James Bradford of Centre Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bradford, succeeded Alfred Reish as helper at the Bradford & Co. mill. Alfred entered a trade school in Williamsport.

Miss Louise Musser of Millheim, has secured employment in the Old Main building at State College and entered upon her duties there last week. She graduated from the East Penns Valley High School with the class of 1937.

A baby boy, weighing eight and one-half pounds, was born to Mr. and Mrs. Rex Tharp last Thursday morning at the home of Mrs. Tharp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Israel Vance, in Millheim. The baby, Larry Wendell, and mother are doing well.

Charles McHenry's sale of horses and colts, at Old Port, last Friday, was not so successful, according to reports. Mr. McHenry sold only about half of his cargo, bidders piling out as the sale progressed. The high horse passed for $185.00. Yearling colts sold for from $85 to $105.

The two Neff farm homes along Earlstown road—the Charles B. Neff farm and the former Calvin R. Neff farm, now owned by Mrs. Samuel (Neff) Grove—had electric current turned on last Thursday night. The line of the West Penn Power company was extended from the Henshall farm, east of the latter Neff farm.

Charley Kreamer and Harold Gilmore, astride Charley's two-wheeled motorcycle, and accompanied by Bobbie Brown, of Penn Hill, also riding one of these tricky cycles, departed last Sunday morning for points south by west—west or west of south. The boys aver that they will see the plains of Texas before returning to Pennsylvania again.

Fire, which resulted from an exploding gasoline stove about 5 a. m. last Friday, destroyed the large building at Rock Oak Park, west of Millinburg, housing a dance hall, dining room, roadside stand and the living quarters of Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Reibsema, who owned and operated the establishment. Damage was estimated unofficially at $2,500.

Keystone Post, No. 44, American Legion, Millheim, elected the following officers for the ensuing term, at a meeting in the Legion Home on Friday evening: commander—Lewis I. Brown; 1st vice-com—L. A. Crader; 2nd vice-com—Blaine Hosterman; Adj.-Srv. Officer—W. J. McMullin; Finance officer—S. L. Huber; Chaplain—Howard Dorfman; and Sgt. at arms—John Klimefer.

A Chevrolet sedan, owned by James R. Confer, of near Rebersburg, was stolen while parked back of the A. A. Frank building in Millheim, last Thursday evening. The key had been left in the ignition switch and it was an easy matter to drive away with the auto. The machine was located the following day in Snyder county. It was found overturned on a sharp curve and was somewhat damaged. The person or persons who made off with the car are yet unknown.

Last Friday evening, September 10, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McMullin gave a surprise birthday party for their son, William Jr., at their home in Millheim. It was his eighteenth anniversary. The social evening and luncheon were enjoyed by the following guests: Gerda E. Gilmore, Eleanor McMullin, Dorothy Auman, Marie Hosterman, Dorothy Haines, Ruth Miller, Franklin Rossman, Earl Swartzell, Jr., William Hosterman, James Delaney, Guy Bohn, Mr. and Mrs. John Hite and Mrs. Lida McCloskey.

The overcrowded condition of the Earlstown "little red school house" caused the Potter township school directors to ask the Centre Hall borough school board to take the 8th grade pupils from Earlstown into the borough school building. The Earlstown teacher, Miss McMichael, has 47 scholars; eight are in the 8th grade. These added to Mr. Bohn's room in the borough school would give him 44 in the 7th and 8th grades. The board met in special session last Thursday night and agreed to the Potter board's request.

James Madison Moyer, son of the late James M. Moyer, who was long a resident of Potter township was found dead in bed on Sunday at his home in Lewisburg. While Mr. Moyer had not been in the best of health for a number of years he worked regularly up to Saturday night. A heart attack was the cause of his death. He is survived by a wife, a son, Harper Moyer, a sister, Mrs. Anna Cunningham, of Los Angeles, and a brother, Mifflin R. Moyer, of Rebersburg. Funeral services were held at the Barr Funeral Home and interment made in Lewisburg.

Henry Beaton of Spring Mills, was covered by a cave-in while digging in a pit back of the hotel on the road job, last week. No serious injuries.

