The conference was largely devoted to a discussion of questions concerning greater efficiency in making short term loans to finance farm operations. The various directors attending the conference submitted questions and participated freely in the discussions.

Fugitives Are Still At Large

making strenuous efforts to learn who aided the men by replacing the bench, but up until last night their quest had been unsuccessful. Spangler's brother, George Spangler, also a Coburn CCC member and involved in the same series of robberies as his brother, William, was in jail at the time, but apparently made no attempt to leave with his brother and the other two men.

When the jail break was discovered Sheriff Keeler immediately notified State Motor Police at Rockview and Pleasant Gap, and tele-type messages were sent to police throughout this and adjoining states. Police who took part in a search Friday afternoon were of the opinion that the three men walked through Curtin Gap to Curtin where they probably boarded a westbound freight. Late Friday afternoon the men answering the description of the fugitives were reported to have been seen in the Altoona yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

G-men entered the hunt Friday afternoon when they arrived here to take into custody Sullenberger, who is wanted on a federal charge. They knew nothing of the jail break until they arrived at the jail to find their prisoner. Upon being informed that he had fled, the Federal men immediately notified the F. B. I. in Washington, and that far-flung organization is taking part in the hunt for Sullenberger.

The theory has been advanced that Spangler and Walker, long residents of Bald Eagle Valley, are familiar with this section of the country, and that they engineered the flight from this area. Sullenberger, it is believed, may have taken the other two to Virginia, where he is supposed to have his residence.

Sullenberger was apprehended in Phillipsburg Tuesday of last week by State Motor Police on charges of the larceny of an automobile and operating a car without a license. Because he drove the stolen car from one state to another he violated Federal laws and the FBI was notified. He was to have been returned to Virginia as soon as FBI agents came here for him.

Both Spangler and Walker have previous criminal records. They, together with Spangler's brother and George Thomas, were held in custody in court on Monday morning on charges of breaking, entering and larceny in connection with a series of robberies in the county during the past month. When the case was called Monday, Judge Ivan Walker declared that none of the defendants will be brought before the bar of justice until it is determined whether the fugitives will be apprehended within a reasonable time.

Last Friday's break was the first escape to occur during Sheriff Harry V. Keeler's term of office.

Illness Fatal To A. E. Schad

serious, and word of his death the following morning came as a great shock to his many friends throughout this area.

Albert Ellsworth Schad was a son of Charles F. and Julia Frederica Schad and was born at Ravenna, Ohio, on December 25, 1870, making his age at time of death 67 years, 7 months and 4 days. During his youth the family resided for a short time in Pittsburg. Coming to Bellefonte about 1887 Mr. Schad entered into a partnership with his brother, the late Rudolph Schad, in the plumbing business, and continued to conduct the shop alone after his brother's death.

On November 12, 1894 in Bellefonte, Mr. Schad was united in marriage with Miss Esther Sara Leitzell, who survives with two sons, Louis Schad and Franklin Schad, both of Bellefonte. The only other survivor in the immediate family is a brother, Charles Schad, of Bellefonte.

Mr. Schad was a member of the Bellefonte Presbyterian church, and the I. O. O. F., and B. P. O. E. lodge here. Funeral services were held Monday afternoon from the home on East Curtin street, in charge of the Rev. William C. Thompson, pastor of the Presbyterian church. Interment was made in the Union cemetery.

At the turn of the present century Mr. Schad became interested in the real estate business and purchased a number of homes in the Bellefonte area. About 1910 he erected a number of brick homes at the intersection of Spring and Lamb streets, and later built and purchased properties in State College. As a landlord his generous nature oftentimes resulted in financial loss to himself, but it was his nature to prefer a loss rather than incur the enmity of those who occupied his properties.

Quiet and gentlemanly in manner, Mr. Schad had a legion of friends who sincerely regret his death and who extend their sympathies to the bereaved family.

Block Efforts. The efforts of authorities to wipe out man-eating lions in Africa are being blocked by native witch doctors who make a big profit from the sale of charms against such beasts. On several occasions lion trails have been obliterated to prevent the game rangers from tracking and killing the lions.

