It's the Better Light that Makes I. E. S.* Lamps Popular

THE big reason why so many I. E. S. lamps are in use is that they provide such excellent light.

Make this interesting test: Go to the home of a friend who has an old style lamp-and at least one I. E. S. lamp. Sit by the I. E. S. lamp and read a newspaper for a couple of minutes. You'll observe the abundance of light-and how easy it is to read by, how easy on the eyes. No bothersome shadows dance across the paper, there is no glare.

Now try the old style lamp. At once you'll notice the dim-ness of the light, the presence of shadows-and the glare of the unprotected bulb. You'll squint in trying to read-or hold the paper closer to you. You'll instantly prefer the I. E. S. lamp. See the latest I. E. S. models at the local stores. They're beautiful-and moderately priced.

41. E. S.—Abbreviation for Illuminating Engineering Society, the non-profit erganization that developed this lamp to provide better light for better sight.

Look FOR THE I. E. S. TAGS DON'T be satisfied with a lamp that merely recembles an I.E.S. lamp. If there's an I.E.S. tag on the base, and another on the shade, then you KNOW it's an I.E.S. lamp.
