Scramble To Pull "Plums" Looms Ahead

Governor-elect James Will Have Some 11,000 Jobs Under His Thumb

PINCHOT FOLLOWERS MAY DINE ON 'CROW'

Question of Dealing Patronage Involves Ticklish Local Problems

The return of Governor-elect Arthur H. James to the office of the faithful and the not-so-faithful is not hard to get at. James, to put it bluntly, will have some 11,000 jobs to pull out of his hat the minute he takes office on January 17th—how many after that remains to be seen—and that's a job of picking and choosing. It will require a lot of help and that's where the horns are next will get a good stirring up. Now that the election is over and the question of dealing out patronage is at hand, the James forces have a number of ticklish local problems to deal with, and this is likely to be the first order of business when James returns from Texas. In about a dozen counties the established Republican organizations threw their support behind Pinchot in the primary campaign only to be faced with the necessity of switching to James in the later-party battle, or, like Pinchot, having to do with him. They didn't renounce James; they renounced Pinchot in the majority of cases and did their best from that time on to catch up with the bandwagon which went by them at such a fast clip on May 17. James, not knowing that there was a 400,000 plurality waiting for him in November, not only accepted the support of the lame-duck organizations, but the Republican State Committee saw to it that all such pronouncements in favor of James were widely published. The result is that in many counties the James forces are faced with the somewhat disquieting circumstance of having played ball with two or more distinct and irreconcilable factions in one and the same territory. This would be all right for the James forces if there were an indication that the opposing factions would go right on playing ball, but there are a number of factions, now that the pinch is over, who don't want to play any more ball on a share and share alike basis. In the recent Republican victory means an epidemic of headaches to the thousands of men and women now on the State payroll, many are realizing from these figures: There are 24,500 State jobs altogether. They include 22,995 posts outside the incoming administration's appointive reach, at least for the time being. In that classification are 7,000 jobs in the Public Assistance Department, 2,500 in Unemployment Compensation, and 3,200 in the Liquor Control Board employ, all filled or being named rapidly by civil service. Besides the civil service 350 are employed in the Auditor General's Department, 558 in the State Treasurer's, and 484 in the Public Utility Commission, all Democratic-controlled. Another 1,000 are employed in the legislative and judicial branches of the government, including 250 legislators and 277 judges. Though not under civil service, the 7,000 employees of institutions in Health, Welfare and Public Instruction Departments usually retain their jobs through one administration after another, personnel officials say.

CHRISTMAS SEALS

Help to Protect Your Home from Tuberculosis YOUR BADGE OF HONOR Tuberculosis is a serious public health problem in Pennsylvania, because it takes more young lives than any other cause of death and because it is enormously costly. The Christmas Seal enables you to join in the battle to conquer this burdensome disease. It is your opportunity to help give health and happiness to the Christmas season. Richard Fisher of Tyrone, while hunting with his brother Guyer and family, secured a nice deer. Tony that "Dick" was excited would be a mild expression. Dick is still of teen age which goes to prove it is not always the older hunters who are successful. We are just worried for fear Dick's chest will expand so much that he will need a new coat. Mr. and Buddy are on our sick list at the present time. Among our successful hunters are M. H. Hall, Lloyd Lucas, Mr. Neals and Mr. Richardson who are guests at the L. G. Peters home. Harry Rekenroth and party. It looks like Mr. and Buddy will be on the menu for some time. Paul Fisher is stationed at Fort Hoyle Md., and enjoys army life very much. MOULDING. Tiny little children Are like putty in our hands We can make or mar them. Make them love or hate commands We should give circumspectly For they live to imitate. When we think they're not observing We are sure to hear them prate; "Why I heard my Daddy say it. Tell the truth now didn't you Dad. So I think if he can swear It can't really be so bad. For to boys their Dad's a prince Lord of all that he surveys, and he can win their love and praise. So when we are vexed and angry And we feel inclined to curse, Just remember we have read, "O was some power to gild us us To see ourselves as others see us." I. S.

