

Echoes from the Past

FIFTY YEARS AGO

The first snake story is told by Thomas Wolfe, of Rebersburg, who has already hoarded up the large number of snakes he has killed this season.

The editorial rooms and business office of the Democrat are now located in the Reynolds Bank building, second story High Street, from where we will be pleased to see any of our subscribers and patrons.

Miss Ella Williams, who for the past five years has worked on the Democratic Watchman, is now staying with friends down at Howard. She is not in the best of health and a change of climate might be beneficial to her.

Two live gaudily decorated Indians perambulated our streets sandwiched in between patent medicine advertisements. The children were up on end as the circus season is approaching, and the native Americans were considered the advanced guard of some circus.

On Thursday morning Amos Garbrick was awakened by the shrill cry of fire to find his stable in flames and beyond the power of man to save. Two valuable black horses, a cow and a number of valuable articles such as a sleigh, buggy, harness, etc., were destroyed. The loss to Mr. Garbrick is about $1,000, with $500 insurance. The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary.

Three men were nearly overcome with gas at the Centre Iron Company's furnace last week. One of the men fell into the bell of the furnace but was rescued. All are well now but it was a very narrow escape. The Company had bad luck with their cast Sunday noon. The metal commenced to boil and run all over their sand beds, making a very bad cast for them. They have a very good way of getting rid of their cinders. It is run out into iron trucks especially constructed for that purpose, and hauled away by locomotive power along their railroad and used for ballast.

Little Rilla, five-year-old daughter of Mr. Samuel Williams, of this place, is seriously ill with brain fever. We hope a speedy recovery will follow. Mr. Frank Wallace and wife are both lying seriously ill at their home above Milesburg. William Isbler, of Benner township, is a lover of fine horse flesh, and on Friday brought another beautiful iron gray. Miss Annie Grove, who has been sick for the past two months, is able to be about again to attend to the duties of the house. A. Beezer & Sons, the Allegheny Street painters, have had their wagon repainted and it is now the finest butcher wagon in town. The mountain was covered with snow last Monday morning. No doubt it was our Easter snow, as that part of the program was omitted on Easter Sunday. The Michigan Keith has broken ground for the erection of a new house on Logan Street, and expects to have it completed about July 1. Mr. Henry Wakey also expects to erect a new house the coming summer on Logan Street adjoining Mrs. Keith's lot. We desire to call attention to the Commissioner Shaughnessy to the condition of some of the boardwalks and pavements and particularly those on the north side of East Curtin Street. Boards are loose and broken and the borough will be paying damages one of these days.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

A destructive forest fire raged on Brush Mountain and it was with great difficulty that Jacob Winkler's sawmill was saved from destruction.

Joseph F. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, acting Democratic State chairman, announced himself as a candidate for the Democratic nomination as Governor of Pennsylvania.

Howard Casper resigned his position with the Adams Express Company in Bellefonte and went to Sunbury to secure employment with the Pennsylvania Railroad as a fireman.

Centre County Superintendent of Schools David C. Eters, was re-elected to succeed himself as head of the public school system of the county for another four-year term at the annual meeting of the County's School directors.

Marriage licenses were issued to the following couples: Wickett H. Gardner, Howard, and Jennie H. Irwin, Bellefonte; D. L. Homan, of Spring Mills, and Ruth N. Stover, Aaronsburg; Lelf A. Olsen and Marguerite B. Coxy, both of Bellefonte.

Centre county, after experiencing several weeks of mild weather, was visited by a blizzard which piled drifts to a depth of four feet, and which was fully ten inches deep on level areas. Some sections reported snowfall to a depth of from 18 to 20 inches.

Emile Mignot, aged 83, wandered from his home on East Howard street Sunday morning, with nothing but a pair of bedroom slippers on his feet. That night searchers found him on the crossroads leading from Jacksonville to Howard. He said he intended to go to his old home in Frenchville, Clearfield county. He was none the worse for his walk, even though he had not been out of the house for three years.

Herrick Dixon, an old soldier who resided at Milesburg until recently, when he was sent to the Soldiers' Home at Erie, was found dead along the C. R. R. of Pa. tracks a short distance below Bellefonte when a passing train fastened to his clothing and dragged his lifeless body for a short distance. Mr. Dixon had been in Bellefonte the previous night and is believed to have missed the bus for Milesburg. It was thought he started to walk home, became exhausted and fell, his body being covered with snow. The engine crew frantically tried to stop the train until the locomotive moved it. Coroner John Sebring held an inquest and decided the man was dead when struck by the train. The remains were buried by the dragging, but not mangled.

Sunday School Lesson

THE VICTORIOUS SERVANT

GOLDEN TEXT: "This Jesus God raised up, whereof we all are witnesses."—Acts 2:32.

Lesson Text: Acts 2:22-32.

Obedient to the command of Jesus that they "tarry in Jerusalem" until the Holy Spirit should descend upon them, the disciples stayed in the city, using the "upper room," as a meeting place where they would gather for consolation with each other and to plan for the future. It was, fifty days after the death of Jesus, that the Holy Spirit came and the disciples and apostles were together. Peter stood up and began to speak with other tongues, as the Spirit gave them utterance.

