FILLMORE.

Last Sunday was a very cold day. In the evening it became milder and a large number of people were thus able to attend the revival service at this place, which has been a success. Rev. C. C. Shuey, assisted by Rev. Stover, is carrying the meeting on at this time.

Sleighting is fine since the road is broken and everybody is making good use of it by attending revival meetings. T. G. Lomison, wife and four children returned home on Monday from James Huey's after attending the funeral of Mrs. Lomison's son, Hamill Huey.

Earl Crust unloaded a car load of lime at the siding at this place last week. Roy Crust also unloaded a car load of lime at Seller's siding this week. These farmers know what is good for the land.

It is certainly a pity for the young man who came to see his girl, who is working at the home of the young man's brother. We don't know if he was storm-stayed or love-stayed, but he didn't get back to his work till Tuesday forenoon. It certainly is a bad ailment.

The deep snow is very hard on the birds and wild fowls of the woods for they cannot get very much food to eat. The turkeys and pheasants should be fed, so as to keep them from starving. After while the hunters and sportsmen will be complaining about no game in the woods. They should get busy and protect it.

Monday night of last week Wm. Bodie, of Hunter's Park, brought a sled load of young folks and middle-aged people to preaching service. Among them were Andy Gummo, and when they were on their way home, just opposite J. C. Rocky's blacksmith shop, the sled was upset and Mr. Gummo was badly hurt; the sled box with nearly all the crowd was on his body. His back was hurt and he is not able to use his right side. We hope Mr. Gummo will soon be able to be around again.

We are sorry to hear of Miss Lizzie Wolfred, being on the sick list. We hope she will be soon be able to be around.

Mrs. E. A. Peters, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. H. W. Wiley, of Bellefonte, and son C. F. Peters, of Altoona.

Mr. and Mrs. Irvin C. Corman of State College, spent Sunday at the Peters home.

WOLF'S STORE.

Winter is upon us in full. Geo. B. Wate has sold his farm at this place to Henry Showers from Sugarvalley, who will move on same next spring. Mr. Showers is the father of our merchant, Geo. Showers. Mr. Wate will have public sale later and go west to live in the community where their daughter, Jessie, lives.

The recent heavy snow wrought havoc with some buildings. The porch and some other buildings on the Benj. Hatly farm, and Harry Ziegler's woodshed went down.

Clarence Brungart, the Loganton butcher, and wife, spent last Sunday with his parents at this place. Winkieblech's saw mill is not in operation at present, owing to the deep snow in the woods.

S. V. Stover and family were suddenly called to Farmers Mills last week on account of the illness of Mrs. Stover's mother.

Ricker Bros. were through our valley last week buying beef cattle, which continues bringing high prices.

G. C. Auman is on the sick list, nursing carbuncles on the back of his neck. He is under the doctor's care.

Lloyd Lose is this week moving to Pennsylvania, along Pine Creek. We presume he will work for Moyer Bros. and at leisure catch suckers. Lloyd is a jolly good fellow and Wolfe Store will miss him. We wish him success in his new community.

No ice has yet been stored or cut from Weaver's dam. Every one is anxious to get at it, but the ice is not heavy enough.

Farmers are beginning to market their wheat. Present price 90 cents a bushel.

AXEMANN.

We are having a good old-fashioned winter this far and good sleighing.

Mrs. A. J. Hoover, of Juniata, visited friends at this place last week.

Miss Susie Confer, a trained nurse of Philadelphia, visited at the homes of W. S. White and James Somers, over Sunday.

Curtis White spent a few days with his wife and parents; he is employed at Altoona.

Jerry Donovan has been appointed overseer of the poor in Harry Keller's place.

Mrs. Andrew Kuhn is visiting friends at Spring Mills, a few weeks.

The ladies' Union auxiliary met at the home of Mrs. E. E. White on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Rishel accompanied their daughter, Miss Sarah, to Pittsburgh on Saturday where she entered a hospital for treatment for blood poisoning, her condition being very serious. Her many friends join in wishing her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. Arthur Taylor returned to her home at Milton after a pleasant visit with her mother, Mrs. B. A. Scanlon, at this place.