Donald Clendennin, of Altoona, who during the summer months was employed as a guide at the famous Penns Cave, east of Centre Hall, resumed his studies at Penn State last week. He is junior in the curriculum of chemistry.

William Seckinger, State College contractor plumber, and tipstaff at the Court House, sustained a slight injury to his hip one day last week when he slipped and fell from a ladder upon which he was standing. No bones were broken and aside from a bruised hip, Mr. Seckinger escaped serious injury.

John B. Wert, of Tusseville, on Friday closed a deal with Charles Foust whereby he became the owner of the Foust property on West Church street, Centre Hall, better known as the MacMarran home. Mr. and Mrs. Wert will occupy the place next April, when they will surrender the farm in favor of their son Kenneth Wert.

The new 12-inch cast iron pipe of the State College Water company, which will carry the borough's supply of water from the Shingletown dam to the College a distance of 13,000 feet, was tested out last week. It was laid at a contract price of $29,750, and is supposed to carry approximately 75,000 gallons an hour. The big pipe, which is 20 feet in diameter, the carrying capacity of which was not sufficient to supply the needs of the borough.

Gilbert Eckley, of Bellefonte, R. D., an employee at the Chemical Lime Co., had a narrow escape from death or serious injury last Monday afternoon when a scaffold upon which he was standing collapsed, throwing him to the floor of the quarry 20 feet below. Mr. Eckley landed on his right side and it was at first believed that his arm was fractured but X-ray examinations failed to show a sign of a fracture. Several ligaments were torn in his arm and he suffered considerably from shock.

With the arrest and conviction of E. W. Music of Aaronburg, the fourth case of illegal deer killing was settled by Game Protectors Lawson Henry and Sam Reed, and Fish Warden Dave Dahlgren. Two shots at a distance and three small, motherless fawns were the only clues. In the search that ensued, however, enough evidence was procured to determine that a deer was killed and to prove the identity of the killer. When arrested and taken before the jury, Music pleaded guilty and was fined $100 and costs.

Treat Seed Wheat—Sinking smut causes a tremendous loss to wheat growers every year. The disease can be prevented by treating the seed wheat with copper carbonate dust or improved organic mercury, according to Penn State plant pathologists. Treatment is particularly important in a cool wet fall.
Plant Cover Crop—A winter cover crop of rye may be sown now to improve the appearance of the garden and to save costly plant foods from leaching out of the top soil. One peck for 7000 square feet or 6 to 7 pecks an acre is sufficient seed to use, say Penn State vegetable gardeners.
Finish the Lamb Crop—A well-finished lamb crop puts dollars in the farmer's pocketbook at marketing time. It usually pays to feed grain to lambs in addition to the fresh pasture, declare Penn State livestock specialists. Equal parts of corn and oats with good pasture make a very satisfactory feed.
Tournament Planned—During the next few months rural groups will be active in staging amateur dramatic and music tournaments. Following county contests there will be district tournaments to decide winners. Penn State extension rural sociologists report.

Ordy's Seeds Early—To get the strains and varieties of vegetable seeds desired, orders should be placed early, according to Penn State vegetable gardeners. Demonstrations in most Pennsylvania counties have shown many varieties that are adapted to local needs and conditions.
Winter Barley Popular—Almost unknown 10 years ago winter barley has become so popular that more than half of the 63,000 acres of barley reported in 1936 was full-sown. Yields of winter barley last year averaged 31.7 bushels an acre in seven southeastern counties while wheat averaged 10 bushels less, report Penn State agronomists.

Farmers Rout Pickets
Operations at the plant of the Morgan Packing Company, Columbus, Ind., were resumed after 300 farmers routed pickets who were patrolling the plant. The farmers, who had tomatoes and corn in their fields, also had 123 truckloads of the vegetables waiting at the cannery to be unloaded when employees struck for higher wages.

CLARENCE FAIR PRIZE WINNERS

The community in general responded, both by ready support in sending exhibits, and by a large attendance at the Fair. The exhibition consisting of displays of specimen flowers, flowers in arrangement, specimen vegetables and fruits, home canning handwork, including 4-H clubs class work and a collection of relics.

