

COMMANDMENTS FOR SUCCESS.

One can expect business men, preachers, professional men, lecturers and even politicians to give out from time to time rules for success. But every once in a while we get a set of rules from some fellow from whom we would least expect to get them.

Hornace Held is a well-known musician and orchestra leader. One would imagine he's a pretty busy fellow in his own line of work. But he proves he's thinking, too, far beyond flats and sharps and fermatas.

He offers the following ten commandments of a successful business man:

1. Don't wait for the other fellow to come to you; go to him. In competition with others, always give them the credit of being a little smarter than you are. Then work like the deuce to prove they aren't.

2. If you have no money and little credit, capitalize your personality. Sometimes it pays to have a nerve. Never admit to anybody—and least of all to yourself—that you are licked.

3. Keep your business troubles to yourself. Nobody likes a calamity howler, besides, he finds scant favor with the bankers.

4. Don't be afraid of dreaming too big dreams. It won't hurt you to figure on owning a railroad, even if you have to compromise on a flivver.

5. Make friends; but remember that the best of friends will wear out if you use them too frequently.

6. Be square even to the point of finickiness, and you will have mighty little occasion to complain of a crooked world.

7. Take advice but do your own deciding. Don't toudy. The world respects the man who stands up on his hind legs and looks it in the eye.

Fireproofed Fabrics.

Clothing, curtains, and any other fabrics, can be fireproofed by soaking them for five minutes in a solution of ammonium phosphat. However, this process must be repeated after each washing.

A Silk Thread Hint

Silk thread often persists in slipping in the needle while sewing. This can be prevented, if after threading the needle as usual one end of the thread is brought through the eye of the needle a second time.

Chipped Furniture.

A small bit of wood that has been chipped off a piece of furniture can be replaced by using the white of an egg.

Canned Fruits.

It will be much easier to chop canned fruits if the fruit peels are heated in the oven before chopping.

TAXATION

which were not due until March, so that we could save the state from an entire collapse.

"Not only was the Treasury of the state empty, but we were so far in debt that it looked as though the state would never get back on an even keel. The preceding Republican administration had left nearly $40,000,000 of unpaid current bills. In addition to this, the preceding Republican administration had involved the state in $85,000,000 of additional bonded indebtedness and had made no provision for the payment of any part of the principal or interest on the state debt. We had $28,000,000 of debt service to provide almost immediately; in addition to this, there was five months left of the Republican biennium which extended until the 31st of May, 1933, for which no provision had been made. The relief bill in Pennsylvania at that time was running in excess of $20,000,000 a month and there was no money in the State Treasury to pay relief and when the Republican administration went out of office they left the five months relief bill of the remaining part of their biennium unprovided for. In other words, Mr. President, when the Earle administration assumed office in January of 1933 they found this state $168,000,000 worse off than broke.

"How can the Republican party ever pretend to governmental sagacity or boast of the business ability of its leaders in the face of a record such as this?

"It is with a great deal of pleasure, Mr. President, that we can report to you that every bill of the Earle Administration during the last three and a half years has been faithfully met when it was due, every obligation of the state of Pennsylvania faithfully discharged, even including the obligations which we inherited from our predecessors and, Mr. President, when the Treasurer of the state of Pennsylvania issued his monthly statement on the 31st day of August, 1938, he revealed a balance in bank of $94,827,287.81. I say to you, Mr. President, that this is the greatest piece of good business that has ever been carried out in the history of Pennsylvania. Nothing like this has ever been accomplished in the history of this state before and probably will never have to be accomplished again in our time, and I say to you, Mr. President, that the Democratic Party is justly proud of a record of this sort and needs make no apologies when it goes before the voters of this state today for its business-like conduct of the affairs of our state government.

"Almost every day we pick up the newspapers and read where the 'False Front' Breaker Boy has attacked the Earle Administration on its tax program. It is an interesting note in this connection that about a month ago when the 'False Front' and I spoke at the same meeting, I publicly challenged him to meet me on the platform any place that he should desire, to debate this question of taxes and to this day there has been no acceptance of the challenge. I don't believe that 'False Front' has the slightest conception of what taxes are levied by the State of Pennsylvania, even though he did serve four years as Lieutenant-Governor as the spearhead of all anti-labor legislation during that period. Have any of you ever read a speech where 'False Front' refers to any particular tax?

