

ROOM, PLEASE! MAKE WAY FOR THE BUSTLE

STYLE OF THE SEVENTIES THREATENS AGAIN.

AND BOWS, BIG ONE, BESIDES

Grecian Bend That Made Woman Look Like a Jumbo Peanut Being Hinted At As a Forth Coming Fad—For Women Readers Only.

Bustles? There were plenty of them away back. Once, to the feminine form, the bustle was as the rumble seat or the tonneau to the automobile. When combined with the Grecian bend...

The latter was about the only thing in those days that made masculine life in a high wind worth living. For the dressmaker who forgot to stitch her seams and thus invented the slit skirt...

Some women wore basques along about then, and some wore polonaises and redingotes and dolmans and patentes, and there were flouncers, yards and yards of them, on the skirts, and when a woman bought cloth for a dress she took all they had in the store...

Now, to speak seriously, everybody knows that sometimes there is more in a thing like this bustle business than shows on the surface. And sometimes there may be less—oh, indeed, there may be less sometimes.

While we are waiting for the genial operator to insert another film, the professor will kindly announce that it is nobody's business whether the black bow accentuates more than the security of the bustle or not.

SAD DEATH OF KANSAS COUPLE.

Many years ago, when Joseph Florey was a young man he went to Kansas from Pleasant Gap where he was born and raised, and there engaged in farming. Later he married and located at Downs, Kansas, and acquired a farm. During the latter part of October he turned his farm over to one of his sons and he returned to Centre county to spend the remainder of his days.

WOMAN'S AORTA OPENED.

Novel Operation at Jefferson Hospital Will Probably Save Life. The surgeons of Jefferson Hospital are pleased over the results of an operation new to surgical science which was performed on a woman last week. It involved the opening of the aorta, the great central blood vessel extending from the heart, and the removal from it of a clot which menaced the woman's life.

There have been operations on the aorta before for aneurism, but never before for the removal of an obstruction of this kind. The case has attracted much interest among members of the medical profession.

RECENT DEATHS.

BAKER:—Miss Mary Baker died on Friday evening January 2nd, 1914 at her home in Belmont aged 77 years. Death was due to paralysis. She received the stroke about a week previous to her death while going about her household duties.

KLETT:—Mrs. Maude Klett, wife of Fred Klett, died at her home in Phillipsburg Friday morning at 5:30 of pneumonia after a week's illness. The deceased, who was aged 31 years and 8 months, was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pilkington, deceased, who were well known residents of Osceola.

MICHAELS:—Mrs. Nancy Michaels died on New Years day at the home of her son, George, who resides on the C. P. Long farm near the Beaver Dam School house. She was the widow of William Michaels, who lived on the Huyett farm west of Centre Hall years ago when it belonged to the late Andrew McNitt.

BEAN:—Joseph Bean, one of South Phillipsburg's oldest citizens, died at his home in that place last Thursday morning of heart trouble and other infirmities incident to his advanced age. The deceased, who was aged 59 years, 11 months and 16 days, was born in Yorkshire, England, but came to this country 27 years ago and has lived in Phillipsburg for a goodly number of years.

WOOMER:—Harry Woomer died Friday evening at 8:30 at the home of his daughter, Mrs. N. G. Gates at Tyrone after a third attack of paralysis during the past two years. He was employed as a switchman at Summit, was stricken at 12:30 o'clock Thursday and taken to Tyrone later in the day.

Opportunity. When Thomas A. Edison was twenty-one years of age he was wandering the streets of New York one day, looking for a job when his attention was attracted by a large crowd gathering in Wall street, in front of the exchange. Inquiring the cause of the excitement, he learned that some man had gone wrong with the telegraphic communications. Here was his opportunity.

Express Rates in Effect February 1. New rates of the express companies which go into effect February 1 indicate that the parcel post will have a keener competition. The new rates, though lower than the old express rates are in very few instances below those of the post office service.

Wonderful Cough Remedy. Dr. King's New Discovery is known everywhere as the remedy which will surely stop a cough or cold. Dr. P. Lawson of Edson, Tenn. writes: "Dr. King's New Discovery is the most wonderful cough, cold and throat and lung medicine I ever sold in my store. It can't be beat. It sells without any trouble at all. It needs no guarantee."

JOHN O. KEELER MADE PUBLIC STATEMENT

PLACES BLAME FOR DOWNFALL ON LIQUOR.

HANGED TODAY AT CLEARFIELD

Murderer of Joseph Roessner the Brewer to Pay Penalty With His Life—Statement Does Not Meet With Public Favor.

If the provisions of the law have been properly carried out, John O. Keeler, the convicted murderer of Joseph Roessner the brewer, will have paid the penalty of the crime with his life, by the time this paper reaches the majority of its readers. The execution is to take place in the corridor of the Clearfield county jail to-day.

