Bomb Murderer Dies in Chair

(Continued from page one) the chair at 12:31 a. m. and two minutes later the prison physician announced he was dead. In a simple, one-sentence statement, given out later by Warden Stanley P. Ashe, the courteous German veteran forgave those who sent him to his death.

Dr. W. R. Heaton, of Phillipsburg, Centre county Coroner, viewed the body at the Wetler Funeral Home, Milesburg, Thursday morning, and after conducting an investigation deemed an inquest unnecessary, declaring that the crash was undoubtedly the result of the driver having fallen asleep.

Charles H. Smith was a son of George W. and Ida Wilson Smith and was born in Spring township on February 10, 1915, making his age at time of death 23 years, 5 months and 4 days. He is survived by his mother, with whom he resided at Bush Addition, near town. Also surviving are the following brothers and sisters: Mrs. Cillie Holkobaugh and George, at home; Mrs. William Miller, William, Samuel, Lewis and John, all of Bush Addition; Mrs. Fred Blair and Mrs. John Lucas, Bellefonte, and Mrs. Roy Rider, of Coleville.

For the past two years Mr. Smith had been employed as Centre county agent for the Baltimore Life Insurance Company. Prior to that time he clerked in the A. and P. store on West High street, Bellefonte. He formerly was a Bellefonte High school student and last summer took special work at the Pennsylvania State College summer session.

Thompson Flays Earle Accusers

General business was transacted with Mrs. Lucy H. Merrill, of Phillipsburg, regional director of the Federation, presiding. The district comprises Jefferson, Clearfield, Centre and Elk counties.

Among those who attended the meeting for members were: Miss Maude Miller, Bellefonte, vice chairman of the Centre County Democratic party; Mrs. M. Dillman, president, Brookville Women's Democratic Club; Mrs. Stella Zimmerman, Clearfield, Centre county president; Mrs. Norman Watson, president of Clearfield club, and Mrs. James Carroll, president of the Phillipsburg club.

"Women who know the answers to government today and who know political problems as well as the true conditions are the women who are going to help the Democratic party continue its success in the November elections," Mrs. Flohr, State President of Democratic Women's Clubs said, referring to personal property taxes, she said, "Tax opponents hit high taxes, but the very same people are in position to pay more taxes today because their incomes have increased immeasurably." On industries leaving Pennsylvania because of tax and labor conditions, Mrs. Flohr said: "Some corporations are leaving the State because they know they cannot exploit labor in Pennsylvania as they can do in the South."

Mrs. Lucy Merrill paid a tribute to officers of the club for the excellent manner in which they handled the district clubs to continue their march forward, and thanked the various committees for their work in the past.

Other speakers included: Congressman Don Ginery, who discussed national recovery measures, and major legislation, Roosevelt regime; John W. Decker, Assembly member from Centre county; Dr. F. K. White, of Phillipsburg, state committeeman from this county; Blake Shugarts, former Clearfield assemblyman; Ward Maines, candidate for assembly to succeed Shugarts; Hon. Ruth Horting, Lancaster, one of the two women members of the House of Representatives; Mrs. Gertrude B. Fuller, Harrisburg, director of the State Museum; Miss Marie Bickert, Philadelphia, second vice president of State Women's Federation, and others.

Hold Meeting at Stormstown. The Women's Democratic Club of Centre county held an enthusiastic meeting Tuesday night at the old Clemons homestead, near Stormstown, the affair being in the form of a lawn party. Upwards of 500 persons were present and parking space on the spacious grounds was at a premium.

After a short business session, a speaking program in charge of Mrs. Lucy H. Merrill, of Phillipsburg, was held, the speakers including Congressman Don Ginery; State Senator Edward Jackson Thompson, Assemblyman John W. Decker, Yates Catlin, of Harrisburg, and a Mrs. Burke, of Scranton.

The evening's festivities concluded with a social hour, during which refreshments were served by the club.

26-INCH BROWN TROUT CAUGHT IN SPRING CREEK. Charles Baughman, aged about 20, of Fifth Avenue, Bellefonte, proved again that the large trout in local streams if you know where to find them, Monday afternoon when he pulled a 26-inch brown trout out of the waters of Spring Creek, near the John McCoy powerhouse north of town.

