> It may be queried what Thomas Jefferson Smull, the sage of Mack-eysville, Clinton county, Pa., has to do with the state capitol. Well, this: His testimony that a snow fell in Pennsylvania, in September 1844 which was heavy enough to break down the bark shel of old Flicking-er's tannery in Rebersburg, Centre county, along side the good old U. B. church, is worthy of a place in the archives of the state library. Thomas J. was always like one "curly-headed little boy," we all read about. Besides his testimony is clearly cor-roberative of that given by the Pariarch John McGhee, Esq., of Beech Creek. That snow was so heavy and also cohesive that it broke down the apple trees, limbs, fruit and all. The long struggle for the post office here ended Wednesday, when the President appointed Louis N. Spencer, Esq., a militant re-organizer, who was recommended by Col. Benj. F. Davis and approved by National Com-mitteeman A. Mitchell Palmer. A most strenuous opposition was organized by the old corporation bi-partisan reactionaries, who resorted to all sorts of unfair methods to influence that sterling son of Texas, Hon. A. S. Burleson. They even tried to de-feat Mr. Dietrick, the progressive can-Davis. Among the rising young lawyers of the Lancaster bar is Sumner V. Hos-terman, a native of Centre Hall, I eliewe. Sumner attended Franklin & Marshall college, from which he graduated, but meantime an attach-ment, with a golden cord, was served upon him and the lady who served the process so effectually tied the knot, that he became a permanent prisoner at the bar, with offices with G. Ross Eshelman, Esq. I believe he is now assistant district attorney of this, biggest county in the country! Another native of Centre county the stately and dignified Tom, E. Holahan, son of the venerated edu-cator and county superintendent W. C. Holahan, long since translated to that home supernal. Mr. Holahan ame to Lancaster, too, as a young man, and has won an enviable posiman, and has won an enviable posi-tion at the bar. It seems that this winning trait is characteristic of Centre county boys, no matter wheth-er Dutch or Irish. Mr. Holahan's politics is progressive in a county known for its "standpatism"—which is the marvel of the world. To reflect that with all its great wealth, educational and religious training, its great material progress, it is yet politically the dumbest and stupidest county in the whole world; It is not a patching to that dull old county of cattle shows in England, after which it is named—for, even there, they would not permit for a week the stupid tyr-anny upon political thought which is as ineffaceable here as the laws of work. It is better than an extra pair of hands and does not cost as much. It works best in cool or lukewarm water, without hard rubbing and scrubbing.