"Kind Sir: I have a few things to say to the public in regard to my affairs. As I have said before in my trial, when I went to DuBois I went to see the brewery plant more than anything else. I did not talk about anything but a man's mind to come and I left the DuBois brewery had intended to go to Ohio to look for work at my trade in the iron works, and I was going to leave on a freight train from DuBois."

"I have traveled a great deal on freight trains and went through a good deal of rough work with other men, and that is why I bought that gun, and I did not intend to come back to Clearfield until I thought of my family, so I went to my mind to come back and tell them where I was going, and when I came back and went to the Clearfield brewery, I had no idea of getting into trouble."

"When in there they gave me four glasses of beer when I got to the bar, and then they turned me down and began to argue with me. Instead of talking to me like a man with good sense, they came to me like a lot of dogs or wild animals, and called me everything but a man. Mr. Roessner called me a string of dago a half mile long, and under the condition that I was in I lost all control of myself."

"If there would have been any men with principle about them when they saw what condition I was in, this thing never would have happened. He might be living today, and I could of been taking care of my wife and four little children today instead of being a murderer and waiting to be hung by the neck in Clearfield jail."

"I can say with a good, clear mind that I was never sober from the time I went to work at the Clearfield brewery. I was full of booze all the time counting Sunday with it, because I had a keg at home on Sunday, and I did not have to get drunk to do what I did. I am here for the murder of Joseph Roessner, but I don't know if I killed him. I can't say. If I could I would be glad to tell the public so, because I made the booze and gave it to me free of charge that made me a drunkard and a murderer."

"It was Mr. Roessner's own product that murdered him and made me a murderer. It was his beer that put my family in distress, and lots of other families besides mine. I am not saying this with an insane mind, but it's the God's truth. When John Kircher, Henry Rury and William Swales told me the jury that they did not believe anything unusual in my appearance, it is plain to see that I was drunk all the time, as I have said before at my trial. The story told by Howard Keller, Ardery Meise and John Rader is a made up lie, and another lie. The judge, Judge DuBois and your honorable Judge Smith and some of his lawyers and Joseph Roessner and a good many more will appear with me, and we will be righteously judged."

John O. Keeler, in his drunken, frenzied, irresponsible condition, have killed one, so the lawyers say, I don't know if I did. I have to take their word for that, but if I did, I only killed one, and he killed hundreds with his booze, and more are being killed every day. So then, as all I have to say, and I am ready to be taken to the place of execution, where I will go to a better land, a place of rest and peace. And may God open your blind eyes and see that I alone am not responsible for what I have done."

"So I will say goodbye to all, and may God have mercy on my poor soul. "JOHN O. KEELER."

Family Pass Question Not Settled. The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. has asked the newly constituted Public Service Commission of the state of Pennsylvania, for an authoritative reply to this question: "Can the Pennsylvania railroad system issue passes or accord free transportation for an interstate journey within the state of Pennsylvania in the following case: "For many years it has been the custom of the Pennsylvania Railroad system to issue passes or reduced rate tickets to the families of many of the employees of that system. These passes or reduced rate tickets can lawfully be issued under the provisions of the Interstate Commerce act. Can that practice be continued?"

Gingery Family Reunion. The eighth annual Gingery reunion was held December 25th at the home of Mrs. Mary Matza, South Phillipsburg, the occasion being a very pleasant one for those who were present. The following named were in attendance: Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Stiver and children, Misses Elsie and Genevieve Stiver, Harvey, John and Theodore Stiver, all of Bellville; Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Gingery and daughters, of Martha Furnace; Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Little Susan — "Oh, Anty Drudge, I wish mama would give me a party, but she says she has so much to do she hasn't got any time to think about such things. I have just been to May's party and I had a lovely time. Mama told me to be sure and tell May's mother I had a pleasant time, so I told her as soon as I got there for fear I'd forget."

Anty Drudge — "You come right along with me. I'll go up and see your mother and tell her how to do her work with Fels-Naptha Soap. She'll soon get rested and strong and find she has plenty of time to give you a little pleasure."

Fels-Naptha Soap in cool or lukewarm water dissolves grease and then the washing and rinsing make it disappear.

Fels-Naptha takes stains out of clothes, makes them sweet, clean and white and does not hurt delicate materials.

Fels-Naptha does everything for you in half the time with less than half the trouble it used to take. It works best in cool or lukewarm water.

Better buy it by the box or carton. Follow exact directions on Red and Green Wrapper.

Sister Seeks News of Brother. Tyrone's chief of police is in receipt of a letter from Miss Edna M. Bittner, of State College, who is seeking to locate her lost brother. The Herald publishes the letter which reads as follows: "My brother left home Wednesday, January 7th and we just received a letter from Tyrone to-day. Try and find him please. He is 5 feet, 6 to 8 inches in height and well built. His name is Earl E. Bittner. He does not smoke, nor has he any bad habits. Tell him to come home at once as everything is alright to settle up business. Let me know at once. Please try 'real hard' as his going away from home is killing father, mother and myself. Thanking you very much and may God aid you. I am his little sister, Edna M. Bittner, Box 421, State College, Pa."
