A purebred Guernsey bull, "Hot-Toddy," No. 257446 of Stockwell Farms, was recently sold by Earl G. Winey of Middleburg, to J. David Hosterman, of Spring Mills, according to the American Guernsey Cattle Club's bulletin of transfers.

F. P. Geary has completed a fish pond on his lawn at his home in Centre Hall. The dimensions are seven by eight feet, with a depth of 35 inches at the sides and 30 inches in the center. Later a variety of fish, water lilies and the like will occupy the pool.

Forty-eight young men from the Centre Hall Reformed church held their second annual ham and egg supper recently at the Bradford hunting camp. It was an entirely informal affair, with not a speech. The only business transacted was the organization of a mushball team.

Donald F. Caldwell of Tylersville, was arrested last Tuesday night by Private C. C. Riggs of the Motor Police of Lock Haven, for reckless driving following an accident near the bridge in Lamar. Riggs said Caldwell's car hit the car of Charles Uebel of Mill Hill, causing $125 damage. The damage to the Caldwell car was estimated at $175.

East Penns Valley High school's class of 1938, chaperoned by Mrs. James Weidlich and Miss Anna Mary Moyer, left early last Tuesday morning for the annual trip to Washington, D. C. The students, thirty-four of them, with their chaperons, just about filled the big bus sent by L. R. Batchelor of Tyrone, the agent who arranges and conducts the tours.

John E. Stover, better known as "Jack," steward at the National Hotel bar in Millheim, had a painful experience last Tuesday afternoon. He broke an empty bottle into a box provided for the purpose, closing his eyes while he did so, and a small sliver of glass was hurled into the left eye with enough force to pin the eyelid into the eyeball. The glass did not penetrate the pupil, but left him nevertheless with a painful wound and one which will require careful attention.

Another deer fell victim to an automobile at 10:15 last Tuesday night on the pike between Philipsburg and Sandy Ridge when a car operated by E. A. Ashworth of Osceola Mills was struck by a doe which jumped in front of the moving car. The force of the impact threw the deer to the side of the road and broke a headlamp and damaged a fender on the car. As the deer was not dead, Ashworth and E. B. Frazier, also of Osceola, notified the motor police who shot the deer after obtaining the permission of the game warden.

BELLEFONTE, PA.

William H. Samsell, a native of Walker township, but for some years a resident of Turtle Creek, has purchased the Harry E. Clevenstone farm, a short distance east of Hubersburg, and has moved back to Centre county.

Charles S. Wesley, Philadelphia attorney, is now president of two railroads. Already president of and general counsel for the Bellefonte Centre Railroad. Attorney Wesley on Tuesday was elected president of the Huntingdon and Broad Top Mountain Railroad and Coal Co., to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the former president.

The Potter township school board is considering applicants to fill the vacancy in the teaching force through the voluntary resignation of Miss Dorothy Brown, who is leaving to accept a position in the teaching profession. She is a graduate of Lock Haven Teachers' College and taught successfully in Potter township for six or more terms.

A new porch was built last week to the front of the cozy home of Mr. and Mrs. John Reifsnnyder on Penn street, Millheim. J. D. Neese did the carpenter work. The property was the former E. K. Knarr home and since purchased by the Reifsnydners, has undergone many changes and improvements, presenting a neat and pleasing appearance.

Merrill Decker, a garsteman in Milroy, and Miss Dorothy Brown, a former school teacher in Potter township, were married in Cumberland, Md. They expect to take up housekeeping in Milroy. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brown, Pottery Mills, and is a graduate of Shippensburg State Teachers' College. Mr. Decker is a son of Mr. and Mrs. James L. Decker, of near Centre Hall.

Centre Hall children contributed flowers for decorating the graves of the soldier dead on Memorial Day. They were Martha Lingie, Janet Belle Leister, Betty Seanson, Dale Confer, Barbara Potter, Eleanor Potter, Taylor Potter, William Potter, Joan Slack, Anna Whiteman, Cherry Corman, Grace Corman, Jean Bartholomew, Jean Bloom, Teddy White, Eleanor Booser, Dorothy Booser, Robert McClellan, Nancy Brooks, Gloria Brooks, Drew Petherell, Shirley Slack.