Hearing of this, a great multitude assembled before the House in which the disciples were and Peter, "filled with the Spirit," boldly began to proclaim to them that Jesus is the Christ, the Redeemer of the world. He opened his sermon by quoting from the prophet Joel and from David, characters well known to his Jewish hearers, and launched into a description of Jesus, "a man approved of God among you by miracles and signs . . . as ye yourself know," who had been crucified by them but who had been raised up from the dead. He condemned his hearers, most of whom were Jews, for their sin in crucifying Jesus, and when his listeners, in conviction, desired advice as to what they should do, Peter summarized the necessary procedure in his words, recorded in Acts 2:38, "Repent, and be baptized every one of you in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins, and ye shall receive the gift of the Holy Spirit."

The aspect of Peter's sermon with which we are most concerned in our discussion is the argument he made in proof of Christ's victory over death, for the Christian faith in the divinity of Jesus and the confident belief in individual immortality rests largely upon the reality of his victory over the powers of the grave. If Jesus did not live again after his death at the hands of the authorities, the whole truth and dependence of the gospel stories becomes worthless.

Therefore, it is very comforting to realize that the resurrection of Jesus is probably better attested than any other historical fact, which is nearly two thousand years old. Aside from the many occasions upon which he appeared to his disciples—his sudden transformation which took place among his apostles,

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

Walnut Stain
Anyone can make a good walnut stain by mixing one quart of boiled linseed oil, one quart of turpentine, one pint of whiting, one tablespoon of burnt umber, one-half teaspoon of Venetian red, and one-half teaspoon of yellow ochre.

Cracks in China
The small cracks in china dishes will be made almost unnoticeable if each dish is boiled in enough sweet milk to cover it for about three quarters of an hour.

Solled Books
To remove the soil from the edges and bindings of books, rub them with bread dough. Rub the dusty parts with a ball of the dough until the dirt is removed.

Storing Linens
Linens will not turn yellow when stored if they are wrapped in blue paper. If blue paper is not available, dip a cloth in very strong blue paint. Another good method is to paint the inside of the box, drawer, or closet with blue enamel.

Flouring Food
An effective method of flouring food evenly and quickly for frying is to mix the flour, salt and pepper in a paper bag, put in the food to be floured, and then shake well.

Chamois Gloves
Chamois gloves may be kept pliable and the leather preserved, by adding a few drops of olive oil to the water used for washing them.

Cleaning a Garment
Often, when the garment has been cleaned improperly, a ring is left in place of the spot. In this event, try steaming the mark over the spout of the tea kettle. This will frequently remove the ring.

Tired Feet
New life can often be put into the tired feet by bathing them in hot salt water. This stimulates the circulation and removes the waste products which are responsible for the fatigue. Add two handfuls of salt to a basin of hot water.

Laundry Suggestion
Lemon and salt, mixed, will help greatly in removing the rust color from a garment which has been pressed with too hot an iron. Hold the material over steam while this mixture is on it.

Sticking Doors
Oftentimes when a door sticks, it is due to the fact that the screws of the hinges are loose, and a screw driver will quickly remedy the trouble. In case the door refuses to hold up with this tightening, try replacing the screws with the next size larger.

LISTEN YOUTHIS
No. 2.

We have been talking about alcohol, the enemy that is to be encountered upon the wrong road. You, perhaps, now good fellows who seem able to drink now and then without getting drunk, or becoming chronic alcoholics. Maybe you do. But answer this question, did you ever see anyone who was any better for taking a drink? Are your drinking companions those in whom their employers have the greatest confidence? Are they the ones who advance in the business world and who become leaders in their respective communities? Seldom, if ever.

Alcohol degrades reason and causes confused thinking. It ruins health. It tears down character. Ultimately it destroys body and soul. Alcohol is not a food. To indulge in it at all is a dangerous practice. For the majority of people—the habit is very easily formed and in some cases seemingly impossible to break. This is because alcohol attacks the brain cells and the nerves. Some individuals are very susceptible to its influence. Once having acquired the habit of drink they are powerless to resist it. They are no longer free men or women. They are slaves as helpless as though they were bound hand and foot, and dominated by a brainless, heartless fiend that drives them hither and thither as he will.

Remember that when you begin to tamper with alcohol you are playing with fire. It can easily get beyond your control and destroy you and all that you hold dear. A large number of the inmates of our insane asylums got there by following the drink road.

The writer once knew a brilliant young physician who formed this habit. For long periods of time he would abstain entirely and then the appetite would overcome him again. At first his friends were patient and forbearing with his weakness. His father, also a physician, was grief stricken and made every effort to reclaim him, but in vain. He continued down the wrong road with his enemy, alcohol, until he became a tramp and outcast. Finally in despair he sent a bullet crashing through his brain, as many of alcohol's dupes have done before and since.

Listen youth, if you've started down the wrong road, turn back now while hope, ambition and health are beckoning you to come into the right road. For long periods of time some of your old companions who have been marching with you down the wrong road; but if they won't turn around and travel with you in the right direction, then you must leave them behind and save yourself before it is too late.

There is a guide who will always show you the way to travel. This guide is the word that is written in the Bible which we call the Bible. Take it for your guidance you will reach at last the city where dangers and temptations will not assail you, and you will be safe forevermore.

Listen, youth, if you've started down the alcohol road turn away from it now and never enter it again, for it may be forever too late.
