EDITORIAL.

When President Wilson signed the new tariff bill, on Friday evening, the principal pledge of the Democracy was fully redeemed.

Some of our local papers would really be disappointed to see the cost of living reduced. It will come in due time—don't be impatient.

When $50,000,000 is appropriated for road building in Pennsylvania, all the broken-down political hacks in the state will have soft snaps. Think twice before you approve this measure.

When Pennsylvania votes $50,000,000 for roads, the Penrose rule in Pennsylvania will have no further trouble. It is a Penrose scheme at its best. We want good roads—not political roads.

When you vote $50,000,000 bonds for roads, it means you are burdening future generations. If the corporations of Pennsylvania were properly taxed there would be no need to borrow $50,000,000.

The State Highway Department has proven a failure. From all parts of the state come reports of their roads going to pieces, because they were built by machine politicians and the money did not go in the roads.

The New Jersey schoolmaster has certainly pleased his friends and discouraged his enemies and critics. Tariff reform has been accomplished and a harmonious party is maintained. That was more than President Cleveland achieved, because his tariff efforts were a failure and the party disrupted.

While the new tariff went into effect last Friday it will be a long time until the new rate will be felt throughout the country. Don't judge a measure before it has had time for a thorough and practical test. When the next Presidential campaign comes along the people will be in shape to act intelligently—by that time they will have eaten some of the new Wilson Tariff pudding and can, if they choose, order more.

The Centre Democrat wants better roads—everybody wants good roads. The issue for good roads is here, and it can not be side-tracked. Some years ago everybody saw the necessity for a new capitol, and the $13,000,000 steel followed under Penrose. With that still fresh in mind, are our people willing to vote $50,000,000 in bonds for Penrose to rebuild a political road that will take him to the United States Senate?

Wm. J. Bryan was chosen by President Wilson as his chief cabinet officer, and by that act, the President received the universal commendation of his party. Any person, professing to be a Democrat, who continually criticizes the Secretary of State from petty, selfish motives is disloyal to the administration and a traitor to the Democratic party. If you are a Democrat, stand by the administration; if you can't do that, go where you belong.

Too much credit can not be accorded Oscar Underwood for his services in framing the new tariff. In his efforts he was fortunate in having as his chief assistant Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer, of Pennsylvania who, as a member of the Ways and Means committee, did valiant services and now is prominently mentioned as Mr. Underwood's successor, which position is regarded as next to that of President of the United States, in prestige and influence. Palmer will bring new honors to Pennsylvania.

It is noteworthy that, with the exception of the Wilson-Gorman tariff, the pending Tariff bill has been under consideration longer than any other measure of the kind since the civil war. The McKinley bill, introduced April 16, 1890, was passed Sept. 30. The Wilson-Gorman bill, introduced at a regular session Dec. 13, 1893, became a law Aug. 13, 1894. The Dingley bill, introduced March 15, 1897, was disposed of July 24. The Payne-Aldrich bill was discussed from March 15, 1909, until Aug. 5. In spite of this our republicans insist that the new tariff did not receive proper consideration and was jammed through without proper consideration. They must say something, but the democrats are certainly redeeming pledges. This truly is the best tariff ever passed and time will vindicate the framers.

"SELF-RESPECTING DEMOCRATS"

Last week the "Democratic (?) Watchman" attempted a defence of the Donnelly political organization in Philadelphia that parades, like the "Watchman," under the Democratic banner, but is in truth a portion of the old Guffey-Penrose bi-partisan corrupt political machine. Last week the "Watchman" said:

"Much as it is to be regretted the temporary arrest of the negotiations for fusion in Philadelphia, last Saturday evening, was not surprising. Those political moles who have been undermining the Democratic organization for a dozen years or more literally compelled a protest in some form, and the withdrawal from the conference of the self-respecting Democrats who have borne the burden of maintaining the party through a long period of adversity, seemed the most effective method of procedure."

The "self-respecting Democrats" alluded to above, by the Watchman, are the Donnelly political gangsters, of Philadelphia. The "Public Ledger" of Philadelphia, which is known as the most reliable paper in that city, places the following estimate on this crowd of "self-respecting Democrats" with whom the editor of the Watchman has trained these many years. The following is from the Ledger:

"Why Not Let Mr. Donnelly Bolt?" "Mr. Donnelly, of the unconstructed band of Democrats, bolted the fusion conference Saturday and many earnest fusionists are reported to be perturbed. They should remain calm and repress their fears. The only real danger to fusion will be due to the return of Mr. Donnelly to the fusion ranks. Fusion can get along much better without the Donnelly Democrats than Mr. Donnelly can without the fusionists."