R. H. Peacock, representing the general land and tax agents office of the Erie Railroad company, Cleveland, Ohio, was in Centre Hall over the week-end in the interest of the Peacock farms at Centre Hall and Penn Hall. He brought with him "Betsy," a turkey hen purchased last fall for a Christmas party dinner, which gained the affections of Mrs. Peacock and consequently its carcass was not garnished for the holiday feast, but was placed as a breeder with Roland Zettle in care.

Three young men, whose identity is not known, were visitors at the office of a local Millheim physician early last Sunday morning to get patched up after figuring in a collision with an electric light pole at the Salem church, west of that town. The trio was riding in a Model A Ford coupe and in colliding with the pole, snapped it off about three feet above the ground. The car finding a final landing place in Samuel Moser's cornfield, badly damaged. All three occupants were injured, one with a rather bad gash in his head.

ELECTRIC FENCES BECOME POPULAR IN CENTRE COUNTY

With a view of better protection to crops adjoining pasture lots farmers are beginning to electrify wire fences, designed to discourage obstreperous cows and young cattle from riding down an ordinary barrier and frequently resulting in not only damage to crops but to the animals themselves.

The fence is electrified with the use of a battery and a single strand of smooth or barbed wire leading from it and fastened to the fence with insulators or the wire may be attached to the electric current supplying light and power to the home if available, provided one understands how it is done to insure safety. The battery outfit however is the most satisfactory and eliminates danger to cattle or persons who become curious. In either case no current is used unless the wire is touched.

A single contact by an animal guarantees future avoidance. While the animal may become frightened no ill results follow, and it will be careful not to repeat the experience.

Among local farmers who have installed modern protection are Jacob Sharer and Ernest Homan, both of near Centre Hall.

In traveling over the country by motor, a close observer will frequently see glass or porcelain insulators fastened to a fence and a wire attached. If he can't imagine how the contrivance acts on cattle, hogs and horses, a gentle touch will convince of its effectiveness.

WELDED RAILS ARE TRIED IN BRITAIN

British railway experiments with welded rails have culminated in the making of an unbroken track 1,260 feet long. This, the greatest length of continuously welded rail in the open in Great Britain, is embodied in the track of the London Eastern Railway, which has resulted in much smoother travel and a considerable reduction of noise.

For this experiment, a piece of the used principally by heavy freight trains was selected. The rails were thermite-welded without being removed from the cradles. Results were pronounced satisfactory by experts, says C. M. Turner, traffic manager of a railway line at Rockefeller Center.

FARM CALENDAR

Timely Reminders From The Pennsylvania State College School of Agriculture

Make Grass Silage—Grass and legume silage is one of the best feeds for keeping up milk production during July and August when pasture is scarce, according to Penn State dairymen. By filling silos to one-third or one-half capacity, dairymen have a succulent feed for the summer. This enables them to use their silos the entire year.

Control Bean Beetles—The safest and most effective material to use for the control of Mexican bean beetles is rotenone. Penn State entomologists say that this material may be used in the form of either dust or spray.

Cut Pulpwood Now—Most wood for paper making is cut and peeled of its bark during May, June, July and August. The species of woods used include practically all the broad-leaved trees, the yellow pines and spruces, according to Penn State foresters.

Produce Clean Seed—One way to have clean wheat for seed next fall is to pull the cockle, rye, and garlic from an acre or two. The seed can be handled separate from the other during harvesting, threshing, and storing, say Penn State agronomists.

Water Trees and Shrubs—Watering recently planted trees and shrubs is necessary during dry weather, according to Penn State ornamental horticulturists. Mulching to a depth of 1 to 3 inches with well-decomposed cow manure or peat moss is recommended.

Give Chicks Room—Avoid overcrowding chicks. Rather than have more than 350 in one group, divide the chicks into two lots, Penn State poultrymen urge.

Feed Dairy Heifers—Two to 3 pounds of grain per day is suggested by Penn State dairymen for heifers during the early part of the pasture season.