The trout weighed five and three-fourths pounds, and was caught on a nightcrawler. Baughman took his prize to the Confer taxidermy shop in Milesburg to have it mounted.

Decision Dooms Fairbrook Branch

When the line went into operation from Bellefonte to Tyrone on October 1, 1930, it represented an investment on the part of the Bellefonte Central of about $350,000, officials of that railroad report.

Trouble began with the opening of the road, for at that time, officers of the Fairbrook Branch, the Pennsylvania Railroad failed to issue rates for lime and stone from Bellefonte to Tyrone over the B. C. R. R., claiming that the Bellefonte Central's haul of 43 miles was considerably in excess of the Pennsylvania's route of 33 miles to Tyrone through Bald Eagle Valley.

Bellefonte Central officials declared that when faced with this problem, they had a railroad with practically nothing to haul over it. They operated the line for 28 months until February 1, 1933, when they asked for and were granted an embargo on inbound shipments over the Fairbrook Branch. Officers said that in the 28 months they shipped 8 carloads of freight originating along the branch, and delivered 170 carloads of incoming freight. They explained that the major reason for the purchasing and rebuilding of the Fairbrook Branch was to enable the Bellefonte Central to haul lime and stone from plants nearby Bellefonte to Tyrone before turning it over to the Pennsylvania Railroad.

An oral hearing in the matter was held before the 11 members of the I. C. C. on April 8, 1937, and the decision was filed July 5, 1938, but was not made public until this week. Of the 11 members who heard the argument, 7 denied the Bellefonte Central's plea; 3 dissented, and 1 member was not represented in the decision.

Railroad men point out that it is customary for railroads to take the long haul on freight originating on their lines. In other words, when a patron along their lines gives them a shipment, the railroads try to take it as far as possible toward its destination before turning it over to another railroad.

The I. C. C.'s decision in the present case denies the Bellefonte Central the right to take the long haul holding that freight, including lime and limestone from Bellefonte plants, must be turned over to the Pennsylvania Railroad at Bellefonte.

The Commission bases its action upon a law which prohibits that body from ruling upon what roads shall get the long haul. Correction of this restriction upon the Commission was included in railroad legislation scheduled to have been enacted at the recent session of Congress, but when Congress adjourned before getting around to railroad matters, the expected legislation was not forthcoming.

Bellefonte Central executives yesterday indicated that there are now only two courses open to them. One is to appeal to the United States Supreme Court, and the other is to ask for permission to abandon the Fairbrook Branch.

If the road is abandoned, a temporary rate structure existing until final determination of the case may be revised.

Interpreting the whole situation, a railroad man yesterday said the I. C. C. gave the Bellefonte Central permission to buy the Fairbrook Branch; to repair it and to build the missing link between State College and Slover, Monday's decision, it was declared, denies the road the right to carry over its new trackage the revenue-producing freight for which the road was purchased and repaired.

Yesterday Bellefonte Central officials here had no information as to whether they will appeal to the Supreme Court or abandon the line.

Police Guards Seek Fugitive

(Continued from page one) substations, and from the Bellefonte headquarters. In addition, three cars bearing capacity loads of Rockview guards and officials concentrated near the Paul Kerstetter farm, where the "suspicious-looking" man was reported to have been seen.

Spreading out fanwise, the 20 or more police and guards proceeded to comb the area thoroughly. While they were in the woods and fields a terrific shower broke, and the men, in addition to being soaked to the hide, were covered with mud and briars. Finally one group of officers came to a nearby farm. There was the suspicious-looking man they were searching for. He turned out to be the brother of the farmer, who had come here for a visit and who was seen along the highway while out for a walk looking over the country.

Cooper, who is still at large, was sentenced from Allegheny county to serve from 4 to 10 years for burglary. Transferred to Rockview he was assigned to a gang engaged in cutting and hauling timber near the prison sawmill. Monday afternoon, while in the woods near the sawmill, Cooper slipped away while a guard's attention was attracted elsewhere. His absence was soon noticed, and prison officials immediately instituted a search. Up to this time, Cooper is still at large, as is George Trainor, who made good his escape from Rockview on June 23. Cooper weighs 125 pounds, is 5 feet 3 1/2 inches tall, has blue eyes and brown hair. He is well tanned.