"It is an anomaly that the reform elements of this community, in a sincere and honest crusade for the purpose of establishing non-partisan, efficient, anti-machine government should be engaged in a 'dicker' with Donnelly Democrats about an office or two. The continued presence of these forbidding elements in the fusion ranks must necessarily have raised doubt and suspicion even as to the reformers. Let Mr. Donnelly bolt and stay out."

"The simon pure Donnelly Democrats do not amount to anything in a campaign of this sort; they support by do not give much moral support to this movement. During many years the Donnelly Democrats were openly and shamelessly a mere appendage and side show to the Republican machine. They maintained a trading post; they performed the pack's part; they betrayed every effort to establish good government and played into the hands of the Organization; they received a few crumbs of patronage for individuals and the result of their tactics was practically to eliminate the Democratic party in this city, to bring it into disrepute in the State, to invite the objections of all straight-forward citizens and to incite the disgust of all real Democrats. Under this leadership the Democratic voters who would follow the little Donnelly machine became one a handful. The place for these men and their leaders is not in the ranks of reform but in the open alliance with the Republican machine and the contractor bosses who own and reward them."

"The Donnelly Democrats are a handicap, a dead weight, an obstacle. No good can come from their aid and, fortunately, the people are wide awake that their capacity to do harm is slight. Their activities in the past in supporting a corrupt machine constitute one of the glaring abuses which it is the aim and function of the fusion movement to correct, and the fusion forces can elicit more enthusiasm and attract more votes by washing their hands of this band than by striking hands with them for any purpose whatsoever. They should be encouraged to desert to the enemy where they belong, to serve the machine openly and exhibit their true colors. Fusion and reform will be the better for the rid-

THE END OF EXTORTION.

When the new Tariff bill as agreed upon by the conference committee of the two branches of Congress was reported to the House this week a great and patriotic task was virtually completed. A memorable record was made. A precedent never to be forgotten was established.

For the first time since the civil war an honest general revision of the tariff downward, often promised by leading men of all parties, had been agreed upon. For the first time since protection for monopoly's sake had become an institution seemingly invincible, greed and corruption had been met on their own ground and vanquished. For the first time since public plunderers sought refuge in the United States Senate a tariff measure emerged from that body fairer and wiser and lower than it was received from the House.

The new tariff defeats not only the organized rapacity of those who have long controlled such enactments; it overcomes also the threats of the panic-breeders and the falsehoods of the hired claqueurs who for a generation or more terrorized people and Congress. It becomes a law with Republican as well as Democratic support. It is welcomed even by the very interests which for years bludgeoned those who suggested a similar enactment.

When our tariffs for extortion averaged nearly 50 per cent on the value of our dutiable imports, a suggestion of the smallest reduction was met by cries of "free trade." The act now completed reduces the average of taxation at the custom-houses to one-half the rates that were once deemed necessary, but it is more truly a measure of protection than any law which the combined corruptionists of the past bought with money and favor.

This law was written in behalf of the people. It taxes wealth, indulgence, luxury. It frees many of the necessities of life. It is intended to give consumers cheaper goods, or better goods for the same money. It relieves manufacturers by untaxing raw materials. It promotes honesty in trade. It removes the support of government only from the hopelessly inefficient and dependent.

Nearly a century ago when Henry Clay introduced what he called the "American system" to the people, his idea of sufficient protection for American labor was embodied in a tariff of 20 per cent. We have had tariffs for monopoly since that time of more than twice that figure. We are now to have a tariff reformed after years of struggle, after years of oppression, after years of deception, intimidation and corruption, that safeguards labor on the one hand and does not rob it on the other.

While the economic question involved has hardly been touched, the moral triumph that has been won is complete. The thanks of the country are due to every member of Congress, Republican and Democrat, who has contributed to this result, but especially to be honored are Representative Underwood, Senator Simmons and President Wilson, without whose untiring labors, wisdom and moderation the happy issue now at hand might have been impossible.—World.

LIVER AILMENTS CAUSE OTHERS

The liver is a very sensitive organ and is very easily affected. Just the instant it becomes deranged trouble results through its inability to properly assist in moving the poisonous waste matter from the body. Among the many manifestations of liver trouble are biliousness, jaundice, sick headache, gall stones, nervous derangement, sleeplessness, irritability, indigestion, constipation, irritability. In such cases, where the primary fault lies with the liver, the proper thing to do, of course, is to restore that organ to its natural healthy condition, when, unless it has been neglected too long, the trouble soon vanishes.

We know of no better remedy for liver complaint and the various ailments arising from imperfect liver action than Rexall Little Liver Pills. They are carefully prepared from a formula which has been found eminently satisfactory for the relief of liver and attendant ailments. We earnestly recommend them to you, with the guarantee that if they do not give relief, we will refund your money. Price, 25 cents. Sold in this community only at our store. The Rexall Store.
