

Democrats Profit From Republicans Fifty-Dollar Bet

Republican Leader Malcolm Baldrige of Omaha, Neb., tossed fifty $1 bills from an airplane over the business district and the Democrats profited.

Baldrige, acting Douglas County G. O. P. chairman, bet W. C. Fraser, Omaha attorney and Republican party member, that at least forty of the bills would be found by persons interested enough in the Republican campaign to return them to G. O. P. headquarters there.

At high noon an airplane soared over the business area and Dorothy Elanston, G. O. P. employe, dropped the bills, attached to envelopes addressed to party headquarters.

The Democrats entered the picture when James Guerin, president of the Douglas County Young Democrats Club, and John Owens, registered Democrat, found the first two envelopes.

"They replied 'Spend it,' when asked what they would do with the dollar they found."

The loser of the Baldrige-Praster bet will pay the $50.

PLEASANT GAP FIREMEN HOLD SUCCESSFUL CARNIVAL

The four-day carnival conducted at the ball park by the Pleasant Gap firemen has proven a great success in spite of two nights of rain.

The members realize that only through the fine support of many surrounding towns was success possible. State College, Bellefonte and Howard especially gave support in sending equipment and men to participate in the parade. The Pleasant Gap Company hopes to make the carnival an annual event and already plans are being made for a number of special features for next year.

The fine new modern pumper was displayed at the grounds each night as a symbol of the protection patrons may expect in their homes and on their farms.

The company wishes to again thank all who aided with the carnival, and the many organizations, business houses and public-spirited citizens for their liberal donations in cash and material during the week.

Winners of awards given away Saturday night were: L. Lowery, of Howard, a large radio; Kenneth Walker, Lemont, bridge set, table and four chairs; Mrs. Ruth Noll, Pleasant Gap, metal porch chair, and Warner Breton, Aze Mann, mid-get radio.

MILLIONTH P. C. A. LOAN

July 9th, the productive credit system closed the millionth cooperative farm loan since organization late in 1933 when the Peru, Indiana association made a loan to Harley K. Moore of Logansport to pay taxes, finance his feeder cattle operations, and pay current farm expenses, according to advice received this week by William H. Bishop, secretary-treasurer of the Hollidaysburg Production Credit Association.

Mr. Moore, who has been using production credit facilities since 1934, obtained a budgeted loan July 9. The money will be advanced to him during the season as he needs it, and he expects to repay it from the sale of hogs and cattle. He says that he likes this method of financing his farm operations because it reduces the cost, as he pays interest only for the exact number of days he has each dollar.

He also has a cooperative long-term mortgage loan which he obtained four years ago from the Federal Land Bank system through his county national farm loan association to purchase the farm he had rented for 13 years.

Mr. Bishop said that the Hollidaysburg association is one of eleven production credit associations in this state. Organized in 1934, the members now own stock amounting to $13,215.00, 7 per cent of the total capital and have a built-up reserve of $9,700.00 to protect their investment and assure the permanency of the organization.

18 Fresh Egg Law Violators Nabbed

Farmers' markets for fresh eggs were protected by eighteen arrests made Monday by the agents of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture.

In one raid food agents seized 93,000 eggs classified as "incubator rejects" and alleged to be consigned to bakeries in another State. They were destroyed as unfit for human consumption.

The truck driver, in whose possession the 93,000 rotten eggs were found, testified that the eggs were purchased from commercial hatcheries in Juniata county after they had failed to hatch and that he had been instructed to deliver them to a point in New Jersey. He said they would change hands four times between the hatchery and the baker and that the baker would pay $250 a case for them. He failed to identify the other parties involved, explaining that his truck was loaded and unloaded in his absence.

According to Elmer E. Harter, Jr., director of the Bureau of Foods and Chemistry, racketeering in spoiled eggs has been broken up in this State with the exception of some smuggling of Pennsylvania "incubator rejects" into neighboring States. Federal and State agents are constantly on the lookout for these smugglers.

Pennsylvania bakeries are carefully supervised by the Bureau of Foods and Chemistry.

OLD RURAL MAIL BOXES TO BE WARRAL ON AUG. 1 TO 6

What is the condition of your rural mail box? The spotlight of the entire nation will be focused on it during the week of August 1-6, which has been designated by the Post Office Department as "Clean-Up Rural Mail Box Week."

As a matter of community pride it is urged that every resident on our rural routes examine his box carefully and determine whether it measures up to the required standard. Unserviceable and unsightly rural mail boxes both retard the delivery of mail and detract from the natural scenic beauty of the highway. Particularly to be deplored are the non-regulation, old type, top-opening boxes, as well as makeshift receptacles which expose mail to the elements. There are two sizes of the standard type of open-end boxes. No. 1 is a small one and No. 2 a much larger one designed for persons who receive many parcel post packages and who live far from the road.

Just now one of the concerns making government approved boxes has a special sale on for the No. 1 box—and if you have one that is not standard you can get a new one with your name painted on it for only 75 cents. In addition, you will get a stencil of your name so that when you want to repaint it the job will be easy. All you have to do is give your rural carrier 75 cents. He will do the rest, order and deliver the box to you free of any further charge.

As motorists along our highways invariably judge a community by the condition of their rural mail boxes, it can readily be seen that proper attention should be given the boxes as a matter of good business.

Let's show the world we appreciate our rural mail boxes, which have been aptly described as "the symbol of rural America."

The condition of your rural mail box, as a matter of fact, is a serious matter. The box is the receptacle for millions of dollars worth of money orders, valuable documents and priceless letters.

It is urged that our clubs and civic organizations take cognizance of this important week because they can play a prominent part in helping to make it a success.

It seems our plain duty to resolve to aid our postal friends in eradicating any undesirable rural mail boxes in our community, as well as dressing all of them up in Sunday clothes.

FILES PROTEST AGAINST MARRIED WOMEN WORKING

In a letter to the editor of the Philadelphia Inquirer, W. Hazel, of Bellefonte, files a protest against the employment of married women. Mr. Hazel's letter follows: "We have been making a little survey of the unemployment situation, especially among the young people, and have drawn a conclusion which we feel is worth recommending."

"We find almost one-half of the young ladies employed today are married, and these very people should be establishing a home. Some of them have children and employ someone to look after them. This really does not seem fair, and all children should have the companionship of their parents. The more the married girls are permitted to work, the less they will want to have families and establish homes."

"It is not making openings for the younger people coming out of the many schools of our country today, which is unfair. You know, a few years back when a girl married she did not want to retain her position."

"We inquired at one place where there were 10 or 12 ladies employed, and half of them are married. Some of their husbands are engaged professionally and every one of them working."

"Of course, there are exceptions. In some cases there are aged parents dependent on this person, or illness, but these can be proven and taken care of."

W. HAZEL, Bellefonte, Pa., July 16."

Five Years Too Long to Await Husband's Train

Five years is too long to wait for any train, even if you expect your husband to be on it.

This is the opinion of Mrs. Vera Taggart, of Chicago, who spent five years waiting for the train which her husband, James, had promised to take to join her in Sioux City, Iowa.

Thursday, she decided James probably never even had caught the train, so she appeared in court to ask for a divorce on the grounds of desertion.

She explained her husband had bought tickets in September, 1933, for her and their son, James, Jr., to visit relatives in Sioux City. The elder Taggart was detained at the last moment, but promised to join them the next day.

"He promised to take the next train," said Mrs. Taggart, "but I've been meeting trains in Sioux City for five years, and he hasn't arrived there yet."

Mrs. Taggart got her decree and $15 a week alimony besides.

The only way we know of to finish hard work is to work hard.
