The new GMC 52-passenger school bus which was put into service in Penn township by Henry Glasgow, of Coburn, was purchased through Harold Ard, Woodward agent.

The sale of South Dakota horses by John Gruenwald at the Benner barn, Centre Hall, last Tuesday evening, was well attended. The showing on the south side of the barn was well lighted and afforded ample opportunity to closely examine the animal in it. Most of the horses and colts offered were sold and on Wednesday private sales were made.

Paul Boone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl N. Boone, of Millheim, who recently underwent an operation at the Phillipsburg State Hospital incidental to aiding the growth of one leg, is now suffering from an attack of typhoid fever. The lad had a high temperature for several days, but at this time is reported to be in a more favorable condition.

Drew E. Kolb just recently completed the installation of a 1938 wide range sound amplifying unit and moving picture projection machine for the Mellaphone Corporation, at Camp Devitt. The sanatorium has adequate facilities provided in one of its buildings to show motion pictures for the entertainment of patients and the new equipment, costing $750, now brings it up to date in every detail.

John Musser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stuart Musser, on the H. E. Eye farm along State highway route No. 95, east of Centre Hall, was taken to the Huntingdon hospital by her parents last Tuesday evening. Since early spring she has been having trouble with her right eye and a recent x-ray examination revealed a growth between the ball and the nose. She will submit to a surgical operation in the near future. Jean is a sophomore in Gregg Township Vocational school and was on the honor roll for nearly every month of the last term.

The old-style summer complaint was prevalent among those who attended Grand Fair. Of course the cases ranged from mild to the aggravated, neither welcome.

The new saw mill built by the Meyer Lumber company, on Pine Creek, is about completed. It will take the place of the mill burned several months ago. The machinery is being placed at this time.

The sale of the 52-capacity GMC school bus to a Penn township resident for the transportation of grade pupils to the consolidated grade school at Coburn, makes the fourth vehicle of that type to be sold by the Miller Motor Company.

Wealey J. Hackenberg, of Rebersburg, held the lucky ticket for the animal was captured when quite small and became very tame and was the delight of many children as it roamed about, returning regularly to its cage on every outing but one.

A pet groundhog owned by Clayton Haines at Woodward was run over and killed by a motorist. The animal was captured when quite small and became very tame and was the delight of many children as it roamed about, returning regularly to its cage on every outing but one.

The eight two-hinged rigid frames or arches supporting the roof on the new arena building of the Pennsylvania Farm Show group are 235 feet long, the largest of their kind in the world. The main structure is 309 by 240 feet. There are 7,600 permanent banked seats and space for 6,400 chairs on the arena floor.

Rev. J. J. Weaver, of Rebersburg, relates that in coming over the Snow Shoe Mountain, Tuesday of last week a large black bear, one large enough to have difficulty in getting under the guard cable, ambled across the highway ahead of his car. The animal was in no particular hurry to get off the right-of-way and he put his paws on the cable and went over the top trotting away in the brush.

Boy Scouts To Hold Field Day

ping contest, and an observation event where the keenest of the Scouts eyes will be tested. Complete information on the tournament is being delivered to the Scoutmasters by the district commissioners early this week. The commissioners met at the Seven Mountains Scout Camp on Sunday afternoon to make a final check-up on the preparations for the tournament. At that time they reported that the majority of their troops were planning to participate and were anxious to start practicing for the events.

The camporal is an over-night camping demonstration wherein patrols of Scouts come equipped to spend a night and to prepare supper and breakfast in the open. Their equipment must be efficient for it will have to be packed on their backs as for a hiking camp. Following the tournament the troops entering the camporal will select sites and set up camp for the night. Judges will observe their skill in all phases of camping from the selection of the site to their efficiency in cleaning up as they leave. For Scouts pride themselves on leaving their camp sites in perfect condition. The camporal will come to a close at 10 a. m., on Saturday, which will enable the Scouts to return home in time to attend football games.

Scoutmasters desiring to enter the tournament or camporal should fill out the registration blank and turn it in to their district commissioner immediately. All district commissioners have been furnished with a supply of rules governing the events and the necessary registration blanks. Suitable trophies for troops making "Stardust" in the tournament and camporal have been prepared, and in addition, every Scout who earns points for his troop will receive a personal award in the form of a special neckerchief slide.

Recalls Early Days of Black Moshannon

would hike out together and spend the day here.

Six families at that time lived near the little school house stands. Some of their names were: Barney Groyle, Jim Cole, Charlie Kilts, and George Dunlap. An old hotel, the Antis House, also stood there and there was a toll gate by the bridge. John Gordon was the toll keeper.

The road was known as the Bellefonte Pike and many droves of 100 to 200 cattle were driven over the road to market.

Mr. Siegfried is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Siegfried and was born along Six Mile Run near a forge operated by Dan Ammerman. The forge was 1 1/2 miles down stream from the swimming hole. Mr. Siegfried remembers the old forge where the iron ore was melted and the trip hammer which was worked by a water wheel.

When he was six years old his family moved to Beaver Mills, two miles above the Black Moshannon Bridge. Three years later they moved into what was Black Moshannon proper and lived near the bridge. Mr. Siegfried's father worked on a sawmill and after Isaac was big enough to work he was employed packing shingles in a mill. After he grew he sawed shingles and worked in the woods.

"Now days people say 'it didn't come anything to live in those days, but it did,' Mr. Siegfried stated. "We worked for small wages from daylight to dark and the cost compares with what it does now and we had considerably less."

When he was in his early thirties his family moved to Phillipsburg and built on the top of Windy Hill where family members still live.

Mrs. Isaac Siegfried still lives as do the following children: Miles, Altona; Mrs. Beattie Eckhard, Phillipsburg; Luther, California; and Kenneth, Altona. Mr. Siegfried has a sister, Mrs. Sarah Moffatt of South Phillipsburg, who is four years older than himself. She will observe her 87th birthday in October.

As Mr. Siegfried was interviewed by a Daily Journal representative on his birthday, he stood in a field near his home watching the ground being plowed and sowed with fall wheat. He was taking a keen and active interest in the work and didn't seem to mind the long stand in the hot afternoon sun.

No man is free unless he knows the truth.

JULIAN

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Craig is very ill in the Phillipsburg hospital. She is suffering from an eye infection.

David Adams, who has been spending some time with his daughter Mrs. Mary Hanley of Monument, is visiting at his home here.

Mr. Adams has been seriously ill, having undergone two operations in the Lehigh hospital.

The music held in the M. E. church on Saturday evening Sept. 3rd, was a decided success and all music lovers who attended were agreed it was quite a treat. Mrs. Madeline Dillon (piano teacher) was director and deserves much credit for the rapid advancement of her pupils. Piano solos and duets were rendered by the following pupils: Jane Maurer, Betty Silver, Hubert Alexander, Mary and Smith Richards, also duets by Mrs. Dillon and Hubert Alexander. Guests who took part in the entertainment were as follows: vocal solos by Merrill Alexander, Hattie Crooks and duets by McFadden, piano duet by Mrs. Dorothy Gill and Mrs. Elva Alexander, harjo and accordion duet by Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Matern, piano and saw duet Miss Julia and Mr. Harold Cronster, piano solo by Miss Eleanor Matern. A silver offering was lifted for the church. It certainly is gratifying to know that we have so much musical talent in this locality. Those who failed to attend this event certainly were the losers.

Mrs. E. A. Peters, who has been quite ill, is improving at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Straubach and son of Harrisburg, spent the weekend with Mrs. Straubach's mother Mrs. Martin and sister, Mrs. Harold Alexander.