CHEF SUGGESTS YOU TRY BAKED VEGETABLE LOAF

For a good, economical, easily prepared summer dish, M. Till, manager of the famous Gateway Restaurant in Rockefeller Center, suggests you try Baked Vegetable Loaf. Here is the recipe, which will serve from 8 to 10 persons:

The ingredients are: 5 tablespoons of shortening, 1 medium sized onion, 3 tablespoons of flour, 2 cups of vegetable stock, 2 teaspoons of salt, 1/2 teaspoon of pepper, 1 cup of grated cheese, 2 eggs slightly beaten, 1 tablespoon of chopped parsley, 1 cup of cooked peas, 1 cup of cooked carrots, 1 cup of cooked string beans, 2 cups of mashed potatoes, 1 cup of buttered crumbs.

Melt shortening, add onion and cook until golden brown. Stir in flour and add milk. Cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add seasoning and cheese, then remove from fire and add eggs and parsley. Combine vegetables, shape into loaf in greased baking dish, pour sauce over loaf and bake in moderate oven (375 degrees F) about 45 minutes.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMINATION.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced an open competitive examination for the position of Printer's Assistant in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, Treasury Department. Competitors will be rated upon the results of a mental test. For this position the Treasury Department wishes women. The entrance salary is 66 cents an hour, less 3 1/2 percent retirement deduction.

In addition to a general physical examination, applications will be required to undergo a special test in the Bureau of Engraving and Printing to determine susceptibility to dermalis which sometimes develops from handling printed work.

The closing dates for receipt of applications from States east of Colorado is June 20, and from Colorado and States westward, June 23, 1938.

Full information may be obtained from the Post office, State Office, Penna. Secretary of the U. S. Civil Service Board of Examiners, at the post office or customhouse in Washington, D. C.

I. O. O. F. PAST GRANDS MEET AT SNOW SHOES

Snow Shoe Lodge No. 226 entertained the monthly meeting of the Centre County Past Grands Association Friday night, June 3.

Guest lodges were represented by 30 association members and 16 visitors. They came from Bellefonte, Centre Hall, Howard, Milesburg, Pine Grove Mills, Snow Shoe, Spring Mills and State College.

The entertainment program consisted of historical sketches of the eight lodges represented, Centre Lodge No. 133 at Bellefonte is the oldest Odd Fellows Lodge in Centre county. It was instituted February 23, 1846. State College Lodge No. 1032 is the youngest lodge, being instituted in February, 1892.

Other lodges and dates of institution follow: Bald Eagle No. 410, Milesburg, July 8, 1850; Spring Mills No. 597, June 3, 1903; Centre Hall No. 895, January 15, 1875; Penns Valley No. 276, Pine Grove Mills, November 8, 1847; Lick Run No. 311, Howard, June 22, 1875, and Snow Shoe No. 226, September 7, 1887.

Harry Bird, Millheim, was elected a member of the association.

The Young Ladies class of the Methodist Sunday school served refreshments after the meeting.

President Willis E. Wion, Bellefonte, announced that the next meeting of the association will be at Rebersburg September 9, the association having voted last year to omit the July and August meetings.

AUTO RACES AT ALTOONA WILL DRAW SPORTS FANS

All roads lead to Altoona this week where the famous Altoona Speedway, largest and fastest dirt track of its kind in the United States, swings into the national sports spotlight with the revival of its 100-mile national championship event Saturday afternoon.

The elite of the racing fraternity representing every section of the country from the banked speedways of California to the lightning-fast ovals of the east are on hand for the gruelling grind over the mile-and-an-eighth rebuilt track.

Twenty-three high powered machines, selected from a field of more than 40 entries, will roar across the starting line when George Heller, Dayton, O., veteran automobile racing official, flashes the green flag.

The championship field is being selected from the host of twilight drivers competing in a three-day qualifying program where speeds in excess of 110 miles per hour are being registered.

Major racing event of the early summer season and forerunner to the Altoona Speedway's annual Labor Day classic, the 100-mile race Saturday will establish the winner as the chief threat of the national championship campaign conducted by the Central States Racing Association which is sanctioning the classic.

