MEEK ADVISES 3-CENT STAMPS FOR X-MAS CARDS

With Christmas once more just a matter of a few weeks' time, the old family debate as to whether to use 3-cent, or 1-cent stamps on Christmas cards is again coming to the fore as one of the minor questions to be settled before Santa begins his annual rounds.

An interview with George R. Meek, Bellefonte postmaster, on the subject, brought some enlightening information which may help those in the Bellefonte area, as well as others, to settle the question once and for all.

Most of us give little real thought to the difference between the 3-cent and 1-cent postage on Christmas cards. Some think the three cent variety, with envelope sealed, is a more personal, and a more appropriate method, but others contend that the 1-cent stamp performs the same work, and that after all, it is the thought back of the greeting that counts, not the way the thought is transported.

The Postoffice Department looks at the matter "through different eyes." To them a card bearing a 3-cent stamp is first class mail. First class mail must either be delivered or returned to the sender. It must be delivered immediately, i. e. under no circumstances can it be allowed to lie around in a postoffice. With a card bearing a 1-cent stamp, things are different. If the carrier cannot locate the address to which it is designated, it is returned to the postoffice, and if no return address is given, the card is destroyed, for it is only third-class mail. If the return address is given, the sender is notified to forward postage for its return, as well as postage for the notice. There is no rush about getting out third-class mail. Not that it is permitted to gather dust in a postoffice, but merely that in such periods, first class mail gets the precedence, and the lower class must wait their turn.

This latter feature is a good thing to remember if you're getting out a rush card to the person you had forgotten, and from whom you've just received a greeting. By all means put a three-cent stamp on such cards, for they usually are mailed a day or two before Christmas, and since those days are the busiest days in the postoffice, a 1-cent stamp is the only way to assure that they'll get out of the office before Christmas. It might happen that a 1-cent envelope, mailed the day before Christmas, might not get on its way until after the holiday.

Another bad feature about the 1-cent envelope is that because they cannot be sealed, the flaps sometimes come open or get caught in the cancelling machine and become torn or damaged. The card that you addressed and placed so carefully in the envelope may reach its destination in a damaged condition, although the post office department takes every reasonable precaution to prevent such mishaps.

PHOTOGRAPHY IS KIWANIS TOPIC

still pictures can be purchased for as little as $12.50, while a motion picture camera that turns out fair results can be had for as low as $25.

Other developments in the art of photography include a glass beaded screen, such as was used for projecting illustrations at the luncheon. This screen is noteworthy because it can be used in rooms which cannot be completely darkened. The dining room was comparatively light when the motion pictures were shown, but the pictures stood out clearly on the screen. The projector used was electrically driven and is a portable outfit weighing about 25 pounds. It uses a light with 200-watt intensity.

Mr. Johnson's duties as visual instruction specialist at Penn State are to make educational films of farm activities. These films are shown in various counties and bring their messages more forcefully than the written or spoken word to those who see them. Among the movies shown at the Kiwanis meeting Tuesday were shots taken at a 4-H Club meeting at Stormstown; a marshall-roast taken at night with photoflood lights supplementing light given by the bonfire; a camp fire scene taken in the illumination of the campfire alone; teams pulling a harrow; a call suffering from ticks; various colored views of a rock garden; a potato digger in action; and an excellent motion picture of a barn fire which occurred during a heavy thunderstorm last summer. Mr. Johnson happened to be passing the site of the fire shortly after its outbreak, and braved the deluge to get some excellent action pictures.

In closing, Mr. Johnson left this valuable tip for amateur photographers. He advised them to forget the old practice of having the sun shine directly on subjects being photographed. "Have the sun strike the object from the left, or light, or even from the back," he said. "You'll find that by so doing your pictures will be far more interesting, will have better detail, and will lose the 'flat' appearance of objects photographed with the sun in front. Get the shadows in your pictures." He urged adding that in the earlier days of his 20-years of experience as a photographer he spoiled many a good picture by assuming that the sun always had to shine directly on the subject.

Mr. Johnson was introduced by Centre County Farm Agent, R. C. Blery, chairman of the Kiwanis program committee. E. E. Wildwood acted as chairman of the meeting in the absence of A. L. Francis.

GREGG TOWNSHIP SCHOOL NOTES

Junior Class Play Dec. 10
 "Happy Landings," a three act farce by Catherine Kavanaugh, just brim full of excitement and laughter, and with a wonderful comedy team of colored folks, will be presented by the Junior Class of the Gregg Township Vocational School in the High School auditorium at Spring Mills on Friday, December 10 at 8 p. m. Admission 15 and 25c. The members of the class will greatly appreciate your patronage.

Seniors Conduct Successful Dance
 The Thanksgiving dance held in the gymnasium at Spring Mills last Friday evening, under the auspices of the Senior Class, was a success from every angle. A large crowd was in attendance and everyone enjoyed the evening's dancing and refreshments. Gross receipts were approximately $67.00, with the class having a nice balance, which will be used to help defray expenses of the class to Washington next spring.

The members express their appreciation to the public for their fine support of the dance.

Christmas Seals Mailed in Twp.
 Christmas seals were mailed to many in Gregg Twp. by the local committee in charge of the sale of the seals this year. The seals in the past have been sold by the Spring Mills grade children with 90% of the receipts being returned to the local district to be used in health work in the schools. The funds will be returned to the local committee as in the past, the only difference being that the bulk of the seals will be sold through the mails. This is the plan that is followed in practically all other communities and the local committee was asked to follow this plan this year. To date the response has been very fine, with many persons purchasing the $1.00 worth of seals that may be used in connection with Christmas mailing, and it is felt that many more will buy seals before Christmas. Last year the schools realized over $20.00 from the sale, the funds being used to defray the expenses of the pre-Christmas clinic held in the Spring, with the remainder used in various phases of the health program. The boys and girls will appreciate the generous support of the community in his enterprise, and what could be more worth while than contributing towards the well being of our boys and girls?

MILESBERG CHURCH TO DEDICATE NEW ORGAN

The congregation of the Milesberg Presbyterian church has prepared a complete program for services to be held at 7:30 o'clock Sunday evening, December 12, when a new pipe organ now being installed in the church will be dedicated.

Preceding the ceremony an organ prelude will be presented by G. Clarence Black, well known Tyrone organist, who will preside at the new organ during the service. The program includes solicitation of subscriptions to cover the unpaid balance on the new organ, and members of the committee have worked out a system whereby no names or no individual subscription will be made known. Donors can subscribe to the fund with perfect assurance that their contribution will not become a matter of public information.

The organ, manufactured by the Wicks Organ Company, of Highland, Ill., was purchased at a cost of $1,350, and will replace a piano formerly used in the church. Mrs. John Roberts will serve as the regular church organist. The new instrument is 9 feet in width and is 11 feet in height. It is being placed in a specially built alcove on the choir loft, which is 32 inches above the main floor of the church.

Plans are being made to hold an organ recital at the church sometime during the week, beginning December 27. The Rev. Howard E. Oakwood is pastor of the church.
