending a week with his parents.

Bruce Meyer has gone to Altoona, where he expects to find employment.

Ebon Finkle left Tuesday morning for Youngstown, Ohio, where he has secured a position.

Mrs. S. J. Wolfe has gone to Philadelphia to purchase her winter line of millinery stock.

Miss Opha Gramley as delegate to the Missionary Society, and Miss Martha Smith as delegate to the Mission Band, have gone to Belleville to attend a Missionary convention.

Chas. Bitner, of Lock Haven, spent Saturday and Sunday in this place.

Miss Mae Brown, of Huntingdon, is spending two weeks in this place visiting her grandparents and friends.

Miss Gertrude Ream has gone to State College to spend the week with Frank Osman returned to his home after spending the past two months in the Altoona hospital suffering with a stroke of paralysis.

LEMONT.

The fine rains last week have put the ground in good order to sow the wheat.

L. W. Musser moved from Millbrook to Centre Hall on Monday so that he would be nearer to his school.

Harry Tressler has been on the sick list for more than a week with stomach trouble and is not improving very fast.

John Stamm and wife came down from Altoona last Friday for a few hours' visit among friends before he goes to Philadelphia for treatment.

Jacob Ray and wife are visiting at the home of Prof. Thos. Houtz in Selinsgrove, this week.

Rev. M. I. Jamison, of York, preached for the Lemont Evangelical congregation on Sunday.

John I. Thompson and wife were thrown out of their buggy and hurt, on Monday, having been run into by an automobile that became uncontrollable on account of the steering gear breaking.

STORMSTOWN.

On last Tuesday John Way met with an accident which might have proved fatal. While hauling wood from his timberland he was violently thrown from his wagon. We are glad to know that he is rapidly recovering.

There are rumors of a wedding, one in Stormstown and one down the line. How about it Bob and Jack?

Mrs. Gummo is having her house weatherboarded.

The ore plants at Dungarvin have shut down.

Miss Olive Way spent Saturday and Sunday with her home folks.

Mrs. C. W. Hunter, who has been away for some time, is now at home.

Little Elsie, daughter of John I. Gray, is very sick with tonsillitis.

Dr. S. G. Coons and wife attended "Uncle Tom's Cabin" show in Bellefonte last Monday evening.

Clare Griffin and daughter, of Tyrone, spent Sunday with our accommodating merchant, J. H. Griffin.

STORMSTOWN.

Here we are again after a little rest. Quite a few people from this place attended the play in Bellefonte last week. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Wade Lytle, Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Harpster, Boyd Johnson, Nora Gummo, Paul Hartsock and sister Margaret, also Miss Rowe, the school mistress and lastly, Frank Ebbs.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Beck, from State College, visited the latter's parents, on Sunday.

Carl Furst visited at Fillmore this week. What is the attraction? Miss Henderson, we guess.

The meeting at Gray's M. E. church was postponed but will be held on next Sunday, Oct. 6th. Everybody is invited.

It was rumored that G. B. Gummo had to sow his wheat over, but it was a false report as his wheat crop is growing nicely.

Beaten Up.—It was the morning after the Harrigans' musicale "Did ye examine th' planny yet, Norah?" inquired Harrigan, apprehensively. "What for?" asked Mrs. Harrigan, surprised. "To see if there's a tooth left in his head!" said Harrigan.

Not a Complete Surprise.

When William R. Hearst bought the old New York Journal one of his managing editors, Julius Chambers, invited Hearst to dinner with him.

They went to a downtown French restaurant. Chambers had ordered the dinner, which was a good one, and Hearst and he had a pleasant time. Along toward the close of the meal Chambers said: "Now, Mr. Hearst, I am going to give you a treat. I have ordered something you probably never have eaten or seen."

Chambers nodded to the waiter, who brought in some French artichokes. "You see," explained Chambers, "these are a great delicacy. You pull off the leaves and dip the ends in the sauce and eat the ends only."

Hearst smiled a little and followed directions. As they progressed Chambers said complacently: "Pretty good, eh? I don't suppose you ever saw an artichoke before."

"Well," Hearst replied, "I can't go so far as that. You see, Chambers, we had 400 acres of them growing the last time I was out at our California ranch."—Saturday Evening Post.

Fans in the Eighteenth Century.

A letter in the London Spectator dated May, 1711, gives a most interesting description of an academy where ladies could be drilled in the proper use of their fans and initiated into the mysteries of "the angry flutter, the modest flutter, the timorous flutter, the confused flutter, the merry flutter and the amorous flutter."

In the eighteenth century at dancing assemblies in London, Bath and other places of fashionable resort gentlemen chose their partners by "lottery of the fan." The fans of all the ladies present were placed in a hat, whence each gentleman had the privilege of selecting one, the lady to whom it belonged becoming his allotted partner for the evening. Of course such a custom entailed a great study of fans on the part of the gentlemen.

Boswell, Steele and Pope found something to say about the fan, and Guy, enlarging upon the efforts of his predecessors, wrote a long poem in praise of the fan, attributing its invention to Venus.

How Brazilians Bag Wild Fowl.