"Let's consider in the first place what the new taxes levied by the Earle administration consist of. Only two new taxes have been levied during the four years of the Earle administration, and during that time a number of nuisance taxes, such as the tax on building and loan shares, have been repealed. A two cent tax on cigarettes was placed, and cigarettes are selling for less in Pennsylvania today than they were when this tax was enacted. At the time this tax was enacted, cigarettes were selling for seventeen cents and today they sell almost universally for fifteen cents. It is, of course, absurd under these circumstances to say that such a tax was confiscatory.

"The other new tax that was levied during this administration was the tax on theatre admissions. This tax was levied in 1935 and was repealed in 1937 and, of course, it is equally silly to maintain that this tax is confiscatory.

"There were some increases in taxes in this State during the last four years. At the request of the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce the corporate net income tax was raised to 10% rather than have another tax enacted, but certainly no business when it is making money could object to sharing its net income with its state government.

"The gross receipts tax on utilities was raised to twenty mills but this certainly couldn't be confiscatory because utility rates, as a whole, throughout the state have been reduced at least 15% during the period that this tax has been in effect, and, during this period some of the utilities have had the greatest earnings of any in their history.

"The personal property tax in this state was put on a business-like basis and is now being collected in this state for the first time, although it was originally enacted in 1913. And every county in the state has benefited by it as a matter of fact, all of the well-managed counties of the state by reason of the state's business-like administration of personal property taxes have been able to reduce their millage upon real estate in their counties three or four mills, on account of the additional income which the county has received by virtue of the personal property tax.

"There are none of the Republican orators who want to go into detail about state taxation because they realize that the argument is all against them when facts are really presented. Let me say, Mr. President, why the Republican party is really concerned about taxation.

"For many years the Pennsylvania Manufacturers' Association regularly each year contributed about $2,000,000 to the Republican State Committee which kept the wheels of Republican politics well oiled. Now, the Manufacturers' Association didn't do this out of goodness of their heart, but they received a magnificent return on their investment. The Republican party as a return for this $2,000,000 investment maintained the exemption, which Pennsylvania manufacturers enjoyed, from the payment of the five mills capital stock tax levied against all other forms of corporations in this state.

"The coal companies in my district had to pay this tax; the clay companies in my district had to pay this tax; the lumber companies had to pay this tax; insurance companies had to pay this tax; in fact, every form of corporation in this state had to pay this tax except the group that was with regularly furnishing the fuel for the Republican furnace.

"In 1935 when we found this state in the deplorable financial condition in which it had been left by the Republican party the Earle administration repealed this discrimination which this group had enjoyed for so many years as one of its fiscal measures. For twenty years the public of Pennsylvania had been trying to get a bill out of committee to repeal this discrimination in favor of the one class of corporations and had never succeeded, and when it finally came upon the floor of the Senate there was so much public pressure behind it that twelve Republican Senators were forced to vote in favor of the repeal of this discrimination (Senators Aron, Ealy, Harris, Homsher, Howell, Prince, Salus, Staudeimer, Thompson and Westmoreland county), Trainer, Woodward, Ziesenheim).

"This tax has been yielding thirty to thirty-five millions of dollars a year. Isn't it a handsome investment when you can pay $2,000,000 a year and receive back in return $30,000,000 to $35,000,000 a year which belongs to the people of Pennsylvania. Is it any wonder that the people who are walking so loudly about taxes in Pennsylvania can get together a $5,000,000 fund to buy Pennsylvania back where they can again save this $30,000,000 to $35,000,000 a year favoritism in their own behalf?

"Did anyone ever hear of a Republican administration doing anything to reduce the burden of local taxes on real estate? Certainly it was never attempted in this state for a period of forty years, but instead, the good old Republican principle was applied of loading all tax burdens on to real estate.

"The Democratic Party in its platform of 1934 promised a shift of this tax burden and has come a tremendous distance in fulfilling its promises.

