

Correspondence

(CONTINUED.)

HOWARD.

Seek ye the Lord while he may be found, call ye upon him while he is near.

Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts; and let him return unto the Lord, and he will have mercy upon him; and to our God, for he will abundantly pardon.

Isaiah 55: 6, 7.

In Our Churches Next Sabbath.

Reformed—Pastor E. H. Zechman will preach at Jacksonville at half past ten.

United Evangelical—Pastor M. J. Snyder will preach at Marion at half past ten and at Curtin at half past seven.

Christian Chapel—Pastor A. Linkletter will preach at Blanchard at half past ten.

The remaining appointments for the special revival campaign conducted by evangelist B. F. Campbell, are as follows:

This (Thursday) afternoon at two o'clock, an open service for everybody will be held in the Christian Chapel, and evangelist Campbell will preach. His theme will be "The Balm of Gilead."

Beginning at two o'clock, sharp, and closing at three, in the afternoons of Friday and Saturday, prayer meetings in the Reformed church.

Preaching by Evangelist Campbell, in the Methodist church at half past seven this (Thursday) Friday and Saturday evenings.

On Sunday there will be three preaching services in the Methodist church by Evangelist Campbell. At half past ten his theme will be "Christian Perfection." At half past two the evangelist will give an illustrated talk entitled, "Sowing Wild Oats," which every young man and young woman should hear. At half past seven he will discuss "The Second Coming of Christ." This will be the closing meeting of the Campbell's campaign here.

On Monday following he will go to Milton where he will open a four week's campaign in the United Evangelical church, of which Rev. I. E. Spangler is pastor.

Mrs. Michael Confer Dead.

At six o'clock Wednesday evening before the note of her illness which appeared in last week's letter had been read, Mrs. Confer passed quietly and peacefully to the other side of the great river. She was born in Mecca, Jane Mann, August 22, 1835, in Curtin township. On the tenth of May 1855 she was married to Michael Confer, of Howard township, and has lived in the immediate vicinity since.

To them were born seven children, one of whom died in infancy. Those who survive her are Henry M., Robert P., Margaret Katherine Gardner, Frances M., Thompson, Bertha M., Neff, and Edward C., all of whom have homes in this immediate neighborhood. In addition to these are thirty-seven grandchildren and sixteen great grandchildren. Mrs. Confer was one of the kindly, helpful, motherly women whose departure makes a sad break in the lives of those who knew and appreciated her many virtues. She and her family were the nearest neighbors of the writer for forty-four years, and the intercourse between the families was almost daily, and in all that time there was not a break nor jar in the most cordial friendship. In her later life Mrs. Confer confessed Christ, and was His follower within the fold of the Christian Chapel. The funeral was held in that house, conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. Linkletter, assisted by the Rev. James Edwin Dunning, and burial was made in the Schenck cemetery. She was tenderly borne to her last resting place by six of her grandsons—Earl, Harry and Charles Confer, Roy Thompson, Gilbert Neff and Samuel Gardner.

Notes of the Evangelical Meeting.

Friday evening five young girls went forward to the altar as seekers. Evangelist Campbell continues to preach the gospel with courage, power and acceptability.

The daily afternoon prayer meetings are largely attended by the membership of all the churches.

The condition is thawing out, and the whole town is covered in an atmosphere of unusual seriousness.

Representatives of all the denominations which have a foothold in the community are present at every meeting.

Twenty seekers assembled at the altar last Tuesday evening, and among them were some of our finest young men.

After the close of the Wednesday evening service, two women presented themselves to the evangelist for prayer.

Some of the good judges speak of Rev. Campbell's Sunday morning sermon in the Christian Chapel as being the best they had ever heard.

Three of the storekeepers in town, C. C. Lucas, Mrs. I. D. Jordan and George S. Williams, close their places of business during the service hours of every evening.

Dr. and Mrs. W. J. Kuriz entertained the members of the Ministerial Association at luncheon yesterday (Wednesday) in honor of the Evangelist Campbell, who is making his home with them this week.

Good sleighing and mild weather make it easy for parties quite distant from Howard to attend the evening meetings, and sled loads from such points as Blanchard, Romola and Curtin come every evening.

It is inspiring to see the five ministers of five distinct denominations, Linkletter, Zechman, Snyder, Carson and Dunning, sitting together, standing beside and working in absolute harmony with the evangelist.

By reason of special services at the Port Matilda section of his charge, and his subsequent illness, pastor W. F. Carson, of the Presbyterian churches was necessarily absent until Saturday evening. He is now present at every service.

Sunday evening the house was packed in every corner, and the feeling at the close of the regular service, and during the after meeting was one of deep solemnity. Several went to the altar, and others, standing in the audience manifested their purpose to turn from death unto life—some adults among them.