Lightning Kills Animals. Two registeredagle hounds belonging to Charles Kile, near Bloomsburg, were killed when a bolt struck a tree, followed a wire on which the metal leashes of the dogs were connected by metal collars.

A cow owned by Lee Harding, near Lairdsville, was killed by lightning while standing against a metal fence.

Jimmy Hughes Local 'Detective' distant from Bellefonte. Armed with this information and accompanied by Sheriff Harry V. Keeler, and Elwood Johnson, of Bellefonte, Mr. Hughes two weeks ago drove to the nearby city, located the man and nabbed from him a pledge to send photographs to every one at the reunion from whom he had collected 50 cents two years ago and to furnish Mr. Hughes with a list of names of those who had ordered them, for checking purposes. At first the man insisted that he had mailed the photos as promised, but under pressure he finally agreed to settle the matter.

At this time, Mr. Hughes reports, members of the Holter-Schenck and Pletcher families are receiving their pictures by registered mail, and coming as it does at the height of the reunion season in Centre County, Mr. Hughes believes the incident may prove of value to members of other families who may be victimized by itinerant photographers. The matter also proves that the same methods and the same relentless investigation which kept light-fingered students at the former Academy on the straight and narrow path, are equally effective in handling similar guilty outside of educational institutions.

sons, and which is scheduled to close August 6, be extended for this effect is to be made at once to WPA officials at DuBois. The borough's share of the cost of the project will be $400 for the year.

A report on the tax duplicate for 1938 shows the total assessed valuation of property in the borough at $1,980,360. A 13-mill levy for general purposes would total $25,722.51, and a 2-mill levy for interest would return $3,960.72, or a total anticipated tax revenue of $29,709.23.

The water pump at the Gamble Mill was reported to be in need of repairs if the pump is to give satisfactory service for any considerable length of time in the future. Council decided to replace several worn bearings immediately, at a cost of about $150 and to decide in the near future whether it would be best to have the present drive gear overhauled or install an entirely new drive unit connecting the water wheel to the pump. Such changes would entail the closing of the pumping station for several weeks, during which time the electric pumps at the Big Spring would have to run almost continuously. In order to minimize the expense of operating electric pumps the matter will be studied further before any action is taken.

The Finance Committee reported as follows: Borough department: balance, $362.36, and bills, $2,680.97. Water department: balance $3,632.70 and bills, $544.

It was reported that Burgess Harris has $117.50 from fines and costs to turn over to the borough treasurer. The Fire and Police committee received a check for $35 from the Titan Metal Company covering the cost of having a fire pumper flush sewers at the Titan plant. The Market committee turned in $8.60 from market fee collections.

A lengthy discussion as to inequalities existing in the borough system of determining water rentals was held, but no action was taken. John Weber and three other residents of a new street along the east side of the Catholic cemetery were present in Council to ask that they be given grades for sidewalks, and that the street be paved. They are to be given grades at once, but no action was taken on the paving suggestion.

Samuel Zerby was present to ask Council about a lot he owns on Beaver street and which the borough will require if the street is opened. This matter was referred to the Street Committee.

World War Vet Dies Suddenly

o'clock he was stricken and although he was taken at once to the hospital, he sank rapidly until death ensued. Mr. Knapp, a son of William and Mary Catherine Mowry Knapp, was born in Bellefonte on October 21, 1899, making his age at time of death 42 years, 9 months and 8 days. About 17 years ago he was united in marriage with Dorothy Stover, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Stover, of West Logan street. Surviving are Mrs. Knapp, Edward Kane, of Phoenix avenue, Bellefonte; his wife; two sons, Jay S. and Richard, both at home, and a brother and sister, Charles Knapp and Mrs. Frank Peters, both of Bellefonte.

Although he had been employed by the Titan Metal Company here for the past five years, Mr. Knapp had worked at various times for the Federal Match Company and for the Chemical Lime Company. On May 1, 1917, he enlisted voluntarily, at Fort Thomas, Kentucky, and one the last day of the same month was assigned to the medical department at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis, Ind., where he served in the Post Hospital for 13 months. August 17, 1917, he was promoted to private, first class, after only three months' service. Eight months later, or on April 1, 1918, he was elevated to the rank of Corporal. On the 27th of the same month he was made a Sergeant and on May 22, 1918, he was assigned to duty with the 61st Engineers Medical Department where he remained until the close of the war.

