Award Prizes at Halloween Fete

The American Lime float consisted of a tableaux showing the yard of a modest home. In the yard were seated a woman and her children, while the husband and father, standing just inside the gate in his working clothes, completed the setting. The title of the tableaux was "Here's Arah, Safely." On the front of the float rode a picketer carrying a sign, "unfair to doctors and nurses."

Mr. King wore a black crepe suit with blue accessories and her corsage was of yellow pompons. Following the ceremony the wedding party motored back to Tyrone where a wedding dinner was held at the Wilson home, Washington avenue. The bride attended the Port Matilda school, and for the past year has been attending the Tyrone school. Mr. King is a graduate of Altoona High School and has since been employed by the West Virginia Pulp and Paper company in Tyrone. They will make their home in Tyrone.

To Break Ground For County Home

(Continued from page one) In announcing the beginning of construction, the Centre county Commissioners, acting as the County Institution Board, declared that no ground breaking ceremonies are planned. The general construction, heating and ventilating, plumbing and electrical contracts were awarded Friday after bids on the revised plans for the home were opened. When bids on the original plans were opened September 19, it was found that the low set of estimates was $38,000 in excess of the budgeted costs. The plans for the home, calling for facilities for 100 persons, were revised to provide quarters for about 70 persons, and new bids were asked upon these plans. Friday when the new bids were opened, it was found that the low set of bids, totaling $177,110, was well within the budgeted amount of $177,600, and the bids were awarded accordingly. The Berwick Lumber and Supply Company, of Berwick, was low bidder on the general construction contract at $134,544. The next lowest estimate was that of Ritter Brothers, Harrisburg, at $139,900. The highest bid received was $157,975. Low bidder on the heating and ventilating contract was Mulder Brothers, Hollidaysburg, whose estimate was $18,589. Second lowest was the E. When the parents heard the screams of the children, they hastened to the house to find the child's dress blazing, and the burns suffered before the clothing could be torn from the body resulted in death.

Abe Was Fooled

When four youths, masked and armed, entered Abe Robinson's roadside service station near Danville, and ordered him to "stick 'em up," Robinson laughed. "You've just been to that Halloween parade," he said. He discovered his mistake when they took $12 from the cash register and departed.
