

Pennsylvania Won't Bite

James laid stress upon it when he said in his speech:

"I am against waste and extravagance by those in authority... and went on to denounce 'the wolves set loose upon us at Harrisburg.'"

These fine words would carry more weight were it not for the fact that Judge James' candidacy is backed by the most corrupt political ring in this State's history.

We need cite only two of the leaders behind Judge James:

1. John I. McClure, central figure of the notorious Delaware county rum scandals, whose machine for years has been a byword for corruptions of the grosser sort;
2. Former Senator William H. Clark of Chester county, who was convicted of attempting to bribe officials of the Earl Administration, the evidence being all-tight thanks to a ditaphone.

Miner Killed As 3-ton Rock is Dislodged

His movements evidently made the rock slip.

The two partners who were outside the mine at the time heard the roar of the falling rock and rushed inside the mine. Because of the size of the rock it was impossible for them to extricate Grannis from the debris. Grannis' two partners worked with pick and shovel but could not move the rock.

A large jack was finally used to hoist the rock. Grannis was dead when found and had evidently been killed instantly in the rock fall.

The Gordon Heights mine which is located between Peale and Snow Shoe in Centre county had been worked for some time by the three men who were equal partners in the enterprise. No charitable help was employed, all the work being done by the owners.

A three foot B beam was being worked at the mine.

Doctor W. R. Heaton, Centre county coroner, who heard the testimony given by Heaman and Busko, said there would be no inquest into Grannis' death.

Grannis had been living with his son in Philipsburg at the former Hindle residence.

Pleasant View

The home of Alfred Lyle was the scene of a double birthday party on Friday evening in honor of Mr. Lyle and his daughter, Miss Charlotte, their birthday anniversaries being only one day apart. ### Manlaughter Case to Go On Trial Here

Journal until this morning, the case of William Houtz, of Lemont, charged with drunken driving, was being heard. According to reports the remaining cases will be called in the following order: John Paris, Bellefonte, drunken driving; Joe Parker, State College, malicious mischief; Doyle J. Wooster, Bellefonte, R. D., operating car during suspension period; John Rice, Philipsburg, hit-and-run; Byron Bartley, Port Matilda, involuntary manslaughter, and Joe Toner, Bellefonte, assault and battery.

Two pleas of guilty were heard and disposed of before the regular trial of cases got under way Monday morning.

Rush E. Carson entered a plea of guilty to permitting an intoxicated person to drive his car, and was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and a fine of $100.

Corporal Robert Raymond, of the State Motor Police at Pleasant Gap, stated that on May 18 Carson permitted Paul E. Taylor to drive his car, while Taylor was intoxicated. The machine went out of control while passing the James F. Uzzell farm near Snow Shoe, and broke up a Ladies' Aid meeting on the Uzzell lawn when it plowed through the fence.

Carson admitted that both he and Taylor had been drinking at the time, but added that he had paid all damages resulting from the accident. Some weeks ago Taylor pleaded guilty to drunken driving and was sentenced.

Allen Quick, of Moshannon, charged with his wife with assault and battery, entered a plea of guilty, but declared that his wife has deserved the punishment he administered for the past five years. He was sentenced to pay the costs, a fine of $1, and serve 30 days in the county jail.

According to a statement made in court by Mr. Quick, the alleged assault took place on June 29. His wife, he said, came home late for dinner; hit her in the face with

Illness Fatal to Linn Harris

Rev. J. W. Claudy, superintendent of Rockview Penitentiary, will speak at the service. Interment will be made in Dumstun cemetery.

Mr. Harris, who was in his 75th year, was born in Bellefonte, a son of John P. and Mary Scott Harris. Educated at the Bellefonte schools and the Pennsylvania State College, he began his business career as an assistant cashier in a Bellefonte bank. He took an active and prominent part in Republican politics, having been chairman of the Centre County Republican Committee for several years. He served in the state treasurer's office at Harrisburg and on the State Forestry Board.

Largely through his influence, the Western Penitentiary was located at Rockview. When that institution was formally completed in 1915, Mr. Harris was given the tributes of his neighbors for the part he played in having the site selected in Centre county. His interest in the institution continued throughout his life, both as a trustee and through his acquaintance with Dr. Claudy.

In 1921 Mr. Harris removed to Lock Haven better to look after the interests of the Bellefonte Lime Company which has its quarries at Salona. While there he attended the Great Island Presbyterian church and became a member of the Rotary Club. He was a member of the Presbyterian church at Bellefonte. A 32nd degree Mason, he was associated with the Williamsport Consistory and was a past president of Temple Club, Lock Haven, and with the Jaffa Temple at Altoona.

He was a past exalted ruler of the Bellefonte Lodge of Elks. He had extensive timber and coal interests, the latter being located in the Black Moshannon district of Centre county.

In addition to his wife and son, Mr. Harris is survived by two sisters, Dr. Edith Schrad, Pittsburgh, and Mrs. Frank Warfield, Bellefonte; one brother, Dr. Edward Harris, Snow Shoe, and by one granddaughter, Elizabeth.

To Test County Cattle for T. B.

a co-operative project between the Federal, State and county governments. The same plan as used in previous years will be followed. Cards will be mailed advising them the time the veterinarian will visit their farm and asking that all cattle be in the stable.

Through this testing program which has been conducted in Centre county, as well as in all counties of the State of Pennsylvania during the past 15 years, the percentage of tuberculosis among the dairy cattle has been reduced to less than one-half of one percent.

In order to keep the dairy herds free from tuberculosis, a retest is made every three years. Freedom from tuberculosis among dairy cattle is a big factor in controlling tuberculosis in humans, as bovine tuberculosis can be transmitted to the consumers of dairy products.

There are 24,000 head of cattle in Centre county, according to Mr. Kraps, and it is the desire of the county committee and the Bureau of Animal Industry to complete the whole county just as fast as possible. In order to do this, the co-operation of cattle owners is earnestly requested. It is hoped that those having cattle out in pasture away from home will bring them in at the earliest possible date so that it will help facilitate the work considerably.

Other members of the county committee are: A. J. Burrell, Millheim; Sam C. Yearick, Spring Mills; John Blauser, Spring Mills; J. J. Markle, State College; C. E. Peters, Port Matilda; A. Y. Williams, Juleburg.

Fire Destroys Garage and Car

Mr. Roan declared that when he drove his car, a 1926 Chevrolet coupe, into the building at 8:30 p. m. there was no evidence of fire. Since the building was not wired for electricity, and since it had a metal roof, he believes a short circuit in the ignition system of the car started the fire.

The car was a total loss. A large number of carpenter and garden tools stored in the building also were destroyed. The property, owned by the Bellefonte Trust Company, was insured, but Mr. Roan carried no insurance on the car and tools. A former employe of the Chemical Lime Company here, he has been unemployed for some time. He is a brother of Robert Roan, East Bishop street.

Job-hunting is not altogether unknown among those who hold high places.
