A Sanitary View of Bellefonte

A letter to one of our townsmen from a friend motoring through this section of the country tells of impressions formed by civic conditions in parts of our town. "I never saw Bellefonte so thoroughly as yesterday. Your fine homes are wonderful in a town of its size. Your town shows that the citizens have a great deal of civic pride, as the pavements, gutters and streets are in such fine condition. The Public School building reflects great credit on your town and citizen-ship, as one of the finest I ever saw. You are to be congratulated in casting your lot in a town that has so much to commend. Civic conditions in a town appeal very strongly to me, as good conditions as exist with you indicate the character of the peo-

We do congratulate ourselves that our lot was cast in Bellefonte, and we also congratulate ourselves upon a beginning made to change its civic conditions but the greater duty for ourselves and posterity is the promotion of its great natural endow-ments, that we may effectively make a more beautiful and useful city.

Association are: "The cultivation of higher ideals of civic life and beauty "The cultivation of in America; the promotion of city, town and neighborhood improvement; the preservation and development of landscape, and the advancement of outdoor art." The promotion of town higher ideals, in our efforts to uplift Haven. the conditions of beauty and healthfulness in this community, are al-ready radiating influence, which will eventually lead to the civic and even political regeneration of the entire

But for the preservation of landscape or the development of outdoor art, it is only needful to look about us, to realize the necessity of cultivating in the younger generation an absorbing love of the great outdoor art, which surrounds them, and which through example and a lack of ability to appreciate, they only know to join to destroy. A campaign for the protection of our spring and the preservation of our own famous trout stream might sufficiently arouse Bellefonte's citizens, to the point of in-vestigating the abuse and that will be the eventual destruction of this history-making part of Bellefonte.

1795 when James Dunlap and James Harris were looking about for a location for the founding of a town, our spring in its beauty and unvarying supply of water was sufficient reason for their immediate determination to live near it, and never since, did they or their children, or their children's children, have cause to criti-cise the wisdom of these first settlers. conserving its beauty and purity left it in its natural surroundings, the water being for the use of the gener-Later generations, however, al public. losing sight of its inestimable worth, have commercialized its surroundings until now we may safely say, that until now we may safely say, that the approach to this spring, without which Bellefonte would never have been Bellefonte, has become the most unsightly part of town. Co-operative work and influence could do much in making a beginning to restore in part what has been so unjustly misap-propriated. A little point, the abol-ishing of poster advertising, the plantof some shrubbery, and some work the board of health of the town ing of would go far toward changing the impressions the stranger would carry with him of our wonderful spring.

In 1800, when Centre county was reated. Milesburg and Bellefonte competed strongly for the honor of becoming the county-seat. Milesburg appeared to possess an advantage in the fact, that it stood at the head of navigation on Bald Eagle Creek, and as thaht circumstance seemed to oper-ate materially in favor of Milesburg the proprietors of Bellefonte were spurred to a more than ordinary effort to overcome it. In this emergency the tradition is, that those interested in having the county seat, attached a team to a flat boat, having on board a lot of second-hand furniture (borrowed for the occasion) and dragged the boat up Spring Creek as far as Bellefonte. That done, they hurried a messenger to Lancaster with a properly attested affidavit that the first boat of the season with freight aboard had arrived at Bellefonte. This statement of facts appeared to indicate that Bellefonte and not Milesburg was at the head of navigation and being expeditiously pressed by parties interested, it re-suited in the passage of the Act mak-ing Bellefonte the County Seat. And here it was destined that our stream should play its important part in the should play its important part in the making of Bellefonte and for history. A stream that by later generations has been abused and misused, until now it might justly be called, a sewerage disposal. Robbed of much of its volume by ruthless cutting away of our wooded land, Logan Branch comes polluted with the sewerage of all the dwellings along its course within the borough to join Spring Creek laden with drainage from the slaughter-houses supplying every meat shop of the town. Joining their germ-laden been provided. waters, the stream continues its flow but a short distance, when, by an un-lawful dam, its greatest volume is taken to be commercialized for water power, leaving but a semblance of this once beautiful stream to make its way through its original bed, and to act as a receptack for the drainage and trash from a livery stable, for the sewerage from the shirt factory and the entire McClain block, the drainage from the laundry, and then to slink away under the bridge to be further polluted by sewerage from that part of town in which is located one of our of town in which is located one of our hotels and largest buildings. This not satisfying the wanton destroyer of health and beauty, night brings to this poor stream refuse and rubbish that it has not the power to carry away, consequently is left to make it the more unsightly by day. In 1837 a canal was surveyed from Selinsgrove to New Berlin, but was never constructed. The report shows that there is a rise of 67 feet and nine locks were proposed. The cost was estimated at $184,660.45-and the dis-tance 11 miles. But for the abandonment of the plan the canal would undoubtedly have been constructed along Penns creek to Coburn and finally to Bellefonte via Lemont.

the Sugar Syrup. Take a teaspoonful-every one, two or three hours. Tastes good. This takes right hold of a cough and gives almost instant relief. It stimu-lates the appetite, and is slightly laxa-tive—both excellent features. Tinex, as perhaps you know, is a most valuable concentrated compound of Norway white pine extract, rich in guaiacol and the other natural healing pine elements. No other preparation will do the work of Pinex in this mixture, although strained honey can be used instead of the sugar syrup, if desired. Thousands of housewives in the United States and Canada now use this Pinex and Sugar Syrup remedy. This plan has often been imitated, but the old success-ful combination has never been equaled. Its low cost and quick results have made it immensely popular. A guaranty of absolute satisfaction, or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation.
