SHOULD PASS.

The voters should be very careful to vote for the proposed amendment to the Constitution extending the term of judges of the court of Common Pleas, whose terms of office would expire with the end of an even number of years to the first Monday of January 1916 or 1918. This amendment is made necessary from the fact, that an amendment to the Constitution was adopted in 1909 which fixed the election of all judges, except those of the Supreme and Superior Courts, for odd numbered years. The fact that a number of these judges were elected in 1904, 1906, and 1908 and that their terms would expire with the end of 1914, 1916 and 1918 was overlooked. This made it necessary to have a further amendment so that these judges would be elected in odd numbered years and their term begin on the first Monday of the following even numbered years. The voters should see to it that this amendment is adopted.

Kleptomania.

The paragraphist opened his typewriter, adjusted a sheet of paper, lit his pipe and sat for a moment immersed in thought. Then he clicked off a single line of copy. He glanced at what he had written, and a look of surprise came across his classic features. Then he gasped, shrieked and went into a fit of hysterics.

His colleagues rushed into the room, but he was beyond human aid. In ten minutes he had laughed himself to death. Then one bethought himself (1783). to look at the last lines those fingers, now cold and still, had written. At the top of the all but unsulfied sheet appeared these words: "Another shoplifter arrested in one of our big stores has been dismissed with a warning and her name withheld from the papers. What used to be called a crime is now yclept a mania"-That was all. But it had caught the paragrapher unawares. - Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Curious Signboards. An eighteenth century Glasgow sweep suspended over the door of his house the announcement:

Barny Keir, he does live here. He'll sweep your vents, and not too dear, And should they chance to go on fire He'll put them out at your desire.

Edinburgh once enjoyed the distinction of possessing the most prolix sign-board on record: "John Main, Stationer, Bibles, Testaments, Psalms, Hymns, Prayerbooks, Catechisms, Proverbs, Books, new and old, in various branches of literature. Money or exchange for old Books; Papers, Pens, and Ink; Wax and Wafers; Blacklead, Hair, and Hair Pencils; Colored Books, Memorandum Books, Religious Tracts, Books neatly bound, on moderate terms."-London Mail.

The High Cost of Bigelowism.

The official contract figures for each mile of road constructed since the state highway act of 1911 went into effect and State Highway Commissioner Bigelow took office twenty-nine months ago, show that the state's actual road work expenses have been divided as follows:

Four additional maintenance contracts, no mileage available 4,857.90 326,373.30

Total of all bridge, state road, state aid road, National or Cumberland road construction and maintenance......$3,938,040.28 In this expenditure of $3,938,040.28 is included every foot of road and bridge work completed or contracted for by State Highway Commissioner Bigelow from June 1, 1911, when he took office, until October 1, 1913. In the same period, from June 1, 1911, until October 1, 1913, the records of the office of the auditor general show that the state highway department spent $8,830,647.87.

For salaries, engineering, inspection, superintendence, surveying, testing, traveling, automobiles, clerk hire, bookkeeping, postage and other department expenses, the state highway department therefore spent $4,892,-607.59, while it spent only $3,938,040.28on actual road work.

In other words, under Bigelowism it has cost the state nearly FIVE million dollars to supervise the expenditure of less than FOUR million

First Flight Sensations.

The sensations when you first shoot up rapidly in the air are distressful to Mellor felt, sitting behind the pilot in ing. The smallest opening of the nasal valve seems to give too much air. My blood rapidly becomes superoxygenated, and I experience a feeling of exhilaration. I should like to shout or at least say 'Ha, ha!' but the pressure of the wind is too great for me to say anything, and I feel it best to keep my mouth shut."

It was much the same when taking a trial flight in a monoplane from the Bleriot school. At the end of the first circuit he "felt like blowing up."

Jupiter Cold and Dim.

Jupiter is 1,283 times larger than the earth, but the quantity of matter in this huge volume is only 316 times that in the earth; hence its density is low-in fact, only 41 per cent greater than that of water. Jupiter has been weighed with extreme precision, this because its moons can be measured as to distance and specific speeds of orbital revolution with the last degree of accuracy. But, then, it is cold out there, the distance of Jupiter being 5.2 times that of the earth from the sun, the intensity of solar light and beat energy received by the good Jovian folk, if there are any such creatures, being only one twenty-seventh that received here by humans. We would at once die in cold and dim twilight if taken out to Jupiter.-Edgar Lucien Larkin in New York American.

Crocodiles as Policemen.

There has been instances in Papua in which long sentence prisoners have It's a great thing to wear shabby had no desire to return to their home ever, those cases are exceptional, and odiles were in league with the government. A prisoner escaping from jail was once severely lacerated by one of these reptiles while crossing a river. The constable and gave himself up to ernment," was the complaint of the escaped.-London Cor. New York Sun.

The First Balloons.

I suppose you heard of those strange globes invented in Paris which rise into the air though encumbered with the weight of human animals. I wish we could procure one and travel together among the clouds. At night we would illuminate our flying palace and hover like angry meteors above the habitations of our enemies, who perhaps have not yet been made acquainted with this wonderful invention. Like a certain mischievous bird which Ovid celebrates, we would dart down upon the graceful innocents and carry them off in spite of the screams of their relations. Think how triumphantly we should sail through the calm, blue ether 10,000 feet above this dirty planet .-From a Letter of William Beckford