From "The Log of a Rolling Stone," by Henry Arthur Broome, comes the following curious mode of bagging wild fowl in Brazil by way of economizing ammunition:

"The expedient is to get hold of a very large pumpkin and, after scooping out the meat and seeds inside, to cut two little eye-holes in it and then place it on the hunter's head. He then wades through the sedge and flags into deeper water up to his neck, where the wild fowl are feeding, who gather that it is merely a pumpkin innocently floating on the surface. The hunter then soon gets into the midst of his quarry and, seizing them by the legs, pulls them quietly under water, where he tucks them under a belt fastened round his waist, and as their companions presume that one unfortunate bird after another is only diving for food the hunter gets a waistful in no time and returns well satisfied to the shore."

Romance of a Picture.

The ups and downs of the artist's calling are well illustrated by the fortunes and misfortunes of the late M. Sukhorovsky, a Russian artist. His celebrated painting, "Nana," was exhibited all over the world and made a fortune for himself and others. After personally receiving some $300,000 for his exhibition the artist, thinking its value over, sold "Nana" for $21,000, and the dealer resold it at double the price. An American bought it and showed it all through the United States, Canada and South America and is reported to have made $1,000,000 by the enterprise. On the other hand, the artist lost all his money by unfortunate investments and was reduced almost to beggary.

Gave Him a Hint.

Miss Carter had not been successful in bringing young Dodge to her feet and in consequence felt a little spiteful toward him. One evening they were having quite a serious talk in the library.

"Do you think," asked the young man, "that men progress after death?"

"Well," responded the girl, "if they don't it would almost seem useless for some of them to die."

Made the Most of It.

Louis-Bertie is the meekest man on earth. I bet him a new hat one day last week, lost the bet and today received a bill for a sum big enough to buy five of the best silk hats in town. Charles—Great Scott! How's that? Louis—He let his wife select one for herself.—London Telegraph.

Cause For Hurry.

"I understand they were married in haste." "Yes; they told the minister to hurry because there was only a little gasoline left in their automobile, and they were twenty miles from home."—Exchange.

He Wanted to Know.

His Compliment.

A Frenchman, on being introduced to Sir Edwin Landseer, said: "I am most happy to make your acquaintance, for I am very fond of beasts."

He chooseth best who chooseth labor instead of rest.—Old Saying.

BOALSBURG.

Howard Bricker is attending the Milton fair this week. Dr. and Mrs. Klidder and daughter Mary spent last week in Philadelphia. Miss Esther Brown, who has been in Harrisburg all summer, is home on a vacation. A little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Klinger fell and broke her arm, while going home from school last week.

E. H. Williams has been quite sick the past week. Communion service will be held in the Reformed church Sunday morning. Preparatory service Saturday evening.

Harry Kuhn is assistant clerk in the Stuart store.

Mrs. Blanch Hess and Mrs. William Kuhn, of Shingletown, spent last Thursday at the George Shugart home.

ONEY IN RAISING APPLES.

Centre county fruit growers and others, who as yet are not disposed to be friendly toward the Pennsylvania apple, will no doubt rub their eyes when told that Adams county growers last week were offered $4 per barrel for the apples from their orchards. The fruit which is of a fine quality is being shipped to the eastern markets. This condition is a direct result of the intelligent application of scientific methods to orchard culture, the improvement in size and quality of fruit being obtained. One of the most important factors in the success of the orchardists is that of the State experts. By a system of bulletins the growers learn just when to spray to kill an invading pest that would wreck the crop, and likewise they gain information as to the proper fertilizers and fruits to use. Instructors collect the apples and give personal aid to the local men. Another result of the increased price for fruit is the increase in orchards that are being made. For every bearing tree there are at least 12 non-producing ones which have been planted anywhere from one to five years. And more are being planted each year.

New Series of Detective Tales.

A new series of detective stories, the biggest thing in detective fiction since the Sherlock Holmes productions. They are absolutely new and altogether different from any other detective stories ever written. They will prove diverting to any reader of modern fiction, because they represent the very best of the novelists.

The first of the series of ten stories will be printed in the Sunday North American for October 5.

Robbery at Magees Mills.

W. W. Magee, of the firm of Magee Bros., proprietors of the general store at Magees Mills was engaged in counting up the cash register one night recently when an automobile was driven up to the door and a masked man entered the room and at the point of a revolver demanded the money be handed over and this was very naturally done under the circumstances. There was all told about $200 in the register, a part being in checks on the First National bank. No sooner had the unknown secured the money than he backed out of the store and getting into the automobile drove rapidly away. Mr. Magee is certain there were two men in the machine with him, but gave no description. There is a possibility that the checks may lead to their capture and identification.

ANTY DRUDGE

Mr. Smith—"Good morning, Anty Drudge! Go right on up to the house. You'll find Mary busy over the washtubs, but she don't seem to mind it any more since you told her about Fels-Naptha Soap. That reminds me! Mr. Jones was praising his boy up to me the other day. He said, 'He's all wool, you can bet.' I told him I shouldn't wonder, because I notice he shrinks from washing. Ha! Ha! But I couldn't say that if he used Fels-Naptha Soap, could I?"

Fels-Naptha Soap is the greatest help women can have, in doing their weekly washing and all their housework. It works without fuss or bother in cool or lukewarm water. Saves your time and strength because it does the hard part of the work for you.

Clothes washed with Fels-Naptha do not have to be hard-rubbed or boiled. Stains come out easily, dirt disappears. Use Fels-Naptha for everything about the home.

Buy it by the box or carton. Easy directions are on the Red and Green Wrapper.