Mrs. Uriah Stover, of Pittsburgh, is visiting at the home of Martin Stover and family this week.

LYONTOWN.

Charles King and brother Oliver, of Coleville, Sundayed with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. King.

The social held at the home of William Lyons was largely attended and proved quite a success.

Visitors that Sundayed at Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Ridgeway were: Miss Rose Hanes, of Ridgeway; Miss May Auman, of Bellefonte, and Miss Margaret Nyman, of Mount Eagle.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Shultz, of Curtin, attended the social and did justice to the good things of the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lyons and son Homer, of Curtin, Sundayed with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lyons.

Victor Moyer, of Pleasant Gap, visited his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. William Lyons. There seems to be some attraction; how about it, L?

Miss Cecil Tierney has gone to Bellefonte to resume work at the shirt factory.

Dr. A. D. Wolfinger, of Philadelphia, secretary of the Evangelical Educational Union of the Reformed church, will preach at Zion on Sunday morning at 10.30 o'clock, and at Hubbersburg at 2 o'clock. He will speak on "Christian Education" in our colleges and seminaries. Dr. Wolfinger will preach at Jacksonville in the evening at 7 o'clock.

MOSHANNON.

Ira Keller, of North Bend, Pa., is visiting friends and relatives in this place.

Charles McGowan took a sleighing party to Karthaus on Saturday night to the Eagle Hotel and after having supper all returned home, every one wishing the snow to stay so as to enjoy another such occasion.

H. H. Eye made a flying trip to Lock Haven last week.

How deep is the snow in Posh Hollow? Ask Herman.

Ray Holt, who has been very ill for the last few weeks, is improving very slowly; hope for his speedy recovery.

The stormy weather of the past week has caused much damage throughout this vicinity.

Charles Guent is feeling very proud over the arrival of a nine-pound boy.

The wedding bells rang very quiet on Saturday night for Mr. and Mrs. Snap. We extend our best wishes for a happy journey through life.

Roland Eye has been very ill for the last few days, but is some better at this writing.

John Hockenberry and Jackson Mayes made a flying trip to Peale one day last week where they have found employment.

The stork visited our town last week and left a bouncing baby boy at the home of Clyde Barger.

The electric lights are being used in this place now, but they always try to have their coal oil lamps in reach.

Francis Tuberty took a sleighing party to Karthaus on Saturday night. Boys the next time you wish candy and don't have the money to pay for it, don't forget some of the other boys will help you out.

John Walker, who is in the Philadelphia hospital, is some better at this writing.

STORMSTOWN.

H. C. Burket spent a few days last week at Phillipsburg.

Last week one night a couple of our young ladies went for a sleigh ride, but had to stand on the runners as the sleigh was full. As the horse started, the girls fell off and the boys went on; take better care of them the next time, boys.

Last Thursday evening a sled load from this place spent the evening at Blair Waite's.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Ellenberger spent Sunday at the home of J. C. Cronmiller.

Those on the sick list are Helen Mattern and Mable Way.

Thursday, the 8th, being little Mary Thomas' birthday, her Sunday school teacher, Mrs. John I. Gray, gave a party for her. Those present were: Misses Susan Harlacher, Nellie Gray, Hazel and Stella Lyle, Elizabeth Stevens, Violet Griffin, Beatrice Waite, Stella and Josephine Loner, Eleanor Coons; Arline White, June Gray, Messrs. James Gray, Frank Rolla, John Coons, Lester Loner, Jessie and S. P. Gray, Ray Griffin, Robert Way and John Hunter. They played games and were served with ice cream, cake and candy.

THE CHILD.

This might be called the Child age, much more vital than the Stone, Bronze or Iron Ages.

An old gentleman avers that when he was a boy some eighty years ago all reverence was given to old age while now all reverence is given to children, so he has missed it altogether.