"In the first place, we have seen that the burden of the maintenance of out-door poor relief is no longer borne by the real estate of the Commonwealth. Real estate has been completely freed from this item of taxation. The administration has likewise taken over the burden of the maintenance of township and county roads which need no longer be borne by local taxation.

"In the third place, we have seen of recent weeks a program initiated which will take the burden from the real estate of the Commonwealth of school building construction.

"In the fourth place, Mr. President, last week we passed herein the Senate of Pennsylvania a bill which will relieve our counties from the maintenance of those who are mentally ill in our state sanitariums. This burden will no longer have to be borne by the real estate tax-payer, and, in the fifth place, as stated before in well-managed counties, the County Commissioners have effected very substantial reductions in county tax on real estate on account of their increased income from the personal property tax.

"I say to you, Mr. President, that for the first time in the history of Pennsylvania, an administration of our state government has reached out to very substantial reductions in county tax on real estate on account of their increased income from the personal property tax.

Sarah Ann's Cooking Class

In the South rice is served often, few foods have as dainty a flavor. It blends ideally with vegetables, meats, eggs, cheese, fruit and milk. The most important of all rice dishes is boiled rice, as it is the basis of most, all rice recipes, therefore it is necessary to master the art of cooking it properly before attempting any rice dishes. These recipes below will suit all the ones from plain boiled rice to elaborate whipped cream concoctions.

Boiled Rice.
Wash the rice in cold water several times. Have ready boiling water—3 times as much water as rice—adding 1 teaspoon salt for each quart of water. Add the rice to the water slowly, taking care not to let the water stop boiling. Let cook undisturbed for 25 minutes, or until the rice is tender, when done, empty the rice in a colander and pour hot water through it until the grains separate. Drain, place the colander back of the stove to 10 minutes.

Spanish Rice.
4 tablespoons shortening.
1 cup white rice.
2 teaspoons salt.
2 teaspoons salt.
2 1/2 teaspoons paprika.
1/2 teaspoon pepper.
1 small onion, chopped.
2 stalks celery, leaves and all, chopped.
4 cups canned tomatoes.
1 cup stock or boiling water.
1 cup left over meat in small pieces.
Wash rice and drain thoroughly. Heat heavy frying pan, then add shortening. Fry the raw rice 5 minutes until brown, stirring occasionally to keep from sticking. Add salt, paprika, and pepper, stir and fry until well blended. Add onions and celery, cook 5 minutes more. Add tomatoes, left over meat and stock. Lower heat, cover closely. Simmer slowly until rice is done, about 25 minutes. Stir occasionally with a fork to prevent sticking. If you prefer a brown crust, uncover and brown 5 minutes in a hot oven.

Creamed Eggs With Chili and Rice
To 2 cups well seasoned, medium white sauce, add 1 teaspoon of chili powder and 6 hard boiled eggs, cut in quarters. Meanwhile, cook 1 cup of rice, season and arrange in a border around a platter. Pour egg mixture in the center.

Baked Rice.
2 cups cooked rice.
1 cup cooked meat.
2 onions.
2 large tomatoes.
2 tablespoons olives.
1 tablespoon green peppers.
1/2 cup cooked potatoes.
1/2 cup cheese, grated.
1 egg.
1 teaspoon capers.
Run the meat, onions, green pepper, olives, and capers through the meat grinder and mix thoroughly. Grease a baking dish and place in it a layer of cooked rice, then place the meat mixture over it. Peel the tomatoes, slice and arrange over meat. Sprinkle with half the cheese. Beat the eggs well and pour half of them over the dish. Cover with the remainder of the rice, egg and cheese. Bake in a hot oven for 15 minutes. Serve hot.

Pineapple Rice
1/2 cup rice.
1/2 cup diced pineapple.
2-3 cup cream.
Cook rice until tender. Cool. Just before serving, mix with the slightly beaten cream and add the chilled pineapple. Garnish with crystallized mint leaves and maraschino cherries.

