RANDOM ITEMS: The County's No. 1 public sale attendant, D. A. Grove, of Bellefonte, is making a collection of bells, dinner bells, school bells, fire bells—any kind of bells. The larger the better. He now has nearly a dozen which he purchased at prices ranging from $1.50 down. What he is going to do with them? Probably the same thing that Dr. M. A. Kirk, runner-up for the sale attending here expects to do with his ox yokes and other collection of odds and ends which is gradually filling the Kirk garage to the extent that the family car must eventually be crowded out into the open.

The corner of Allegheny and Howard Streets, Bellefonte, has been quite a center of public interest during the past several years. The first legal battle arose when the properties on the southeast corner were taken under condemnation proceedings to provide a site for the new postoffice building. The northeast corner, where the Humes home is located, has been under some litigation through the efforts of citizens to accept the late Miss Humes' offer of the building as a library and community center, and the future of the Andrews home on the northeast corner, is now in the hands of the courts.