Special legislation is being made for the child. The hosts of Boy Scouts that marched to Washington were treated with almost the same consideration as the army or navy. A command has gone forth that every child shall be educated. Some people complain that he is being turned out a too finished product. That he is ready to step onto the top rung of the ladder at the start, so that soon the lower rungs will be empty. This however is not a paper to criticize the methods of training the child, it is on the other hand to ask more for him. While the children are being taught almost everything else, there are worlds in the heavens of which they know nothing. As a rule the average child's knowledge of the starry heavens begins and ends with "Twinkle, twinkle little star."

How I wonder what you are. Up above he world so high. Like a diamond in the sky."

One beautiful winter night when the stars were shining I pointed out to a boy walking with me, the Big Bear and the Little Bear and the evening star. The boy exclaimed, "Is that what they are? I thought they were stars." Some parents ridicule their children as they look at the planets and call them "star gazers," and the boy most likely turns to the pool table and strike a ball to cool his injured feelings. The worst feature of the pool table is its table top doors; any recreation that takes the children into the open air has a double advantage. Please do not discourage them from "hitching their wagons to the stars." They will come to earth soon enough.

Again our trees are people by millions of feathery inhabitants that the average boy knows as birds, good targets for his sling shot. His literary knowledge of the bird is

"Who killed Cock Robin?"

"I said the Sparrow."

"With my bow and arrow."

"I killed Cock Robin."

A very scientific tale it is, for who has not seen the outrageous enmity towards the robins exhibited by the sparrows? The latter will tear down one nest after another built by the robins and finally appropriate the materials for one of their own.

I asked a little boy whether he knew the different kinds of birds. He replied, "I know a robin-a, and I knew a sparrow-a and I know a hawk-a!" and that ended his knowledge. Since I put the question to him I notice he is much more observing of the birds and has added quite a few to his first list.

No-doubt many children become discouraged by their failure to catch the robin when trying to put salt on the end of his tail. How many of us have not spent many a futile hour with the salt in our hands hoping for success. There is nothing so discouraging as failure. In the end we tried to convince ourselves that we did not want the robin after all, and gave up all interest in birds. A pity! for the birds must certainly have been sent to us to know. Most children with a little encouragement would be glad to know them and would train themselves to learn much by observation; and at the same time would be breathing good, pure, fresh air. Any boys or girls interested in birds will have a fine opportunity of seeing them by walking up to the "pretty turn" between Nittany Furnace and Axemann about five o'clock in the evening, when thousands upon thousands of crows fly like black clouds through the sky and settle for the night on the trees at the turn. Each one apparently has a twig of its own for a roost.

Agonies of Gout.

An English nobleman in a London club one evening gave some of his fellow members a picturesque description of the gout.

"You lie in bed," he said, "with the gouty food stretched out, and you feel as though the sole of it was pressed against the bars of a redhot fire. In the middle of the furnace is a fellow with a gun loaded to the muzzle with redhot needles. Presently he fires the gun at your foot, and you feel the redhot needles travel up your leg and come out at the knee, not all at once, but like the animals that went into the ark, two by two. When the last couple of needles have finished the course you find yourself sweating with fear and wondering how long it will be before the fellow fires the gun again. Presently you find he is under contract to fire it every five minutes, and you get ready for the discharge, but you can never be said to get accustomed to it, because the blackguard loads it with a new kind of redhot needle every time and sometimes adds half a dozen redhot corkscrews. That's the gout."

Who would patronize gout after that?

The Spider and the Bee.

A correspondent of Countryside was sitting one day upon an English moor, watching a large heather spider as it crouched expectant in its web. Suddenly he saw the spider firmly grip the web with its feet and shake it with all its might. After awhile it repeated the operation, and soon the reason became apparent. Whenever a bee flew near the web the spider gave this warning signal. It did not want any such visitor. If a bee happened to get entangled in the web the spider at once cut out that part and so rid itself of its unwelcome guest. That any creature can weave a web more intricate than a fisherman's net and, moreover, that it should possess the instinct or reasoning power to put the web in the best place and there patiently await its prey suggests that the border line between instinct and reason is far from distinct.

The Word Lady.