REBERSBURG

Mrs. William Tarbert and son Jack of Irwin are spending several days with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Malroy. Mrs. Malroy was confined to her bed for a number of weeks as the result of a fall but has recovered sufficiently to be able to be on a chair at this time. Edward Erle and family had a harassing experience last Friday when their car upset, and turned over twice on the Madisgown mountains. There were eight occupants in the car including Mrs. Erle's father, Mr. William Limbert of Madisgown, but fortunately no one was injured. The accident was one of the slippery roads following the Thanksgiving day storm. Miss Phyllis Page of State College spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Page. Mark Limbert of Pierce Business College in Philadelphia, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Limbert during his Thanksgiving vacation. Rev. and Mrs. Norman F. Douty have closed their home for the winter and went to New York City on Sunday, where they will spend a few weeks before going to the Pacific Coast where the former will conduct Bible Conferences, as well as in a number of States to and from the coast. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kreider were informed by telephone on Thanksgiving day that their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Hogstrom and family of Washington, D. C. met with an automobile accident near Capitale which so completely wrecked their car that they were compelled to return home by bus instead of coming through to Penn Hill and Rebersburg to spend the holiday with their respective parents. In spite of the car damage no one was injured. Mrs. Milton Stove of Coburn, called at the M. W. Breen home last Thursday p. m. Mrs. Margaret Kane spent the Thanksgiving vacation with her parents in Kingston. Misses Louise, Leor and Myrah McVicker returned to their home in Robinson and Johnstown, Monday for several days next before going to Ohio for their next Evangelistic campaign. The special meeting which they conducted in the local Evangelical church, closed Sunday evening with about twenty conversions. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Manserfer and family of Bloomsburg, were Thanksgiving day guests with Mrs. Moyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Moyer. Thomas and Clayton Muser of Penn State spent their Thanksgiving vacation with their mother, Mrs. Edna Muser. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hosterman were Thanksgiving dinner guests with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hosterman at Penn Hill. The evening was spent in playing games and dancing.

REBERSBURG

Mrs. William Tarbert and son Jack of Irwin are spending several days with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Malroy. Mrs. Malroy was confined to her bed for a number of weeks as the result of a fall but has recovered sufficiently to be able to be on a chair at this time. Edward Erle and family had a harassing experience last Friday when their car upset, and turned over twice on the Madisgown mountains. There were eight occupants in the car including Mrs. Erle's father, Mr. William Limbert of Madisgown, but fortunately no one was injured. The accident was one of the slippery roads following the Thanksgiving day storm. Miss Phyllis Page of State College spent the weekend at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Page. Mark Limbert of Pierce Business College in Philadelphia, visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Limbert during his Thanksgiving vacation. Rev. and Mrs. Norman F. Douty have closed their home for the winter and went to New York City on Sunday, where they will spend a few weeks before going to the Pacific Coast where the former will conduct Bible Conferences, as well as in a number of States to and from the coast. Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Kreider were informed by telephone on Thanksgiving day that their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. William Hogstrom and family of Washington, D. C. met with an automobile accident near Capitale which so completely wrecked their car that they were compelled to return home by bus instead of coming through to Penn Hill and Rebersburg to spend the holiday with their respective parents. In spite of the car damage no one was injured. Mrs. Milton Stove of Coburn, called at the M. W. Breen home last Thursday p. m. Mrs. Margaret Kane spent the Thanksgiving vacation with her parents in Kingston. Misses Louise, Leor and Myrah McVicker returned to their home in Robinson and Johnstown, Monday for several days next before going to Ohio for their next Evangelistic campaign. The special meeting which they conducted in the local Evangelical church, closed Sunday evening with about twenty conversions. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Manserfer and family of Bloomsburg, were Thanksgiving day guests with Mrs. Moyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Moyer. Thomas and Clayton Muser of Penn State spent their Thanksgiving vacation with their mother, Mrs. Edna Muser. Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Hosterman were Thanksgiving dinner guests with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Hosterman at Penn Hill. Ernest Tyson of Harrisburg and Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Esterline of Greenbrier assisted in the annual butchering at the Carlos Tyson home last Thursday. Mrs. Charles Frazer of St. Clairsville visited her father, Rev. J. J. Weaver several days the past week. Mr. and Mrs. Gale Swartz of Millheim, spent the weekend with the latter's father, C. Zeigler. Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hadden returned home last Tuesday after several weeks absence. They were visited over Thanksgiving by their son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. F. C. Barberman and sons Charles Wesley and Harold of Hanover, and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Zacharias of Allegheny. J. E. Bierly is confined to his home as the result of a slight stroke of paralysis last Monday. He is making steady improvement. A number of members of the local Rebersburg Lodge attended a District meeting of the order at Millheim last Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. C. Paul Ziegler began housekeeping in Port Matilda on Monday. Mr. Ziegler is employed there as a high school instructor. Mr. and Mrs. Ziegler are both from Rebersburg and the best wishes of their many friends go with them to their new home. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Winters, Billy Bierly, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brunkart and daughter Marjorie were Thanksgiving dinner guests at the L. L. McCombs home in Bellefonte. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Fiedler and family of Woodward, visited Mrs. Savilla Stitzer on Sunday. Norman Ziegler of Irwin and Miss Anna Ziegler of State College, visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Ziegler over Thanksgiving. Miss Mildred Wolfe was a business visitor in Harrisburg one day last week. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Whitehill were Thanksgiving dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Orvis Poorman at State College. Charles E. Barger, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Brunkart, and Miss Betty O'Connell of Erie were united in marriage on Thursday, November 17th. For the present they are residing in Erie. The groom's many friends here wish them happiness and prosperity. Among the local hunters who were fortunate in shooting deer the first day of the season were: Mahlon Cummings, Willard Smith, S. O. Ziegler, W. J. Hadden, Paul Winters, Wilma Bressler, Merrill Gephart, Dean Gephart, and John Weaver.