Donald Gardner is suffering with an attack of tonsillitis and quinsy.

Mrs. W. E. Allen is spending some weeks with her father, Ira C. Johnson and family.

Charles Mayes, of Milton, was a week end guest of his sister, Mrs. John Mokie and family.

Raymond Gardner has gone to Birmingham to work and will remove his family there in the spring.

Gilbert Neff left last Sunday for Niagara, where he will take up paper hanging with his cousin, Charles M. Confer.

Miss Maud C. Thomas is again at home after some weeks spent with friends in Maryland and with her brother, B. Weber Thomas, in Camden, N. J.

Mr. James G. Hayes, of Clintondale, was the Saturday guest of his daughter, Mrs. A. A. Pletcher and family. Mr. Hayes is carrying his full measure of four score years with much ease and grace.

Austin Allison, Herbert Gardner, Lee Tice, Stanley Wagner, Lester Walizer, George Tice, Norris Shay, Thomas Schenck, Dean Johnston, Gladys Snyder, Bessie Wyland, Julia Long, Edith Pletcher, Alma Solt, Myra Solt, Verda Thompson, Madge Allison, Virginia Weber, Gretchen Williams, Lola Walizer.

If any think that Miss Annie J. Fisher does not have a pretty good bunch of boys and girls in her intermediate school just let them read the following list of names of those who "made good" in attendance for the month ending Jan. 15:

	Male	Female
Whole number in attendance	15	22
Per cent. attend-ance for term	90	95
No. not absent during month	9	11

Friday of last week, Miss Myrtle Pletcher arrived at her 'teenth birthday anniversary and celebrated it by tendering a six o'clock dinner to her graduating class with the addition of two or three special friends. The dinner, which was an unusually handsome one, with charming decorative effects, had some unique features, one of which was serving at several small tables in place of one large one. The guests were the Misses Margeurite Kane, Miriam Solt, Pearl Pletcher, Edythe Butler and Rebecca Lucas; Prof. F. M. Pletcher, H. Walter Holter, Jason Snyder, George Pifer and Geo. Foresman.

ORVISTON.

Evangelist Porter has been holding meeting in our church the past two weeks and thus far mostly all have repented and those who had not previously been baptised have obeyed the gospel in that respect also.

Attendance at Sunday school Sunday was 130; glad that people are awakening to a sense of their duty to Christ and the church.

A sled load of our married folks spent Sunday at the Harvey cottage, along Marsh Creek. The guests were Harry Raasen and wife, Oscar Packer, wife and son, Wm. Durkin, wife and daughter, Mrs. Frank Walk, Miss Clara Hastings spent Tuesday at Lock Haven.

Mrs. Ammon Miller has been quite seriously ill the past week. We wish her a speedy recovery.

Gilbert Gillespie, of Romola, was seen on our streets Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Alva Confer drove to the divide on Sunday to see the latter's aunt, Mrs. Jennie Lucas, who was seriously injured by a fall recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Brown spent Sunday at Lock Haven.

Mrs. John Mann has been on the sick list; also Alverda Morgeret.

Mr. and Mrs. John Fravel spent a few days of last week at Clearfield. Mr. Fravel had a permit to see John O. Keeler hanged.

John Herr, of Monticent, was a Sunday caller at the home of his brother Harry of this place.

Quite a number of accidents occurred on Sunday. Hannah Moody fell down the steps and fractured a bone in her left hand, Nora Jackson fell on the ice and knocked all her front teeth loose. Lloyd Heverly fell while skating and struck his head against something that rendered him unconscious for a short time, it was thought at first that his neck was broken. They are all getting better under the care of Dr. Tibbens.

Russel Heverly had his left hand severely burned on Sunday.

Thomas Tobias, of Mackeyville, spent a few days of last week with his friend Mrs. Mack McCloskey.

Herbert Confer and sister, Miss Catherine, attended the oyster supper held at Ed. Confer's at Romola on Saturday night.

George Page spent Sunday with his family.

Another sled load of people spent Monday evening at the home of Harvey Young at Romola. Following were Mr. and Mrs. Dion Nelson and daughter Theima, Mr. and Mrs. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Duley Cyphert, Mr. and Mrs. John Heverly, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Young, Mr. and Mrs. Hensyl Young, Miss Margaret Humes and Wesley Kinley.

FOUNTAIN—Snow Shoe.

Maester Blair McCloskey is seriously ill with pneumonia; hope for his recovery.

Henry Weaver and James McCloskey, of Howard, who sought employment at No. 19 mines, started work last week.

Quite a few of our young people started to attend the show in the St. Mary's church Thursday night, but being a little late, the seats were already filled and they returned home disappointed. That is the Fountain people's luck.