Connected, no doubt, with the cheapening of the word "lady" has been the practical disappearance of the "gentlewoman." The distinction between the two was brought out in the seventeenth century rules of civility, which declared that "in visiting a lady it is not enough to salute her, but her gentleman also, if she be then present."

At the beginning of the nineteenth century "one who has marked with attentive observation the late vicissitudes in kingdoms and governments, and with a precision almost prophetic, foretold what would happen" advertised in the Times his readiness to "give such advice to persons of fortune as may prove of the very utmost importance to them."

"When a lady requires an interview," said the advertisement, "a gentleman will give her the meeting."—London Mail.

AARONSBURG.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Winkieblech, of Rebersburg, were welcome guests of their son, Warren, on Friday.

Charles Acker, a much respected young man, of our town, has gone to Johnstown, where he has secured employment.

Perry Adams made a business trip to Bellefonte on Monday.

Clyde Stover and wife have gone to spend a few days with Mrs. Stover's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Acker are rejoicing over their first born; it's a girl.

The auction in Mensch's store room still continues every afternoon with big crowds all the time.

VETERANS SHOULD UNITE.

Let Spanish-American Veterans Get Busy.

Following the War with Spain, many societies were organized among its returning soldiers who sought to emulate the example of the Grand Army of the Republic and to perpetuate the memories of their military or naval services. Scarcely had the necessity for united action various organizations united in 1904 under the name of the United Spanish War Veterans, thus forming the first and only truly national order of veterans of this war and the subsequent insurrection in the Philippines.

They have gradually absorbed most of the other orders, most notably "The Veteran Army of the Philippines" which had numerous camps in the Islands.

It is the only Spanish War Association that admits to its membership without distinction as to service, all veterans, of all branches of service, regular or volunteer, without regard to where they served, provided only that they were in the military or naval service of the United States at some time between April 26, 1898, and July 4, 1902.

The U. S. W. V. as they are frequently called are recognized by United States Government as the official representatives of the War with Spain, both in the Halls of Congress and in the memorial services at Arlington at the burial of the martyrs of the Maine.

The U. S. W. V. in Penna.

They now have 50 camps in the Keystone State and several thousands of members, having added nine camps and about 750 comrades to their numbers in the last few months.

As yet no Camp of the United Spanish War Veterans has been formed in Bellefonte although many volunteers and regulars are living here. Any comrade desiring to form a camp can get all necessary information by writing to the Department Commander, Thos. M. Stalford, of Athens, Pa.

We were proud of the record of Co. B of the 5th Regt. when they went to the front in 1898 and would be glad to see them united in a strong vital order.

The veterans of this Regiment, the Volunteers of 1898 and the large number of men who served in Cuba, Porto Rico, the Philippines and in the Chinese Relief Expedition, now living in our midst would form in our city one of the strongest camps of the State. Who is the man who will take the lead in this work?

New Uniforms For State Guard.

General orders from national guard headquarters announced that woolen olive drab service uniforms will be issued for the men of organizations of the state militia, a special form of regulation being made up for them. The officers will be requested to have measurements made at once and requisitions forwarded promptly.

The uniform is to be worn by the guardsmen at the inspection in April by officers from the regular army. The order states that one olive drab cotton service uniform should be retained by company commanders for each enlisted man for use during the annual encampment.

THAT AWFUL COLD.

Woman Is As Old As She Looks

No woman wants to look old. Many in their effort to look youthful resort to the "beauty doctor's" prescriptions. Their mistake is that they visit the wrong department in the drug store. Beauty depends upon health.

Worry, sleepless nights, headaches, pains, disorders, irregularities and weaknesses of a distinctly feminine character in a short time bring the dull eye, the "crow's foot," the haggard look, drooping shoulders, and the faltering step.

To retain the appearance of youth you must retain health. Instead of lotions, powders and paints, ask your druggist for

Favorite Prescription

This famous medicine strikes at the very root of these enemies of your youthful appearance. It makes you not only look young, but feel young.

Your druggist can supply you in liquid or tablet form and send 50 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N.Y., and trial box will be mailed you.