Rice Peaches, Raspberry Sauce
1/2 cup rice.
1/2 cup milk.
1/2 teaspoon salt.
2 egg yolks.
2 tablespoons sugar.
2 tablespoons melted butter.
Grated orange rind.
Cook rice in boiling water for 5 minutes. Drain off water and add rice to milk in the upper part of double boiler. Add salt and cook until rice is tender and has absorbed all of the milk. Add beaten egg yolks, cream, melted butter and grated orange rind. Mix lightly and spread on platter to cool. Shape into balls with plastic indentation, look like a whole peach. Roll in lady fingers or macaroni crumbs, dip in egg and then roll in crumbs again. Fry—Insert pieces of angelica and serve with crushed sweetened raspberries or with any other fruit sauce.

Rice Jumbo
1/2 lb of ham sliced.
4 cups of tomatoes.
2 cups of water.
1 lb. of beef dried.
2 tablespoons parsley, chopped.
4 cups okra, cut crosswise.
Bay leaf or celery seed.
1 green pepper chopped fine.
Cooked rice.
1 onion sliced.
Pepper.
1/2 cup celery cut in pieces.
Cook the ham and beef in a little fat, until brown. Add pepper and celery. Cook mixture for a few minutes and add water and tomatoes. Cover the skillet and simmer until the meat is almost tender. Then add rice, pepper, salt and bay leaf. Simmer uncovered until the okra is tender and the stew has thickened. Serve on boiled rice.

MARKET QUOTATIONS

Reject Bids For Poor Home

and the bids received had not been definitely ascertained yesterday. Although no future course of action has been decided upon, the Commissioners indicated that a joint meeting of the architects, Hunter & Caldwell, of Altoona, representatives of the Department of Welfare, and the Commissioners will probably be held in the near future, to determine what portions of the building can be reduced to fall within the sums which have been budgeted for the structure. It is the general belief in the Commissioners' office that the building may be reduced in size to accommodate only 75 persons instead of 190 as originally intended, or that some of the rooms provided in the original drawing can be eliminated.

Medical Men Meet Here
The third of a series of post-graduate medical courses sponsored by members of the Centre, Huntingdon and Mifflin County Medical Societies was held at the Centre County Hospital here yesterday. The meeting opened at 10:30 and luncheon was served at the Penn Belle Hotel. Dr. Ralph Tyson, professor at Temple University medical school at Philadelphia, was the speaker. He spoke on the various diseases at the afternoon session. Two similar meetings are scheduled in the current series. Dr. Richards H. Hoffman, of Bellefonte, secretary of the group, announced.

Lost time is never made up, but most of us have plenty of it left.

Woman Drowns Self When Hanging Falls

she found her missing. The body was removed from the cistern about 10:30 a. m. by J. Irvin Shuey, assisted by Eugene Hogan and Harris Struble, all of Millbrook, at the direction of Centre county coroner, Dr. W. R. Heston, of Philipsburg.

Belief that Mrs. Leiby had first attempted to end her life by hanging was given credence when a short section of rope was found tied about the woman's neck. Another section of rope was found tied around the bedpost in her room, and indications were that the rope had broken under her weight.

Dr. W. R. Heston, who conducted an investigation into the tragedy Monday afternoon, declared that the distance from the bedroom window to the ground was about ten feet, and that there were marks on the ground showing that the woman had evidently struck with considerable force. From that point it is believed the despondent woman walked a short distance to the rear of the house, lifted a plank from the cistern, and plunged in head-first.

Mrs. Leiby was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George McConnell, both now deceased, and was born at Mansfield 56 years ago. Surviving are her husband, who is employed on the Pennsylvania State College dairy farms; a daughter, Mrs. Carl Sebeck, of Mansfield, and two sons, George, of Millbrook, and Glenn, at home. The Leiby family moved to Centre county about ten years ago from a farm in Bradford county. They have been occupying what is known as the Dr. Christ farm during their residence in the Millbrook area.

Funeral services were held yesterday morning from the Soper and Moser Funeral Home at Troy, Pa., and interment followed in Mansfield, Mrs. Leiby's birthplace.

State College Woman Injured

Mrs. Hamer was struck by a car driven by Gilbert L. Neving, of State College, as she and her daughter, Mary Elizabeth, were crossing Miles street. Neving was driving west on College avenue and turned left into Miles street, as the pedestrians were on the intersection. Neving told police he didn't see
