

Over The County

Leon Smith of Millheim, was one of the lucky hunters to get a wild turkey on the local mountains. The bird walked out to him in the Smithtown Gap, and of course was met with a volley of fine shot.

Two hunters were Phillipsburg State hospital patients as a result of gunshot wounds suffered in the woods while hunting. They were Lloyd Patterson, 16, of Julian and Ralph Harper, 32, of Oscoda Mills.

-in public buildings SAFETY FIRST When the people erect a college, a hospital, or any type of institutional structure, personal safety of occupants should be the first consideration. PERMANENCE NEEDED, TOO And public structures should endure for generations to come. Hence, it is doubly important to build with CONCRETE Safe-lasting-low in first cost and maintenance Reinforced concrete is the modern building material—secure against fire, explosions, even earthquakes. And no wonder! Walls, frame and floors are a monolith of concrete and embedded steel bars. Such a structure has the strength, rigidity and toughness to withstand forces that might spell disaster in a split second for less sturdy construction. It is the safe, economical way to build. PORTLAND CEMENT ASSOCIATION 1528 Walnut St., Philadelphia, Pa. A national organization to improve and extend the uses of concrete through scientific research and engineering field work.

Acting the part of a "trouble shooter" while driving an automobile brought grief last Monday afternoon to farmer Harry Wolfe, east of Centre Hall. Mr. Wolfe is interested in having good service over the farm telephone line in his community and undertook to discover line faults and operate a car at the same time. While no great damage was done to the car it was for the time being put out of commission.

A motor car stolen earlier in the evening from G. Aucker Nagney of Millheim was destroyed by fire on Route 220 at Lewisville near Mill Hall, last week. Boys from the local recreation room, returning from a 500 tournament at Tylersville reported the fire to the Lock Haven detail of the Pennsylvania Motor Police. The Mill Hall Fire Department responded. The Motor Police are investigating the theft.
