EDITORIAL

When Bellefonte becomes a dry town, stock in a trolley line to Milesburg will be sold at a premium.

With such elegant spring water in abundance about Bellefonte there may be considerable opposition to making home. our town "dry."

The weeks and months go by since the low tariff went into effect but the smoke continues to roll out of the chimneys, and not an empty dinner pail is in sight. In consequence this is bad weather for the calamity howlers in the Republican camp.

The announcement recently came from Harrisburg that at least $5,000,-000 will be available annually for good roads in Pennsylvania, without bonding posterity. There is ample money in sight for this state to build roads-if the Penrose machine does not waste it on other political schemes.

Last Saturday a few "Single Tax" advocates assembled at Harrisburg and named candidates for Governor, United States Senator and other important offices. The movement seems to be more in the direction of creating discord in the Democracy of Pennsylvania than to further the principles they claim to espouse. The leaders in this Single Tax movement, until recently, were seeking favors at the Democratic crib, and, there not being enough to go around, now are bent on mischief. They started early enough for the public to diagnose ailment-disgruntled, disappointed Democratic office seekers.

We very much doubt the expediency of local option in such a restricted portion of the county, and many temperance people, from observation and experience, are of the same opinion. The announcement, also, that all persons who sign liquor license applications will have their name paraded in public print early settlers of Clinton county. When a campaign of intimidation, than an appeal to the reason and good sense of this community. When temperance advocates start out with threats they are liable of getting in the same class with window-smashing suffragettes.

SCALP HUNTERS AT WORK.

A few years ago a gentleman by the name of Eugene Bonnewell attracted a little attention in political circles after the Allentown convention. ty, which came near making Berry the Governor of Pennsylvania. The principal work in that campaign was done by Berry in his story of the Allentown convention, while the indignant citizens of the Keyston. as the chairman of the Keystone Parnant citizens of the Keystone state recorded their protest at the polls. The chairman was a mere incident in a tidal wave that swept the state, but Bonnewell never recovered from the inflation he suffered thereby

He recently proclaimed himself the "Field Marshall" of the Fusion forces in Philadelphia, and managed that campaign with such rare ability that he and his Fusion movement have been the subject of ridicule ever since the returns were announced. same Eugene has since thrust him-self in the limelight by denouncing the present Democratic State organization, as well as the Democratic National Committeeman from Pennsylvania. Last week he announced his Democratic state ticket for the campaign next year, and imagines that since then everybody is sitting up nights and taking note of his edict.

Bonnewell is a notoriety seeking individual who recently tried to dictate certain appointments in this state and failed—hence is on the war path. ture day a He named Berry for the United States at 6 p. m. Senate and that gentleman has since publicly repudiated all connection with such a movement, and will not permit Eugene to use him as a mere tool to wreck the present Democratic tool to wreck the present Democratic state organization. Recently this same Bonnewell boasted publicly on a train that he was going to organize the state of Pennsylvania for the purpose of licking the stuffin' out of the Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer, Hon. James I. Blakeslee, State Chairman Roland Morris and everything else that is connected with the present Democratic party organization in this state—all because he could not han-

Democratic party organization in this state—all because he could not handle the federal appointment at Kennet Square and at several other points.

The notorious Billy Brennen, of Pittsburg, who represents the old Jim Guffey crowd in Pittsburg, immediately rushed into print and endorsed Bonnewell's program. Next we expect to hear of political-Judge Garman, of Luzerne county, the noisy Ritter of Williamsport, the Mutchler crowd of Easton, the breweries in the Penrose-bipartisan-Democratic ma-chine of former years, all lined up with Bonnewell to lick the life out of the reorganized Democracy of Penn-son of the Presbyterian church, as-Penrose-bipartisan-Democratic ma-

This move is Democratic only in the Methodist church. Interment was the sense that it will put it up to the people in Pennsylvania whether they want the old Guffey-Hall-Donnelly-Ryan crew of political buccaneers again in control of the party organization, to barter and trade it for their personal convenience, as they did at Allentown and in former years. Beween this and next spring's primaries the Democratic voters will have am-ple time to digest the whole thing and what it means.

If the Democratic voters in Pennsylvania are willing to swallow this Bonnewell program they will have the opportunity, when they make their choice at the polls next May. The people are always entitled to have what they want, only they should un-derstand the nature of the dose before they gulp it down.

RECENT DEATHS.

BURROWS:--Mrs. Sarah M. Burrows, wife of W. H. Burrows, mail agent on the Bald Eagle Valley railroad, died at her home in Tyrone, Wednesday, November 12th, after on-ly four days illness with uraemic poisoning. She was born in Tamauqua and was sixty-one years of age. She was married to Mr. Burrows in Lock Haven in 1875, and for a quarter of a century they made that place their From Lock Haven they moved to Bellefonte and lived here about two years then moved to Tyrone where they have lived ever since. Surviving her are her husband and the followher are her husband and the follow-ing children: Mrs. A. C. Wood, of Lutherville, Md.; Misses Lavenia, Nancy, Harriet, James and Paul at home, and W. H. Burrows, Jr., of Niagara Falls. STIVER:—Dr. David S. Stiver, a former Centre countian, and brother of Mrs. J. E. Ward, of this place, died Sunday morning, November 9th, at 8:30 o'clock at Chicago, Ill., after a brief illness of rheumatism and complications which followed. He had been ailing for several weeks, but was up and about and attending to his practice until a few days before his death and was sitting up when he passed away. The deceased, who was unmarried and whose age was 47 years, 9 months and 24 days, was born on a farm near Potter's Mills, Centre county, Pa. In 1885 he went west and located at Lena, Ill., where he at-tended the high school for a year. For several years after that he was variously employed at Lena, Monti-cello and Decatur, Illinois. In 1893 he began the study of dentistry at North-western university, Chicago, and graduated in 1907. Shortly after his gradnation he opened an office in Chicago where he has practiced ever since though he was an instructor in the Haskell Post-graduate school for a time. The deceased is survived by three brothers and one sister, Dr. W. B., Dr. R. J. and P. O. Stiver, of Free-port, Ill., and Mrs. J. E. Ward of Bellefonte, Pa. The remains were tacircles. She had been alling for some time and death was the result of a general breaking down of the system, incident to her advanced age. The deceased was born in Clinton County, February 1, 1825 and was aged 88 years, nine months and twelve days. She was the daughter of John and Sarah Shrenk Hahn, ily moved to Boggs township where she resided ever since. When she was twenty-four years of age she was married to John M. Wagner of Milesburg, a prominent business man of that place, where for years he conducted a large flouring mill. He pre-ceded her to the grave May 23, 1892. In her girlhood days she was a member of the Reformed church, but after her marriage, she affiliated with her husband's church, the Presbyterian, and always led a consistent, christian life. She enjoyed the love and respect not only of her own family but a large cirof friends and acquaintances.
