

Political prognosticators are already trying to tell us how the election of next year will result. The Literary Digest, however, is saying nothing.

It must be astounding to men in the public eye to hear other people tell the public what they think about issues upon which they have said nothing.

DEER KILL EXCEEDS LAST YEAR'S TOTAL

having seen some deer that showed definite signs of insufficient food. They also expressed their belief that as time passes deer are becoming smaller. This year no reports were made of exceptionally large deer taken by hunters in this area. Leading many to the belief that most of the older and larger animals have been killed off in past years, leaving only young stock to continue the herds.

More definite information about the average weight of deer killed this year is expected to be released by the Game Commission in the near future. Throughout the state during the season, weighing points were established where all deer being brought out of the woods were weighed. One of these stations was located near Philipsburg.

Centre County's woods are liberally dotted with hunting camps, the exact number of which is anyone's guess. Game officials and forest rangers report that virtually all the camps were open during the past season, and that most of them had good luck in hunting. Many of the camps had taken their limit of deer by the end of the first week, and closed their lodges and went home. Day hunters added to the army of hunters who ambled through woods and mountains in search of deer.

In Centre County during the season one hunter lost his life through being struck by a bullet and a second hunter died Monday of this week from the results of injuries he sustained several weeks ago while he was attempting to climb a tree to go on watch for deer. Rarely does a deer season pass in this county without at least one fatal hunting accident.

A group of Nimrods from Bellefonte went gunning on Baker Run between Snow Shoe and Renova, and brought home two fine bucks, one an 8 point and the other a 4 point. Members of the group were John Curtin, Lewis O. Harvey, Calvin Purnell, George Purnell, Jr., and Bobby Curtin.

I. R. Baumgardner of Zion, was a member of a party hunting in the Snow Shoe area Friday. The group shot a nice-sized 4-point buck.

Following are some of the hunters who were successful in getting deer in Centre County, according to reports of game officials. In order in the lists below are given the name of the hunter, his place of residence and the size deer shot.

POURS KEROSENE IN RANGE, SIX BURNED

Haven Hospital. Four other children escaped injury. Mr. Baney remains at the institution, where his condition is regarded as fair.

The families of Mr. Baney and Benjamin Bitter were left in a destitute condition when their homes were destroyed. Everything in the Baney home was burned including clothing, the inmates escaping in not much more than their night clothes. Some furniture was removed from the Bitter home.

Rising about 5:30, Mr. Baney went to the kitchen to kindle the fire, and to hasten it, poured kerosene on the ashes. The fuel encountered live coals in the ashes, and the kerosene exploded in the can, scattering over Mr. Baney and about the room, which blazed up in a mass of flames. With his clothing ablaze, Mr. Baney rushed to the second floor of the home and awakened his family. His garments were burned from his body.

His wife was burned on the face, neck and hands. Esther, aged 8, who received only minor burns, suffered a back injury when she was thrown from a second story window. Isabel, 14, has burns of the face and forehead. Pay, 10, who was also thrown from an upstairs window, received a deep laceration of the left knee. Mr. Baney's brother, Delbert, 17, suffered serious lacerations of both hands when he broke the glass in the windows through which the children were thrown to the ground.

Following the explosion, and with his clothing ablaze, Mr. Baney rushed to the second floor of the home and awakened his family. As the stairway leading from the kitchen was cut off by the fire, several of the seven children used stairs leading to the living room until the rapidly spreading flames cut off this means of escape. The other members of the family left the home by the upstairs windows, being assisted by neighbors who had arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Bitter, located about fifty feet east of the Baney home on East Main street, was also ignited by the flames and destroyed. A small quantity of furniture was saved from the lower floor. Mr. and Mrs. Bitter and four children escaped safely.

A high wind carried sparks to the home of Horace Hubbard, who resides alone in a small frame house next to the Bitter home. However, the Mill Hill Fire Company arrived in time to prevent its destruction.

The fire company was summoned after Claude Bechdel, who resides one-half mile from the Baney home saw the flames from a window. He called the Beech Creek telephone exchange which notified the Mill Hill firemen. The ringing of the Presbyterian church bell, which serves Beech Creek as a fire alarm, by William Winslow, the janitor, also aided in getting help promptly.

The two burned buildings were the center ones of a row of four dwellings owned by Mrs. Joseph Masden who resides with her niece, Mrs. Thomas Burke, of Marsh Creek.

Mr. Baney is interested in the mines in the Bird's Run area, and Mr. Bitter has been an employe of the General Refractories Company, but has been unable to work during the greater part of the winter, because of illness.

It is understood that Mr. and Mrs. Bitter and family have been able to rent the home of the late W. Q. Clark, on Fairview street, which had been unoccupied for some months pending sale of the property. The family have moved what household goods were saved from the fire to that location to begin housekeeping anew.