Heavy Loss As Large Barn Burns

tractor, plow and rake were lost as flames leveled to the ground the barn and connecting milk house, and the hog stable a short distance from the barn.

Mr. and Mrs. Stover and youngest son, Glenn, had left early Sunday morning to spend the day in Lancaster, leaving their farmhand, David Long, and their four other children, Paul, Ruth, Bobby and Reynold, at home. The blaze was discovered by members of the family at about 12:30 o'clock noon, and as reported to have originated somewhere inside the barn building. No storm had visited the area during the morning, and the buildings were not wired for electricity, eliminating those two possible causes for the fire.

Democratic Picnic Plans Progressing

contact three prominent Central Pennsylvania bands to give an afternoon and evening concert, and to greet the Democratic candidates at an informal reception to be held in their honor at the Phillips Hotel on the morning of the picnic.

George Peterson, ace parachute jumper of Ginter, who narrowly escaped serious injury when he landed on the tree-lined shore of Black Moshannon lake at last year's Central Pennsylvania Democratic Picnic, has been scheduled for a water parachute jump.

Featured on this year's program will be a complete sports program for boys and girls to be held in the morning. Substantial cash prizes and free picnic dinners will be given to the winners. Home-shoe pitching contests and soft ball games will be played in the afternoon and evening.

Free dancing will be held all day except during the speaking program. The music will be furnished by two local dance orchestras.

The Democratic State Committee will open their fall campaign at Hershey August 27 when the Young Democratic Clubs of Pennsylvania will hold a state-wide "Jamboree."

Following their Hershey appearance the candidates will tour the State entering each of the sixty-seven counties.

Victim of Hornets' Raid

Wells Lowry, 7-year-old son of Prof. and Mrs. W. N. Lowry, is confined to his home in Lewisburg, suffering from numerous hornet stings. The boy was cutting grass when he was stung against the nest in the hedge. The angry insects stung him more than 50 times. A neighbor woman who noticed the boy's plight, and attempted to aid him, was stung several times, also.

"WHY?" The Answer.

to be held in suspense until the accused cannot answer for themselves or, equally important, that the voters cannot arm themselves with the facts before they go to the polling place.

It is for that reason that the Legislature or any other agency can well be engaged in appraising this matter: not only in terms of law but in terms of public policy. There is one thing to which the people are entitled to have before they vote. It is all possible information about candidates for public office. To deprive them of it, even through judicial processes, is to deprive them of what they should have if they are to vote in the light instead of in the dark.

What is needed clearly, whether through legislative enactment or otherwise, is some guarantee that presently or in the future, it will be possible to file charges against a candidate for public office months before election and leave their validity undetermined, the evidence kept under cover the candidate denied the opportunity to defend himself and the voter left uninformed.

From the standpoint of public policy such a situation is as vicious as to protect law-breakers from the consequences of their acts or harass the courts in the administration of justice.

"If there is nothing to be afraid of—why does the Governor so frantically fight investigation?" is the question asked. If the Governor's fear is that the investigation will purposely drag through the remainder of the summer and into the fall up to election day with the charges against him neither proved nor disproved, and with no opportunity for him to know the specific charge and to defend himself, then that is an adequate, natural and reasonable answer to the question.

HOLES IN GLASS TANKS REPAIRED BY 'DENTISTS'

The huge, glass-lined tanks used in manufacturing drugs and chemicals frequently develop small cavities, according to a laboratory worker of the Monsanto Chemical Company in Rockefeller Center, and since the cost of replacing them every few weeks would be prohibitive, a method of repairing them had to be devised. It was discovered that the best way was to fill the cavities with a gold inlay in exactly the same fashion as a dentist fills the cavities in human teeth.

Entering the employ of the Penn's Valley Banking Company as a boy, Mr. Bartholomew arose from the rank of clerk to the office of assistant cashier—a position he held at the time the bank closed his doors some years ago.