Mrs. Thos. McCartney spent Saturday afternoon at Samuel Butler's.

Those who spent Sunday evening at Mitchell McCloskey's were, Misses Lula McCartney, Sadie Blevins, Molly Peterson, Nancy McCartney, Messrs. Samuel Haynes, Edward Blevins, Forest and Lloyd McCartney.

Nonna Blevins was a caller at Fountain school, Friday; call again.

Miss Lula McCartney spent Sunday afternoon very pleasantly at the home of Harry Oswalt.

Mrs. Edward Beightol, who has been on the sick list for some time, is slowly recovering.

Messrs. Elmer, Clair and Clyde McCartney made a flying trip to Neveltown yesterday. They say it looks natural or as nature left it.

Miss Margaret Keeling spent Monday at Edward Beightol's.

BIRTHDAY SURPRISE PARTY.

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Evey, at Lemont, last Saturday, January 17th, in honor of Mrs. Evey's 73rd birthday which occurred on that date.

The following were present on this pleasant occasion: Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Grove and daughter Pearl, Mr. Robert Evey and daughters Pearl, Mary and Eleanor, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Grove and son Harry, all of Bellefonte; Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Weaver, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Williams and daughter Sara, Mrs. Julia Shuey, Mrs. Sara Eiters and Mrs. Jacob Bottorf, all of Lemont; and Mrs. James W. Williams, Mr. Theodore, and daughters Edith, Ruth, Carol and Imogene, of Mill Brook.

UNIONVILLE.

Funerals 65 years ago.

When I was a boy we lived on what is now known as the Ebbs farm in Halfmoon township. My father and I were at work in the meadow not far from the public road leading to Ross' church to Stormstown. Looking up I saw a man on horseback carrying a stick about five or six feet long. "Look there" said I to father, "I wonder who's dead." The man was on his knees to the undertaker's at Stormstown to order a coffin. In those days, when any one died, the first step that was taken by sympathizing neighbors was for some one to go to the nearest woods and cut a nice straight stick with which to measure the length of the corpse. The stick was cut the exact length of the deceased, and his measurement across his breast was indicated by a notch cut in the stick from the thick end of the stick. This, then, was taken to the undertaker, who, at once went to work on the coffin which was either made of pine boards or walnut according to the ability of the family to pay. The pine coffins were stained with walnut color and varnished and nicely trimmed with silver lace and looked very nice. Those made of walnut boards were merely varnished and also trimmed with silver lace. A coffin in those days, copt from 128 to 140. They were made quite narrow at the feet, a little wider at the head end, and much wider across the breast. The lid was raised like the roof of a house. The bottom of the grave was sunk the shape of the coffin and deep enough so that when the short boards that were cut for the purpose were laid across it they would not touch it. No "Rough box" was ever used to receive the coffin. It was customary then for the mourners and friends to remain at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie." was almost invariably sung at the open grave. I have written this short sketch simply as a reminiscence of my boyhood days and I believe it will be read with solemn interest especially by older people who will remember the facts herein related.

Miss Margaret Eckenroth is quite ill with the grippe.

Landlord Wm. A. Peters has in his possession an ancient spelling book which was used by a department of the father, Wm. Peters in 1830. It is Eyerly's speller and is well preserved although yellowed with age. Billy thinks he will use it when he starts to school.

Mrs. Tobitha Alexander will leave today, Tuesday for an indefinite visit to her daughter, Mrs. Pat. Loughry in Philadelphia.

Mrs. Jerusha St. Clair is quite ill at her home.

Miss Ruth Parsons, who was employed for several months in a department store at Jersey Shore during the holiday rush has been relieved and she is now putting in her time automobiling, straw-riding and will probably take a flying machine trip soon. She expects to enter the telephone exchange in the near future.

James M. Stere has sold his pretty home near the station to Mrs. B. W. Shipley, and purchased from the latter her farm near Dix Run, that is to say, they traded properties. Mr. Stere giving some "boot." Jim was got tired tamping railroad ties and will go to farming in the spring. He has not retained me as his instructor yet, but if he wants me I'm in the swim. As a precautionary step, James I advise that you do not plant more than three ears of corn to the hill, and don't sow more than two bushels cloverseed to the acre. Glad! Bill! Gee! haw! there! We are sorry to see you moving away James M.

Somebody tied Mr. Wharton Hoshband's dog loose and the handsome canine finding himself unshackled in the land of the free and the home of the brave, concluded to take a little hunt on his own hook, struck for the woods. One of our nimrods was out in the woods for a fox hunt. Espying the dog plunging his way through the deep snow with his nose elevated at an angle of 45 degrees, thinking it was either a otter or a fox and with an erring aim, sent a leaden pellet crashing through the dog's cranium. He "skun" the dog and will have it tanned for the purpose of making the hide into gloves.

