Rescuers Save Avis Man's Life

ard-Hubersburg road intersects, a short distance west of Jacksonville. As the car bearing Holter, Pringle and Weber reached the intersection, the occupants saw Hager become a living torch. The man, crazed by pain, began running blindly but Pringle finally caught him and threw him to the ground in an effort to quench the flames by rolling the man on the ground. Hager broke loose and again began to run to escape the intense heat.

Meanwhile Holter had secured a blanket from the car, and he finally succeeded in catching Hager and throwing him to the ground, wrapping the blanket tightly around him. The flames were smothered immediately. Hager's companion, seated in the car, was unable to render any assistance since he recently lost a leg and has not learned to use an artificial limb.

The man was found to be painfully burned from the knees to the neck, and was rushed to the offices of Dr. Ishler, at Howard, where the burns were treated. Although extremely painful, the burns are not deep-seated and no permanent ill-effects are expected to result. After undergoing treatment, Hager was taken to his home, where he is reported to be resting as comfortably as can be expected under the circumstances.

Boal Funeral To Be Held Friday

past several years, was notified by cable of her husband's death. Colonel Boal was born on June 14, 1867, in Iowa City, Iowa, where the family was located temporarily while his father, the Hon. George Jack Boal, was conducting a series of lectures at the University of Iowa.

He received a bachelor of arts degree from the University of Iowa, from which he was graduated in 1890. Later he studied architecture in Paris and in Rome. While in Paris he met and married Mlle. Mathilde de Lagarde, daughter of a wealthy family of ancient French and Spanish descent. Their only son, Pierre, was born abroad.

In 1898 Colonel Boal brought his wife and son to the United States, locating in Boalsburg where he remodeled his father's home, added to the buildings, laid out gardens and acted as overseer of the extensive Boal farms, which then consisted of more than 4,000 acres of some of the finest agricultural lands in Central Pennsylvania.

In the early years of the World War he served as a quartermaster in a Belgian regiment, while his son, Pierre, was a member of the French Aviation Corps. Pursuing that the United States would undoubtedly be drawn into the conflict, Colonel Boal organized the Machine Gun Troop. The troop, organized and completely outfitted at the personal expense of Col. Boal, officially came into being at a preparedness barbecue at Boalsburg on June 3, 1916, which was attended by Major General Leonard Wood, Col. Boal was elected captain of the new outfit.

For distinguished service on September 27, 1918, near Montblainville, France, Colonel Boal was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

Col. Boal was also an officer of the French Legion of Honor, was awarded the French Croix de Guerre and Palmes Academique and the American Mexican Border Service Medal. After the signing of the Armistice Col. Boal received his commission as Colonel, and served with the army of occupation on the Rhine.

At ceremonies August 30, 1919, a memorial to fallen members of the "Boal Troop," the gift of Colonel Boal, was dedicated. The memorial is at the entrance to the old camp ground. Upon the organization of Nittany Post 245, American Legion, September 22, 1919, Colonel Boal was named its first commander. At a recent reunion of the Society of the 28th Division at Sunbury, he was named honorary president.

Colonel Boal organized the Officers Club 28th Division, A. E. F., donated a club house on the Boal estate to the organization.

Interested in civic as well as military activities, he was instrumental in establishing bus service between Centre county communities and Lewistown. It was largely through his efforts that a water company was formed to give Boalsburg adequate water service. When the Methodist church was discontinued and the building was put up for sale, he purchased it and gave it to the town for use as a town hall and library.

A devout member of the Roman Catholic church, Colonel Boal contributed liberally to the erection and support of Our Lady of Victory Chapel in State College, and built a private chapel on his estate. Beneath the chapel's floor is a crypt where are buried the remains of many of his kin. The chapel is a treasure house of paintings, vestments, candlesticks and tapestries.

For many years Colonel Boal and Madam Boal maintained a home in Washington where they spent the winters.

Funeral services, Friday

Funeral services, with full military honors, will be held Friday, with Col. Wilbur F. Leitzell and Major George M. Mac Mullin, of State College, in charge of arrangements.

Requiem Mass will be held at the Boal chapel at 11:45 o'clock tomorrow morning, with the Rev. Father Owen M. Gallagher, of Our Lady of Victory Chapel, State College, officiating. Following the Mass, the body will be taken to the shrine for the 28th division, where memorial services for fallen members of Co. A, 107th Machine Gun Battalion will be held. This ceremony will be open to the public.

Machine Gun Troop, 103rd Cavalry, Bellefonte, will act as a military escort and music will be provided by the 103rd Cavalry Band. Buglers will be H. R. Mingle, State College, and William H. Jones, Harrisburg, original buglers of the Boal Troop.

Casket bearers will be the sergeants in the original troop, namely: W. W. Barrett, Clearfield; Robert Peters, Boalsburg; R. T. Willard, Bellefonte; J. Harris Holmes, State College; J. R. Johnsonbaugh, Altoona, and Donald Zimmerman, Lewistown.

The services at the shrine will be conducted by the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars, Major Generals William G. Price and Edward T. Shannon will speak.

From the shrine the procession will move to the monument of the Boal Troop, where a wreath will be placed. From there the body will be taken to the Boal Chapel where interment will be made.

An invitation has been issued to all Legion and V. F. W. posts in the tri-county area to attend the rites. All National Guard and reserve officers in the region are requested to wear uniforms. Friends may view the body at the Boal Chapel from 8 to 11:15 a. m. Friday.
