at this time. It is the desire of organizations interested in the project to clean out the mill dam for use as a swimming pool, and to grade and beautify the surrounding area as a playground and park.

The NYA at best could provide only 30 boys, who would be permitted to work 48 hours a month. Realizing that amount of labor could not make much progress on a project of the scope suggested, NYA officials recommended that they be given a small portion of the work, and that an effort be made to secure WPA aid for the remainder.

Before any definite action can be taken, it was declared, an engineer's report and survey will be necessary. It will then be necessary for Council to establish the boundaries of the tract—which have been in dispute for a number of years—and grant permission for the use of the ground for the purpose intended.

Among those who were present at Monday's conference were: John C. Peila, Harrisburg, assistant district supervisor and field representative for the NYA; Merlin M. Paine, Harrisburg, assistant district NYA supervisor; Samuel D. Rhinesmith, commandant of the American Legion; S. H. Poorman, Karl E. Kusse, Alex Stergiakis, and E. L. Plumb, of the Chamber of Commerce, and Thomas B. Beaver, president of Borough Council.

Most of these at the conference expressed their interest in providing Bellefonte with a long-felt need—a swimming pool and playground—and it is probable that the present project will be pushed to completion if the many difficulties now apparent can be adjusted.

Judge Smith Is Speaker at Bar Meeting

a stumbling block in the path of the nation's progress, the jurist declared.

Judge Smith began his career as a public officer as assistant district attorney of Allegheny county. From that post he was elevated to the position of assistant United States District Attorney. Later he became a Deputy Attorney General and in more recent years was appointed and elected as a Judge in Allegheny county, the position he now holds.

Judge Smith won wide recognition for his establishment of a behavior clinic in the criminal courts of Allegheny county. At this clinic every person arrested on criminal charges in Allegheny county is examined from the standpoint of psychiatry, to determine what system of treatment is most likely to restore the individual to a useful place in society.

Friday's meeting was presided over by former Judge M. Ward Fleming, of Bellefonte, president of the Centre County Bar Association. Judge Fleming hopes to convene all future quarterly meetings of the group with similar talks by men prominently identified with the judicial branch of the State Government.

Baileyville Voters Threaten Polls

learned that they weren't going to vote any $10.00. In fact they were told they were to be cut off from the county's bounty without a cent.

According to authentic sources, the Commissioners claim they can't pay rent for any polling place which is owned by a community organization. The law, they say, won't permit it.

Baileyville is one of Centre county's smaller towns. Residents of the village claim the only other shelter available in the town for voting purposes would be a private home. The law, it seems, doesn't favor such an arrangement.

So there the matter stands. The Commissioners won't pay for the use of the Hall and there's no other place available.

Things really became serious this week when the Community Association cracked down with an ultimatum. They notified the Commissioners in effect: "We either get our $10.00 for the May election plus a guarantee of another $10.00 for the November election, or the hall will be locked on election day."

And just because ultimatums seem to be the thing in this matter, otherwise, have been on relief, in payment for 36,000 relief hours. State Authority Visits Rockview of the State Welfare Department, Department of Property and Supplies, Department of Labor and Industry, the Public Works Administration and each of the contractors, visited the new structure making a substantial final inspection.

The General State Authority project enlarges the capacity of the Rockview Prison by the addition of 256 individual cells of the latest type, each cell having a lavatory, wash bowl, medicine cabinet and mirror. There are no bars on the windows of this modern prison, the windows being constructed of steel sash with panes six by eight inches and the doors are of wood with metal covering and artistic grill. This project was approved by "The General State Authority" in keeping with the policy of the State Administration to provide adequate housing and proper facilities to enable the various departments of State government to properly function.

While $253,082 was originally allocated by "The Authority" for this project, the contracts were awarded December 22, 1937, for $192,096, of which the Public Works Administration participated through a federal grant of $39,082. Work actually started at Rockview January 3, 1938.