Interesting revival services are being held every night in the M. E. church, Rev. H. K. Ash, pastor.

The following ladies, chaperoned by Harold Fisher, boarded the noon train east on Tuesday, went to Bellefonte to spend the afternoon with the guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Spangler to wit: Mrs. H. E. Holtzworth, Mrs. J. B. Stere, Miss Rebe Calhoun, Miss Eloise Buck, Mrs. N. M. Scott, Mrs. J. C. Smith, Miss Kate Smith, Mrs. W. A. Peters, Mrs. P. J. McDonnell, Mrs. Wm. Wright, Mrs. Dora Fisher, Mrs. Harold Fisher and son Thomas, Mrs. A. T. Rowan, Mrs. Amanda Moran, Mrs. F. A. Holderman and Miss Laura Rumberger. Oh, Gee! what material for chin music. Their hostess, Mrs. Spangler was, of course, musical director, while their host, being a lawyer, was kept busy explaining to the young ladies, the marriage license law, while the married ladies had to be fully informed as to the divorce laws.

On last Sunday night the Rev. Dr. Ash, on his way to Unionville to fill his appointment at the M. E. church, stopped at the home of Ellis Way and procured from Mrs. Way a quantity of onions which he wanted for a poultice for his daughter who had a sore throat. Mr. Ash, as usual, hitched his horse to a post at the store, carefully wrapping his perfumed vegetables in his lap robe and left them in the sleigh. When he came to return home he discovered that his "ingens" had evaporated. Some unscrupulous biped, not having the fear of the law before his eyes did, with malice aforethought, actually steal and carry away an appropriate to his own use, the minister's few savory vegetables that were given him for medicinal purposes. We are informed that the culprit is known and that if he will at once return the stolen property to the Rev. Dr. Ash, he will be forgiven, otherwise he may be compelled to engage winter quarters with sheriff Lee.

Thompson—Foreman.

Harry E. Thompson and Miss Julia Foreman, of Bellefonte, were united in marriage at the sanctuary of Justice of the Peace Isaac M. Frein, on Allegheny street, Bellefonte, at 2:30 Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 14. The bride and groom are well known and highly respected by a large number of people in Bellefonte and elsewhere.

Mr. and Mrs. James Williams, Mr. Theodore, and daughters Edith, Ruth, Carol and Imogene, of Mill Brook.

Surprise at Henry Thompson's.

The home of Henry Thompson, four miles north of Howard, was the scene of a very pleasant gathering on Monday evening, January 12th, when a party of friends from Orviston surprised them by coming in on them unexpectedly. Mr. and Mrs. Thompson reared eleven children, seven boys and four girls, four of the boys have gone to their long home, the remaining three, and three of the girls, are married, leaving the husband and wife and one daughter, Clara at home. Well as stated before this crowd of people came from Orviston and any one doubting that, that city, situated in the Allegheny mountains does not have a whole souled jolly, well behaved class of people are very much mistaken. They were David Confer, Francis Poorman, Lot C. Thompson and wife, Wm. Ridge, Ward Walker, Samuel Poorman, Herbert Confer, George Thompson, Clara Hastings, Gladys Welsh, Catherine Confer and Margaret Hume. They braved the severe storm, and with a very brief notice, with almost as much surprise as a clap of thunder from a clear sky, they burst in upon the Thompson family. It goes without saying that they were heartily greeted and made welcome. The evening was spent in pleasant conversation, music with phonograph, accordion, organ and vocal music and the singing of old familiar hymns. After partaking of refreshments (for which they all came prepared to contribute) and exchanging a few kind words they said goodbye and departed in their sleds for their homes.

STORMSTOWN.

The farmers are all busy cutting ice this fine weather.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

Ed. Harpster was a Sunday visitor at the grave until it was filled up. A familiar hymn—the first verse of which was—"Hark from the tomb a doleful sound, Mine ears attend the cry, Come old and young and view the ground Where you must shortly lie."

Mrs. W. H. Lytle visited her sister, Mrs. Blair, at Tyrone, over Sunday.

KATZ & COMPANY'S

WHITE SALE

Great lots of Underpriced Muslin Underwear during this sale.

Long Cloths and Nainsooks at greatly reduced prices.

A very special low price on yard wide Messaline Silks.

Extraordinary values in Carpets and Rugs.

Womens Coats and Suits and other Outwear at sale prices.

Laces and Embroideries at price to save you money.

A good time to buy Table Linens, Towels, Blankets, Sheets and Pillow Cases.

KATZ & COMPANY