Declaring that the Supreme Court has been dominated since its beginning by politics and private interests, Senator Edward Jackson Thompson, of Philadelphia, speaking to more than 450 persons at the Centre County Victory dinner at the Centre Hall High School last Thursday night, stated that the Court was never meant by the founders of the constitution to balk the expressed wishes of 130 million people.

Orson Ritzman, secretary of the Scenic and Historic Division of the Pennsylvania State Highway Department, speaker of the evening, took up the cudgel against the Supreme Court where Senator Thompson laid it down and declared that it is futile for the voters of this nation to send legislators to the state and national capitals, have them enact legislation which is against the wishes of the people.

BIG CROWDS, TOP PRICES.

The Mayes sale was a clean-up sale, the crowd was almost too large to handle, and the bidding was all that could be desired.

At the Jacob McCool property at Spring Mills, the same day, a clean-up sale brought in a total of $3,400. William Minnich, of Wolfe's Store held a clean-up sale Friday and took in a total of $5,200.

MRS. GEO. B. THOMPSON
PURCHASES THAL STORE

The small frame store building erected some years ago by the late Joseph Thal at the east end of the Bush Arcade building on West High Street, was sold this week by Mrs. Thal to Mrs. George B. Thompson, owner of the Arcade building.

Mrs. Thompson plans to completely remodel the building after moving it back so that the front is on the same line as the Arcade building. It will be redecorated and will be connected with the Arcade heating plant. Plans are to retain the character of the building as a small shop, but at this time it has not been definitely leased. It will be ready for occupancy about May 1.

Since the death of Mr. Thal, Mrs. Thal has been conducting a small confectionery in the building. At one time the location was the site of a green grocery conducted for many years by Mr. Thal's brother, the late Michael Thal, who passed away here recently.

LOCATE MISSING
MAN IN TEXAS

Joe Moerschbacher, 26, Reported to Have Applied for Position at Fort Sam Houston

WILLIAMSPORT FIRM
GIVEN AS REFERENCE

Although no direct word has been received from Joseph Moerschbacher, 26-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Moerschbacher, of East Bishop Street, Bellefonte, who has been missing from Bristol, Va., since the first of March, relatives here were greatly cheered when they learned, Saturday, that he had applied for a position at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

In applying for the job in Texas young Moerschbacher evidently gave the name of a Williamsport firm by whom he was formerly employed, as a reference. The Williamsport firm knew that he was strangely missing, and immediately got in touch with members of the family here. It was the first word they had received regarding their son since his sudden disappearance from his usual haunts at Marion and Bristol, Virginia, about midnight February 28.

Up until last night local relatives had received no communication from Joe, but their fears have been dissipated, and they expect to receive a communication from him in the near future.

Some fears were felt for young Moerschbacher's safety, particularly when most of his clothing was found in his room at Marion, Va., where he was employed as manager of the City Service Auto Supply Company. His service car and his personal belongings, including a pocket watch, were in perfect shape and police and friends in Virginia were at a loss to account for his absence.

KIWANIS CLUB MEETING

The latest developments in the fertilization of lawns were presented before the Bellefonte Kiwanis Club at the meeting Tuesday by H. Burton Musser, Associate Professor of Experimental Agronomy at Penn State.

Last summer, Prof. Musser stated, valuable experiments were made on 236 individual plots at State College and 8000 determinations were made to determine the most valuable method of lawn fertilization. Of the plant foods essential nitrogen gives the most trouble; it is the growth producing element. There are two sources or classes of nitrogen, the organic, and the inorganic which is the product of chemical composition.

BELLEFONTE SURGEON

One Man Suffers Large Abdominal Gash—Other Cut on Forehead

Two negro inmates of Rockview penitentiary were taken to the prison hospital for treatment, Sunday night, after both were severely injured in a knife battle between them over a money matter. It was announced yesterday by officials of the prison.

The fight, allegedly occurring when one of the inmates brated the other for failure to pay a debt, took place outdoors about 8 o'clock Sunday evening while prisoners were on their way from the dining hall to the cell block.

According to reports only one knife was used in the fight, the owner of the knife lunging at his opponent's abdomen, cutting a long and deep gash in his midsection. The injured man, grasped his assailant's wrist, wrenching the knife from him and succeeded in cutting a long gash on the attacker's forehead.

Guards, seeing the commotion and noticing the blood on the injured men, rushed them to the prison hospital where a Bellefonte surgeon later administered treatment. The man with the abdominal injury is still undergoing treatment at the institution hospital, and probably will remain there for five days or a week more.

The inmate with the head injury, upon being discharged from the hospital early this week, was locked up in separate quarters pending the outcome of the other inmate's injuries. Prison authorities were unable to say, yesterday, whether or not any charges will be preferred against either man.