Proposed Law Provides Tax For Plumbing

(Continued from page 1) increase the cost of plumbing in two ways. First there is the permit fee, which ranges from $2.50 for installing one tap, to $14.00 for installing plumbing in a four-apartment building. Secondly, the plumber will have to include in his bill the time it will require to draw up plans of the proposed additions or changes to plumbing—and it is understood that these plans will have to be quite complete to pass inspection.

A number of Councilmen Monday night expressed open dissatisfaction with the proposed law. Other Councilmen expressed the belief that a scale of fees for permits and inspection could be pared down. Another Councilman voiced his opinion with the question: "What is the reason for this?" The answer is that the State requires boroughs to pass plumbing regulations, although nothing was said about whether any measure has been brought to have Bellefonte enact the legislation.

The scale of permit fees suggested in the ordinance prepared by Borough Solicitor M. Ward Fleming, is as follows:

One fixture or outlet $2.50 Two do do do 3.50 3 to 5 do do do 5.50 Bathroom 5.50 2 bathrooms 8.00 Duplex house plumbing 10.00 Double house plumbing 12.00 Apartment bids, 4 apta. 14.00 Replacement of trap. 75

The ordinance calls for extra charges for homes or buildings having more plumbing fixtures than the usual amount.

Penalties for plumbers who fail to comply with the law are: for first offense, a fine of $10 to $50 for every day violation was committed; second offense, fine of $20 to $100 for every day of violation; third offense, fine of $20 to $100 for every day, or 30 days in jail, or both.

Property owners who violate the law can be fined from $10 to $50 for the first offense; $20 to $100 for the second offense, and for the third infraction the penalty is a fine of $20 to $100 or 30 days in jail, or both.

After a discussion Council decided to determine whether the fees for permits can not be reduced before taking definite action on the ordinance. The appointment of Philip Saylor some weeks ago as Borough Plumbing Inspector has been approved by the State Department of Health.

The Department of Health reported that the application prepared for submission to the PWA for aid in constructing a sewage disposal plant is sufficiently detailed for that purpose.

In a response to a request, Council notified the County Commissioners that water and sewage service would be made available to a County Poor Home if it is located on the Beaver tract at Howard and Wilson streets, or on the Hepburn tract on Burnside street.

In a letter from Solicitor Fleming, the matter of James R. Hughes' claim for a refund on the cost of building water and sewage lines on East Bishop street is reviewed thoroughly, and the opinion is expressed that the borough owns all water and sewer facilities to the borough line, and that the Fidelity Title and Trust Company, of Pittsburgh, which bought the Academy property at Sheriff's sale, owns all the water and sewage lines on the former Hughes athletic field. The Solicitor recommended that the borough take immediate steps to purchase the lines from the Pittsburgh Trust Company.

Residents of East Curtin street petitioned Council to repair that street, calling attention to holes and depressions which they claim have caused springs on cars to break. No action was taken on the petition.

Council took final steps to empower the Solicitor to enter liens against property owners who are delinquent in payment of water rents. Notices to this effect are being sent to delinquents. If this measure fails to bring results, water service to delinquents may be discontinued.

A report on the condition of the Borough budget shows the borough to be operating well within its income. Of the total budget of $25,963.79, expenditures to date are $2,386.65, leaving a balance of $17,577.14.

The Fire and Police Committee was instructed to have all fire hose given a thorough test before fall, and to have the roof of the Logan Fire House given a fresh coat of protective paint. The committee also was instructed to replace rotted beams supporting the bell in the Logan House, with steel beams.

Borough police are to be given the power to accept bond from persons they arrest. This action was taken so persons arrested on minor charges can post bond on the spot to appear at a preliminary hearing. In order to keep the records straight, police are to be supplied with bond books, in which receipts issued to arrested persons will be drawn in triplicate.
