A STENCH IN THE NOSTRILS.

On the same day that Senator Wil-Department in which he said that the present system of giving State aid to hospitals and eleemosynary institu-tions has his approval, the State Fed-eration of Pennsylvania Women in and which has five times sent him to the State Senate, were listening to a truthful description and characterization of that system which Senator Sproul approves.

It is the same system that Governor Tener though it expedient to condemn in his message to the legislature last winter, but which he took care not to lift a hand or say a word to have abolished and a business like system put in its place, during all the months that the legislature was in session.

The members of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women heard that system truthfully described by eminent men, prominently connected with the charitable work of the State.

They heard it truthfully described Pennsylvania to the gang-controlled members of the legislature, the parceling out of the public money to go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and neglect shall go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and neglect shall go shouting the shall go s celing out of the public money to go shouting; to go with my flag flying security and adversity and neglect shall private institutions in return for votes and, as I have never lied to the peo- overtake me it will be a comfort even and the flagrant exploitation of the ple of Kentucky, please God I never in the valley of the shadow of death sick, the poor, the infirm and the in-Penrose machine. The system which Mr. Sproul said he approves while he is advocating the $50,000,000 loan was denounced by social workers and permanent members of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women.

Dr. Charles Frazier, President of the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania, stated a fact of common knowledge when at Swarthmore he said that "Pennsylvania's appropriation system has become a stench in the nostrils of right thinking peo-Alexander Fleisher of the Public Charities Association did the same when he declared that "the present mad method of distributing State aid s unconstitutional and disgraceful." In the course of his eloquent address, Dr. Frazier said that each year the octopus of appropriations becomes a greater menace and that the State should at once commit itself to the support of its insane and epileptic, its ndent children, its correctional and reformatory agencies and its institutions for chronic inebriates and for vagrants, that these institutions should be under State control and that all institutions which receive State aid should be under State su-

Coming—A Royal Slave.
Of all the book plays, "A Royal Slave," with the exception, perhaps of "Ben Hur," has been the most successful. This charming story of the sunny south embodies all that is wooing in the song of the nightingale; all that is sweet in the shadow groves, the breath of the magnolias and bowers of the torrid bloom; all that ts lovely in the tropic moonlight, the sighing palms and soft vistas of purple leagues and distant snow-crowned peaks; all that is thrilling and ro-mantic in the passionate hearts of the children of the Sun Land, Mexico, is to be found in the beautiful sensation-
