-Sale of Red Cross Christmas Seals. As is doubtless known, the proceeds from the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals are used in the support of sanitariums and hospitals for those suffering from tuberculosis and in the educational campaign to stamp out the white plague in this state. There is no more important cause claiming the attention of the cities of our state, where deaths from tuberculosis average 10,000 per year, and where between 35,000 and 40,000 persons are today suffering from this disease. This is a half important cause which helps to raise money, but increases the interest of the public in the warfare against consumption. I desire to thank the people for every material assistance, especially the grocers, Montgomery Co.; Green's Pharmacy; Mrs. Alken's; Yeager, the shoemaker; and Daggett's cigar store. The following young people are very worthy of mention, Thomas Hayes sold 1,920 seals for $60; James P. Hughes II, 150; and George Shugert 40. The sales last year amounted to 5,000 seals, but this year only 2,596 were sold. Twenty-five dollars and ninety-six cents was forwarded to Philadelphia, and 3,404 seals returned to the society in Philadelphia. HELEN E. CANFIELD OVERTON.

STUDENTS SHOW PREFERENCE.
Every student entering the Pennsylvania State College is asked to name his religious preference, and, if he wishes, may affiliate with a village church instead of attending the regular daily chapel services of the college. Church organizations with pastors are supported at State College by the following: Protestant Episcopal, Lutheran, Methodist Episcopal, Presbyterian, Reformed, and Roman Catholic. Omitting the special students, there are 2,121 students attending the college this year in the four year courses. Of these only eighty-eight, or four per cent, stated no religious affiliation. No persuasion was used and each student was at liberty to fill out the blank or not as he chose. The distribution of choice among the denominations is shown in the following table:

THE MOTHER'S PENSION BILL.
As might be expected, the Mother's Pension Bill originated and passed as a law in a country where women have only half citizenship—Australia. The Mother's Pension in that country has been a success ever since it was established, a number of years before. The object of the law is sympathetic and humanitarian. It is also a business proposition for the state, as I believe in the end it will be the state that will gain financially. The great thought which underlies the bill is the preservation of the life for children. The foundation of the state and nation is the home. It has been evident for years the system of dealing with indigent mothers and children is neither humane nor economical. That a mother should be separated from her children, because of poverty, or other circumstances over which she has no control, is nothing short of an outrage and should not be tolerated in a civilized country. There are fourteen states which now have mother's pensions in one form or another and it has been found from experience and statistics that the aid extended to these mothers is considerably less than the cost of supporting children at public institutions, maintained by the state for these same children. Statistics in Chicago show the average cost per month, per child, is $7.75 against $19.99 per month, per child, kept in public institutions. In Kansas City last year 53 mothers were given help and only one case turned out unsatisfactory and was discontinued. The state can well afford to make provision to enable a worthy woman to keep her children together, under her own care, until such children have attained what is considered working age. PUBLICITY COMMITTEE, Bellefonte Woman's Club.
"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch." Written by a woman, and dramatized by a woman, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" which comes to the opera house Wednesday evening, Feb. 4, is a play that is not far behind the play that women have no sense of humor. The play is thoroughly satisfying, funny in every sense of the word, and the clever lines of the book are heightened to a great degree by the little inimitable touches that only Lock Haven and two years later was united in marriage to the late Col. James W. Quiggle, who was a State Senator and also served as consul general in Antwerp, Belgium, from 1859 to 1861, under President Buchanan's administration. She was a sister of the late Judge C. A. Mayer, of Clinton county. Her son, James Quiggle, has been three times in the consular service in Canada and twice a member of the Legislature from Clinton county. She was a woman of pleasing personality, and possessed a highly cultivated and rarely brilliant mind. She had traveled extensively, was a keen observer and charming conversationalist. For years she followed literary pursuits and wrote much and most delightfully for publication. Among her prominent friends in the day that are gone were: President Lincoln, Stephen A. Douglas, General Samuel Houston, Governor A. G. Curtin, the patriotic Garibaldi and King Leopold I, of Belgium.

KNOPF:—Anthony Knopf, a civil war veteran, dropped dead on the streets of Pittsburgh, Friday morning while on his way to attend one of Billy Sunday's meetings in the Pittsburgh tabernacle. Death resulted from a stroke of apoplexy. The deceased was past 83 years of age and the greater part of his life was spent near Oak Hill, Centre county. During the last few years he has been a resident of Pittsburgh making his home with his son, Anthony. Mr. Knopf was born in Germany, May 24, 1831, and came to this country when quite a young man. He engaged in farming near Oak Hill and was married in 1852 to Mary Feimle, of that place, who preceded him to the grave several years ago. At the breaking out of the civil war he was residing at Linden Hall and enlisted from that place August 5th, 1862, at the age of 31 years; mustered Aug. 18, 1862, as a private in Company G, 148th Regiment Pennsylvania Volunteers. He was promoted to Corporal February 9, 1865, and was wounded at Po River, Virginia, May 10, 1864, and at Adams Run, Va., April 1, 1865. The same year he was mustered out with his company and later returned to his home at Linden Hall. He is survived by the following children: Mrs. Nancy Corrigan, of Los Angeles, California; Mrs. Sarah S. Irwin, of Snow Shoe; and one daughter, Mrs. William, of State College; Albert, in the west; Mrs. Mary Mayer, of Wilkingsburg; Anthony, of Pittsburgh. The remains were taken to Boalsburg, Centre county, where the interment took place Tuesday afternoon.

the most clever actors can give and that must be seen to be appreciated. Never has a play been more obviously a character study with the plot woven around it than this of "Mrs. Wiggs" but it is surprising how smoothly it leads from one phase to another, and how interesting even the most commonplace incidents become as "Mrs. Alice Hegan Rice's" halo of "appreciable understanding" shedding its light upon them. The humor is of the best and highest as it is drawn solely from the little incidents of every day life that can amuse us so infinitely if we do not let ourselves "get bored" as Mrs. Wiggs expresses it. The play will be presented here under the management of the United Play Co. Prices 25, 50, 75c and $1.