PINE GLEN

Hunting season opened here early Monday morning. The usual crowds and many new ones are staying here and the first day was a record breaker for deer. Miss Ruth Akley is home from Erie for the week hunting. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Werts will spend the week at Bellefonte and Renovo and Camp Bob is occupied for the week with the Pittsburgh crew. Mr. and Mrs. William Hall and daughter Sandra of Towanda, N. Y. was at Benton on Sunday. Jesse Benton is home from Philadelphia for hunting season. Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Benton of Lancaster and Howard Johnson of Williamsport, Del. is at Benton. Joe Beates of Harrisburg was here for the first day and took his deer home. If everybody would make an extra effort to settle all outstanding accounts this month what a revolution it would make in the business life of this community.

HOUSEHOLD SCRAPBOOK

Decorative trays for ashtrays or pins can be made from the glasses that are put under furniture legs. Paste small silhouette pictures on the bottom of these glasses, and paste a circle of felt or cardboard over the picture to prevent scratching. The glass magnifies the picture. Washing Ceilings. When washing ceilings, it is a good idea to tie a piece of absorbent rag around the wrist. This will catch the excess water that tends to trickle down the arm and wet the sleeve. Picture Hanging. Fish line is much better for hanging pictures than the regular picture wire. Parchment Shades. If the parchment shades seem to look a little soiled, dip a wool cloth into cold water and wring it fairly dry. Moisten with a little liquid oil and rub over the shade. Repeat this until all dust is removed. Then rub the shade with a dry wool cloth. Storing Apples. Apples are best kept at a temperature of about forty degrees. A good method, also is to wrap each one in a piece of paper and pack in a box of sawdust, which should be kept in a cool corner of the basement. Fruit Stains. Before removing a soiled tablecloth and napkins from the table, look for fruit stains and put camphor on them. Then wash the same as any white goods. Sewing Room Asset. A typewriter chair is a wonderful asset in the sewing room of the housewife who does a great deal of sewing. It reduces the twisting posture you take when the sewing machine on one side of you and your table on the other, with no trouble at all to turn to either. Then too, its particularly comfortable and supporting back has a tendency to do away with that kind you are prone to get now. Remedy for Styes. When the first symptoms of a stye appears, beat some milk as hot as can be borne on the eyelid and sop it on the eye with a small cloth, a few minutes at a time; repeat this treatment frequently until the inflammation disappears. Oysters. If one desires to be certain that oysters and clams are edible, tap the shells together. If the sound is similar to that of tapping stones together, the contents are alive and eatable.
