John M. Keichline Succumbs to Illness

(Continued from page one) of the organization will be held in the Court Room at 1:30 o'clock Friday afternoon, just before the funeral services, at which time a committee of attorneys will submit a minute upon the life of Mr. Keichline.

The services will be held at 2:30 o'clock Friday afternoon from the E. E. Wildwood Funeral Home, North Allegheny street. The Rev. H. Willis Hartsock, pastor of the Bellefonte Methodist-Episcopal church, will be in charge, and interment will be made in the Union cemetery.

A great-grandson of the late Peter Keichline, first mayor, first magistrate and first sheriff of Easton, Northampton county, Mr. Keichline was a descendant of one of the early Pennsylvania families. He was a son of the late Peter Keichline, native of Northampton county who as a boy walked from Easton to Aaronsburg to serve an apprenticeship as a blacksmith. His mother was Sarah Long, who at the time of her marriage on August 15, 1838, was a resident of Aaronsburg, but who was a native of Buffalo Valley, Union township.

Squire Keichline, as he was generally known in Bellefonte, was born at Aaronsburg on October 12, 1846. He received his early education in the schools of that locality and later attended the Normal School at Rebersburg, the Boalsburg Academy, and the Pine Grove Mills Academy. After teaching school for several years at the Glades school, Ferguson township, he studied in the law offices of Bush & Yeoum, Bellefonte. During his teaching career he was instructor of Former Sheriff W. Miles Walker, now residing on East Linn street, Bellefonte.

Upon his admission to the Bar in 1874, Mr. Keichline engaged actively in that profession until some years ago when he became interested in politics. He was elected overseer of the poor, tax collector, and finally Justice of the Peace of Bellefonte. He served in the latter office for a number of years, having been appointed to the post three times and having been elected once. His last term expired the first of this year. Despite his long association as a member of the minor judiciary, Mr. Keichline's first love was the active practice of law.

On October 11, 1876, at Middleburg, Mr. Keichline was married to Miss Sarah Louise Wagner, daughter of the late John M. and Susanna Hahn Wagner, of Bellefonte. The bride was 22 years of age at the time of her wedding, and two years ago the aged couple celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. Mrs. Keichline, who will be 84 years of age on June 22, is in excellent health and is remarkably well preserved for her years.

To their union were born four children, namely: Dr. John Keichline, of Huntingdon; Miss Daisy Keichline, nurse in the Bellefonte public schools; Edward L. Keichline, local insurance representative; Miss Anna Keichline, Bellefonte architect. Other survivors include one brother, the venerable Peter F. Keichline, of Willowbank street, Bellefonte; eight grandchildren—all children of Dr. John Keichline—namely: Sarah, wife of John Charles, Middleburg; Samuel, Pittsburgh; Susannah, Atlantic City; and Mary, Ella, Helen, John and Martha, all at home in Huntingdon. One great-grandchild, Charles John Charles, of Middleburg, also survives.

Following their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Keichline went to housekeeping in a house on Howard street, Bellefonte, near the Union cemetery. Later they moved to the residence on North Allegheny street now occupied by Thomas Hamilton, Bellefonte's oldest citizen. About 1886 they moved to their present home on East Bishop street which Mr. Keichline built at that time.

Politically Mr. Keichline was always a staunch member of the Democratic party. He was a member of the P. O. S. of A. and of the I. O. O. F. lodges and also was a member of the now defunct G. K. E. Castle in Bellefonte.

On the occasion of the 60th wedding anniversary of himself and Mrs. Keichline, the veteran attorney was presented with a large electric percolator by the Bar Association. At that time Mr. Keichline declared that he owed his long life and apparently inexhaustible vitality to the constant and liberal use of coffee. A dozen cups a day was nothing unusual for him, and he often amazed his friends and neighbors by the tireless energy he displayed about the home and in the garden, even after he had passed the age when most men have difficulty in walking.

Born in an age when farmers got out of bed by candle light and when the boys were expected to arise at the same time, Mr. Keichline formed a habit of early rising which remained with him throughout his life. It was not unusual to see him on the street or in his office, as recently as last year, at 6:30 and 7 o'clock in the morning, and he almost invariably was on duty until 8:30 or 9 o'clock in the evening.

CATCHES ANOTHER BIG ONE

Hiram Greenland, Karthaus postmaster, who has been showing some of the Bellefonte anglers a few things about catching large trout out of Logans Branch, gave the boys another lesson about 8:15 o'clock Sunday evening when he hauled a 25-inch brown trout out of that stream. The trout weighed 6 1/2 pounds and measured 13 1/2 inches in girth. Greenland, brother of Clayton Greenland, of Bellefonte, caught the trout on live bait.

Mystery Shrouds Missing Circus Troup

The store had been a large glass case containing a White Mouse Circus, with 13 performing members. The ferris wheel, Merry-go-rounds, loop-the-loop and other pieces of circus equipment were operated by the 13 jolly white mice who entertained themselves and spectators with antics on the various wheels.

Mr. Yeager, who was stationed upon glancing in the window to find not a sign of activity in the circus "lot." There wasn't a mouse in sight, and the circus cage had the appearance of a village hastily deserted by residents fearful of some dire catastrophe. A card-board street bearing the legend "Keds Mouse Circus," fastened to the upper edge of the rear wall of the glass case, was torn loose at one corner and the surface of the sign was scratched and torn.

The tail of a white mouse was wedged gruesomely in the slightly open joint between the rear and side wall of the case, and on the outside immediately below the tail, was a tiny heap of white fur and a few drops of blood. Along the top of the case—the only exit from the cage—innumerable tiny footprints testified as to unusual activity during the night, but for the rest, investigators are faced by an impenetrable veil of mystery.

The theory of mass murder by a rat has been advanced by some, but there is nothing to substantiate this belief. For the only signs of mayhem were the few drops of blood and the dismembered tail. Had a murderous rat invaded the case, it is believed that there would be definite evidence, such as pieces of mousehide, perhaps a few bones, and certainly some blood.
