business lies not so much in the production of milk as in the marketing of the product. The fact that the New York Marketing Agency is looking after the farmer's interests in New York City is of vital importance to every farmer, because it tends to control the price of milk and gives the producer a fair price if it is possible.

Although a good part of the milk is under the control of certain companies, much of the milk is sold in New York by small individual dealers for a low retail price. This causes what is commonly called "chiseling."

The New York Marketing Agency is ever on the alert to protect the interests of the producers, distributors and consumers. Last summer the price of milk in a certain district was seventeen cents a quart. It was found that the mothers living on a certain street were buying only three fifths as much milk as was necessary for the health of their children. When the producer gets only two to five cents a quart for milk which retailed for seventeen cents, it seems retail prices may be high.

The members of the class were fair in stating that when there was a surplus, the price should be lower, but when there was no surplus, the producer should receive his fair share of the selling price.

After the class was dismissed, many members remained and continued to discuss this vital problem among themselves. Among those present, was Harry Smith, of Bellefonte, R. D. who gave some helpful pointers on dairy rations and marketing. Other members were: Floyd Bechdel, George Bechdel, Robert Bechdel, John Bowers, W. A. Bowers, William Burke, Ray Bullock, Harold Boone, Momer Campbell, Fred Clark, Dennis Custer, John Eaton, Warren Girton, Harry Glassner, Alva Miller, Ira Miller, Glenn McCloskey, A. A. Smith, Victor Smith, Joe Schenck, Loyd Spangler, Charles Stiver and Russell White.

County buildings we find; the jail building in good condition, with the exception of the cold storage room, which needs plastering, and the bath or shower room which needs painting, and we recommend these improvements.

In the Court House we find the walls and decorations in fine condition, and the new lighting in the Prothonotary's office of the latest type and recommend these lighting facilities be extended throughout the other offices and vaults as quickly as possible.

dition, and the new lighting in the Prothonotary's office of the latest type and recommend these lighting facilities be extended throughout the other offices and vaults as quickly as possible. For the Prothonotary's office we recommend the necessary, much-needed filing cabinets and that a fire door be placed on the vault in this office. We recommend that dark glass be placed in the table, door of the Jury room.

"We also recommend that a committee be appointed to rebuild and refurnish public toilets in the Court House, also that the Library be cleaned, and that broken glass in the Judge's chamber be replaced.

"Finally, we wish to commend the County Commissioners for the improvements in the refurnishing of the Court House interior. We the Grand Jury, wish to thank the Court and attorneys for the courtesy they showed us and wish the Court and the District Attorney a successful term of office."

In the case of John Zeisler, charged with assault and battery with intent to kill and assault and battery with intent to murder, a sanity commission named last week to examine the defendant pronounced him mentally unbalanced and he is scheduled to be sent to an institution for treatment.

Last week two defendants saved the action of the Grand Jury and indicated that they will appear in Court today to enter a plea of guilty. They are: Roy W. Lomison, fraudulent conversion, and David McKean, gambling device. Arthur William Long, charged with a violation of the vehicle code, is to receive a hearing today in Court.

noted at the noon check-up. Bloodhounds were placed on his trail and the prison siren wailed its warning to residents of the surrounding area.

The bloodhounds failed to pick up the trail and nothing further was heard of the fugitive until about 5:30 o'clock that afternoon when James B. Royer, of Centre Hall, R. D. 2, whose home is near the Earllytown school, about 2 miles west of the Old Fort, noticed a man crawl through the tranom above the door of the schoolhouse. Although Mr. Royer had not heard the prison siren, he didn't know of the escape, he decided that the man in the school building was probably a Rockview inmate, so he got in touch immediately with Deputy Warden C. C. Rhoads.

Guard Allison Hobbasha was sent to the school, to investigate, and he took Lehman into custody. The man offered no resistance. He apparently was glad to be taken for in addition to having spent six hours walking over the snow covered mountains in a driving snowstorm, he had nothing to eat since leaving the institution.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace A. R. Houser, at Rockview, Lehman pleaded guilty to a charge of escaping from prison, and was remanded to the Centre County jail where he awaited his appearance in court.

As a result of the information he furnished leading to the apprehension of Lehman, Mr. Royer, well known farmer, will be recommended for the $50 reward posted by the State for the apprehension of Rockview fugitives.

crossing this new structure. It is not completed. The top surface has not been laid and will not be until good weather arrives.

With careful driving motorists may travel over the bridge until such time and it will be blocked in the spring to pour the surface concrete.

The floor of the last span of the new $150,000 bridge was poured Friday. The wearing service parapet will follow in very short order. The approaches or fills, running east and west, have been sugged so that traffic is able to run over the bridge rather than be further retarded by waiting for the concrete pouring. In the spring the approaches will be paved half width so that traffic will not be stopped or hindered.

From the bridge to the peak of Sky Top mountain excavation work has been done on the mountain side. The highway department plans on making this stretch into three lane width. The excavation work has been completed with the exception of cleaning up and grading.

Up to the winter season there were two shifts of sixty men each working on the bridge. Approximately twenty men are now employed on an eight hour shift.

under the poles. Other crew members rushed to the wounded man's side, and carried him to an automobile driven by Carl Moerschbacher, of Bellefonte, a pole inspector for the West Penn. Evans was rushed to a physician's office in Centre Hall, and when the physician was found to be absent on a call, he was brought immediately to the Centre County Hospital.

At no time since the mishap has Evans lost consciousness, and yesterday he was believed to be showing some slight improvement. Evans is widely known in Centre County, having been one of the star players on Millheim's baseball team for the past several years. He is married and resides in Millheim, and has been employed as a groundman for the West Penn Power Company for nearly two years.

The poles which were being unloaded are to be used on the new electric power line through Georges Valley, which is one unit of the local rural electrification program.

hem and Pottsville in the southeastern division. The reorganization eliminated barracks at Franklin, Bellefonte and Kingston. Foote said that Wyoming barracks, a key point in the police wireless system leading into New York, would become headquarters for police activities formerly shared with Kingston.

The commissioner said Captain A. J. Oldham, new chief of the Franklin station, would be transferred to the new Erie troop headquarters. "We do not contemplate making captains for every new troop headquarters," he added. "Most of the troop barracks will have a lieutenant in charge with two lieutenants in some barracks."
