DESCRIBES METHODS OF CONTROLLING PARASITES

Methods of controlling external parasites that attack cattle, sheep, goats, horses, mules, hogs, dogs and cats, are described in a copyrighted booklet by Dr. W. A. Simanton, well known entomologist, which has just been issued by the Gulf Research and Development Company. "Damage caused to livestock each year by external parasites is not known exactly but it is safe to assume that it runs into losses of hundreds of millions of dollars for the U. S. livestock industry," Dr. Simanton states in the booklet which is based on several years of intensive study and experimentation. "It is a well known fact that dairy cattle produce less milk when annoyed by flies, lice ticks, and other parasites. Some of these parasites are carriers of serious diseases among cattle which may result not only in reduced milk production but in loss of the stock."

WALKER TOWNSHIP SCHOOL NOTES

Seniors Enjoy Circus and Baseball Several of the Seniors, while in Washington, took advantage of the opportunity to see Barnum and Bailey's Circus. Others went to see the Washington-Boston baseball game, which the Washington Senators won, 4-3.

Hubersburg Tied for Second Place The Hubersburg baseball team ended the spring baseball season in a tie for second place. Howard finished first with six wins and no defeats. Hubersburg and Spring Mills are tied for second place with four wins and two defeats.

Classes Plan for Picnics Plans for class picnics in honor of the closing of schools are being made for Friday, May 28.

Juniors Have Moving Day When the Seniors came back from their Washington trip, they found their desks in room three occupied by the Juniors, who had moved in during their absence.

Since room three has only eighteen desks, and since the Sophomore and Freshman classes number twenty and twenty-six, respectively, it looks very much as though room three will be given to the nine Juniors.

LETTERS to the Editor St. Boniface Rectory Williamsport, Pa. May 26, 1937 The Centre Democrat Bellefonte, Pa.

Gentlemen:—In behalf of the Catholic clergy and people of Lycoming and Tioga Counties, and particularly in behalf of the committee for the 9th annual Eucharistic Conference of the Scranton Catholic Diocese, it is my pleasant task to express to you our deep appreciation for, and grateful recognition of your courtesy in giving whatever mention you did in your paper of the Conference. Very truly yours, (Rev.) B. T. Borr, Chairman of Publicity.

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders from The Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture Market Turkey Hens—As soon as the turkey hens stop laying they should be marketed. A turkey hen will consume about 125 pounds of feed in 12 months. If marketed in June or July each hen will consume about 45 pounds less than if she is marketed in October or November, say Penn State poultry specialists.

All-nd Field Day—Farmers' Field Day, Thursday, June 10, at the Pennsylvania State College will have something for every member of the rural family. There will be information, recreation, and entertainment. A beautiful grove provides a pleasant place for the picnic lunch.

Keep Dairy Records—Cow testing records tell a story every dairyman should know about his herd. The boarder cow is discovered as well as the profitable cow. Feeding can be guided by the production record, explain Penn State dairymen.

Chorus to Sing—One of the features of Farmers' Field Day at the Pennsylvania State College, Thursday, June 10, is the fourth annual rural chorus contest. It is scheduled for the afternoon, thus allowing singers and audience to return home after the contest.

Cut Ponies Early—It is best to cut ponies during the early morning when the buds are closed, say Penn State floriculturists. The stems should be placed in a deep water container immediately and left in the cellar a few hours before arranging. The blossoms will be prettier than if they open in the hot sunshine.

Farmers' Band to Play—A farmers' band will play a concert at noon at the Pennsylvania State College Farmers' Field Day, Thursday, June 10. Men, women, boys and girls are invited to bring their instruments and music stands.

GANDERSTEP CAMP BUILDINGS STRIPPED OF EQUIPMENT

With the removal last week of 27 truckloads of plumbing fixtures and equipment from the abandoned Ganderstep Transient Camp, near Runville, all that remains of the once thriving little city are the empty buildings. It is understood that the National Guard of Pennsylvania, to whom the buildings were offered for use if they so desired, have declined to accept them, and the future of the structure is uncertain.

WPA Road Job Completed

Road improvements in Rush township, Centre county, were completed under a WPA project, May 16, according to announcement made today by District 10 Director, Charles E. Freeman. The project is the only one completed during the period ending May 21. None in the county opened, although in the entire district seven new programs were launched and four others completed.