Flowers as usual made a fine showing and although a great profusion of blooms were entered the extent of classes shown was not as large as was exhibited the previous year.

The dahlia group led in beauty of color, size and large number of varieties shown.

Among the specimen vegetables were some pumpkins weighing from 25 to 28 pounds and some very large cabbage which drew attention on account of their size. For perfection of form and color some especially fine carrots, cumin and peppers were worthy of mention, while the Bermuda onions, almond plants and Tom Thumb tomatoes added interest to the display. On the handwork division the quilts as usual took their share of attention.

Among other fine needle works were some very well knitted mittens, some lovely crocheted and embroidery and a beautifully made rug, which were much admired.

The 4-H club display consisted of an array of aprons and slips.

The Relic division of the Fair was one of its chief attractions. The relics most worthy of mention were a remarkably fine display of fire arms, the property of Miss Meek; a Washington flash; an authentic early American Windsor chair; and English Lustre pitcher; some old woven baskets, a large collection of arrow heads, some rare old coins and books.

Miss Lenore Krone, Mrs. Dewey McLaughlin and Mrs. Same Reese made very efficient judges. The prize winning ribbons were the donation of the music teacher, Victor H. Difer, of Bellefonte. In all 145 exhibits were entered and judged and the following prizes were awarded:

LOGANTON MAN HELD IN MURDER

The results of an autopsy performed Friday at the Morris funeral home in Loganton by Coroner W. J. Shoemaker and Dr. David W. Thomas were reported to a coroner's jury later in the day. Death was due, Dr. Thomas said to great amounts of clotted blood in the heart, lungs and liver.

The jury found that Embig "came to his death by a gunshot wound fired from a gun in the hands of Earl Knepp." The jury was composed of Chauncey F. Royer, Guy Boone, Elmer Heckel, A. H. Mark, I. Ray Renninger, of Loganton, and Lee Nicholas, of Tylersville.

Witnesses heard at the inquest were Oliver Guy Bower, Knepp's father-in-law, who testified he saw the shooting; LeRoy Bryerton, who told of the finding of the body; and Dr. Thomas.

Knepp, who was arrested on suspicion by Constable Charles T. Lehman, of Limestone Township, Lycoming Co., remains a prisoner in the Clinton County Jail.

Mr. Embig, a widower and a WPA worker, was a lifelong resident of Sugar Valley. He is survived by four brothers and three sisters; J. N. Embig, of Lock Haven; Mrs. Dale Lane, of Millmont; Mrs. William Bartzges, of Loganton; Charles and Sidney, of Salona; Edward of Lewisburg, and Mrs. Isaac Bietz, of Greenburg.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Greenburg church, in charge of the pastor, the Rev. R. L. Freas. Interment was made in the church cemetery.

According to Knepp's story, he and Embig met at a small store last Wednesday near Loganton, where they drank some beer and made plans for a chicken dinner. It was arranged that Embig was to furnish the chickens and the dinner was to be held at Knepp's home. They then left the store.

About half an hour later Embig arrived at the Knepp home, bringing 2 chickens which he placed in Knepp's car. One was killed and was being cleaned when Mrs. Falch Masters came to the home and accused Knepp of stealing her chickens. Embig had left the home in the meantime, and Knepp the chicken which had not been killed. Thursday afternoon the two men met again at the Loganton hotel, and Knepp accused Embig of stealing the chickens and placing them in his car. An argument ensued and the men were ordered out of the hotel.

Knepp, who had been drinking beer, said he went home, had several drinks of hard cider, and a short time later saw Embig approaching the home. He got his shotgun and loaded it. When Embig's car halted out front, Knepp said he warned the other man not to come near the house, but Embig failed to heed the warning, and Knepp shot him.

According to information obtained by police, Knepp loaded Embig's body into the main man's car, and drove down the Gottshall road about eight miles where he dumped it out and allegedly placed it face down in some water. Mrs. Knepp and her three-month-old baby is said to have followed the Embig car to the place where the body was disposed of. Knepp later is reported to have attempted to wreck Embig's car by running it over an embankment.

