Hardened Leather
Kerosene will soften the leather of shoes and boots that have become hardened by water.
How to Make Cold Cream
A good cold cream can be made as follows: Mix 2 tablespoons of oatmeal, 1/2 tablespoon of powdered borax, and 1/2 pint of rosewater. Allow this mixture to stand for 2 or 3 days, then strain and add 4 ounces of alcohol.
Stitching Heavy Fabrics
When stitching such heavy materials as canvas, khaki, or heavy duck, the needle can be made to penetrate more easily if the hoons and seams are rubbed with hard yellow soap.

Health and Beauty

OLLING THE WHEELS OF LIFE
Years ago, shopping in the large department stores of the great cities was not always a pleasant pastime, owing to the rudeness, indifference and often rudeness of the clerks in attendance. It was not uncommon to hear some red-faced, loud-mouthed floor walker or boss, roundly abusing some girl for neglect of duty. The customer naturally felt very uncomfortable and had a desire to escape to a more congenial atmosphere.
Today all this is changed. Employees and clerks, workers wherever found, have learned or soon will, that politeness is the magic oil that makes the wheels of daily life operate without friction.
It is interesting to observe how much the personnel in stores, hotels and other places that cater to the public have improved in manners. They are chosen not only for their ability to do the work but because of their courteous address. In some places of business, the help are gathered into classes and instructed in the art of acquiring gracious and pleasing manners towards customers.
The heads of departments have long since learned that those whom they employ to meet the public can repel their customers with rudeness or indifference, or they can attract and hold them by their tactful, kindly, gracious manners.
Politeness and unobtrusive, unselfish service is not fit to meet the public. It is very easy to be patient with a trying customer if one feels well and happy. It is impossible to be gracious at all times and under all circumstances, to the public if one is not well and happy.
Good health contentment and real kindness are practically essential to success, if we must make our living by dealing with the public. Even politeness and courtesy must come from within. We may be able to assume it some of the time, but even then it won't ring true, if it is put on like a cloak, and does not spring from the soul. It is easy to greet people cordially, if we feel kindly toward them.
Thoughtfulness of the comfort and welfare of others is an attribute that helps to oil the wheels of life. If we love our fellow men, we are sincerely interested in their hap-