The 100-mile race Saturday is the only major dirt track event on the summer schedule of the national circuit.

MARKED INCREASE IN PENN STATE APPLICATIONS

Although the majority of high school seniors who expect to go to college this fall have not yet decided what college to enter, applications for admission to the Pennsylvania State College for the academic year 1938-39 are already more than 21 per cent ahead of last year, according to figures released by William S. Hoffman, registrar.

The number of applicants for entrance to Penn State will constitute a more serious problem for the administrative officers of the college this year than ever before, Mr. Hoffman said. In the face of this situation he advised members of the faculty that he would have to continue to enforce objective standards of admission, making absolutely no exceptions. No other procedure would be fair when competition for admission is so keen, he declared.

For years Mr. Hoffman has been faced with the necessity of turning away many qualified students as he could accept. Last year, with an entering class of 1400, he was forced to turn away more than 1000 and to discourage hundreds of others from making formal application. In spite of efforts to hold the enrollment down to figures decreed by maximum efficiency, the continual pressure of the rising tide of applicants took registration figures across the 6000 mark for the first time in the history of the institution.

"There are two things which keep the institution from accepting a larger number of students," Mr. Hoffman said. "One is the size of the present staff. The other is the size of the present physical plant."

"With the completion of the General State Authority's building program the institution will be in a position to provide the physical facilities for accommodating a larger student body. It is expected that the building program will be completed by the fall of 1939.

"Additional personnel will be necessary, however, before the institution will be able to admit any considerably larger number of students than it has been admitting during the last few years."

SHEARING CONTESTS ARE WELL ATTENDED

More than a thousand farmers attended the three sheep-shearing contests and method demonstrations recently conducted at Indiana, Mercer and Waynesburg, according to W. B. Connell, livestock extension specialist at the Pennsylvania State College who assisted with the program.

"The first sheep-shearing contest in Pennsylvania was in Lancaster county in 1826," Mr. Connell reports. "Last year Lawrence county had a contest. Because of the intense interest shown by shepherds, three contests were staged this spring."

Farmers from many counties participated in this year's competitions. Wool growers associations sponsored the contest with the agricultural extension division of the college co-operating.

Five hundred persons say J. Raymond Henderson of Hickory, with the contest at Waynesburg. He sheared two sheep with a machine in 11 minutes, 30 seconds, scoring 98.5 out of a possible 100. Frank Phillips of Dunn Station, clipped a sheep in 18 minutes, scoring 99.8 points, to win the hand shearing event. At Mercer and Indiana only machines were used, with Q. R. Tait of Mercer, and Thomas Coleman of Clarksburg, taking top honors.

$450,024 FEDERAL FUNDS FOR COUNTY HIGHWAYS

Congressman Don Gingery has been notified that the President has approved an allotment of Federal funds in the sum of $337,576 to improve highways throughout Centre county by grading, providing drainage, widening shoulders and pavements, eliminating hazards and performing other incidental work. This is not a part of the Federal Aid Highway System, and is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways. Headquarters for the purpose of supervision will be located at Clearfield.

At the same time Congressman Gingery announced an allotment of Federal funds in the sum of $112,478 to improve highways throughout Centre county, by landscaping, draining and performing appurtenant work. This is State-owned property and is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, with headquarters for the purpose of supervision located at DuBois.

Look!

EVEN THE SHADE HELPS TO MAKE MORE LIGHT!

I.E.S. Lamps Have Reflector Linings

It's no "accident" that I.E.S. lamps give good light. They're purposely built to make seeing so easy for you that your eyes actually become rested.

For instance, the bulb is large enough to provide ENOUGH light. A white "bowl" diffuses it evenly so that there are NO SHADOWS or GLARE. Even the shade helps to make more light, because it has a reflector lining.

You can't get a better bargain in lamps than in I.E.S. lamps. Look them over in the dealers' stores.

FOR THE I.E.S. TAGS
DON'T be satisfied with a lamp that merely resembles an I.E.S. lamp. If there's an I.E.S. tag on the base, and another on the shade, then you KNOW it's an I.E.S. lamp.