Embig's body was found in some bushes near the Ravensburg State Park. Oliver Guy Bower, father-in-law of Knepp, and who lives across the road is reported to be an eye witness of the shooting, and it was upon his report of the shooting to Guy Boone, Loganton store keeper, that the investigation by authorities was begun. Mrs. Knepp led officers to the place where the body had been disposed of.

Knepp will be remembered by some one of the material witnesses in the Knepp murder case. He was arrested at that time by officers Martin J. Peters and Thomas A. Buckley, and held at the jail for a time. He had lived with Joe Huntington, who was held for the Knepp murder. The Knepp murder was committed in September, 1927, and on the same date as the Embig murder.

HEALTH THROUGH LAW SEEN AS AT ZENITH
Lower death rates in large cities has been attained by the control of milk and water distribution, and by supervision of conditions that might affect disease. But the promotion of public health through laws has just about reached its limit, according to Dr. Haven Emerson, Professor of Public Health at Columbia University. "Only by impressing on all the right way of living," said Dr. Emerson in discussing the large hygiene exhibit recently unveiled in Rockefeller Center, "can real progress be made from now on."

The health display, staged by the Museum of Science and Industry, drawn sizes physiological and anatomical functions by means of color figures; a six foot ear; a model showing how the brain works, which is operated by a push button; and a model of a human cell, enlarged one thousand times.

GINGERY REUNION WELL ATTENDED

The annual Gingery reunion was held Monday, September 6, at Toma Hawk Pine Camp, about five miles east of Phillipsburg. The day was enjoyed immensely by all.

A short meeting was held in the afternoon before any of the relatives departed for home. The meeting was opened with prayer by Mrs. Edwood Steele, followed by two portions of scripture, Thessalonians 4:13-18 and Thessalonians 1:4, read by Mr. Russell Weaver. The minutes of the preceding year were then read and approved and the time and place for the next reunion was decided upon. A hymn "Blest be the Tie" was sung and officers for next year were elected as follows: President, Harvey Stiver, of Bellefonte; vice-president, Mr. Ray Morrison, Phillipsburg; treasurer, Mrs. Mollie Matis, of Endicott, N. Y., and secretary, Mrs. Pearl Morrison, Phillipsburg; Roy Morrison was elected chairman of a program committee and it was resolved to make the reunion a bigger and still better one next year.

A few members of the family were unable to be present, but the records showed that not one death occurred since the reunion last year.

All stood and joined hands, forming a circle, while singing the closing hymn, "God Will Take Care of You." Mrs. Rosie Stiver pronounced the benediction.

There were 40 present, namely: Mrs. Mollie Matis and daughter Thekla, of Endicott, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Matis and son Richard, of Endicott, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Edwood Steele, of Julian; Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Gingery and son Kyle, of Port Matilda; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Stiver and sons, Harvey and Theodore, of Bellefonte; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Woodhall and son Norman, of Bellefonte; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Weaver and sons Paul and Donald, of Port Matilda; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Matis and daughter, Pauline; Mr. and Mrs. William Furnace; Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Williams and children, John, Mary Margaret, and Alice Louise, also Walter Hall, of Unionville; Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Williams and daughter, Goldie, of Phillipsburg; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Acton and daughter Mildred, of Phillipsburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morrison and daughter, Marjorie and Patty Lou, of Phillipsburg.

PENN STATE GRID TEAM TO OPEN SEASON AT CORNELL
When Penn State and Cornell meet at Ithaca this Saturday it will mark the first time since before 1900 that the Nittany Lions have opened their football card away from home.

The game also breaks a precedent for both teams by opening with a major opponent. Several hundred Penn State students are expected to follow their team to Ithaca.

Coach Bob Higgins has been pointing his charges for the Cornell game since pre-season drills began September 1. The short time available for practice before such an important encounter has made it necessary to hold frequent scrimmages. However, most of the heavy work was completed Saturday when the Blue and White played a practice game with Lock Haven Teachers.

Penn State's complete schedule follows:
September 25—Cornell, away.
October 2—Gettysburg, home.
October 9—Bucknell, home.
October 16—Lehigh, home.
October 23—Open.
October 30—Syracuse, away.
November 6—Pennsylvania, away.
November 13—Maryland, home.
November 20—Pittsburgh, away.
