$40,000 Fire Guts Annex

near the entrance to the Phillipsburg Ledger plant, he hastily turned in an alarm, which brought an immediate response from Phillipsburg and Oseola fire companies.

Handicapped by the dense smoke, the firemen were forced to use masks and several were slightly injured in the three-hour battle with the flames.

The Phillipsburg Ledger company, the only complete job plant operated in Phillipsburg, and owned by George S. Sheldon, his wife and daughter, Miss Janet Sheldon, sustained the biggest loss, estimated at $20,000. Flames and water ruined the printing machinery and equipment as well as a large quantity of office supplies. Of this loss only $6,000 was covered by insurance.

Mr. Sheldon has no idea as to how the fire started in his plant. He and his employees worked until 10 o'clock Monday night and Mr. Sheldon left 30 minutes later. At that time everything was in order and no odor of smoke existed anywhere in the plant.

The concrete block building, belonging to the Odd Fellows, is nearly a total wreck. Besides housing the Ledger company on the ground floor the second story was used as a lodge hall. The building had an estimated loss of $15,000 which was covered by insurance.

The P. O. S. of A., Knights of Malta, Grand Rebecca and Poochontas were reported to have met at the lodge room. Equipment stored by the lodges was a complete loss.

The Majestic Theatre, on the ground floor of the main Odd Fellows building facing on Front street, was not damaged by the fire as it was protected by a fire wall and fire doors from the annex connected to it.

The Cunkle building, directly alongside the burned structure, was protected from the fire, although slight damage to the roof was incurred from firemen being on it with hose lines.

Mailing Invites Disappointment

sure it will prevent disappointments occurring in delivery.

Mail early. By so doing there will be little likelihood of delay in delivery.

Pack and wrap packages securely. Packages that come untied or otherwise show evidence of carelessness wrapping may become damaged or delayed in transportation.

Be sure to have address plainly written. This is important for prompt delivery. And last but not least, see that package contains the proper amount of postage, and that it is firmly attached.

EXTRA EMPLOYEES NEED SOCIAL SECURITY CARDS

With practically all business concerns engaging additional employees during the pre-Christmas rush, J. K. Jemison, manager of the Social Security Board's Williamsport Field Office, points out that each employee in industry or commerce, whether temporary or permanent, should have a Social Security Account Number Card—and should have only one. These cards can be obtained at the Williamsport Field Office, located at 307 Post Office Building.

"Regardless of the age or sex of the employee, and regardless of whether he will work one minute or permanently, he should have a Social Security Account Number Card," Mr. Jemison said. "The reasons for this are: All wages which an employee earns in covered employment before reaching age 65 are credited to him under his name and Social Security Account Number by the Social Security Board. His Old-Age Insurance benefits will be based on the total wages he received. For convenience in recording wages and computing benefits, all wages earned by one employee should be reported under the same name and account number for life. The Social Security Account Number is used also by employers in reporting wages on which future unemployment compensation benefits may be based."

"It is the employer's duty to report wages received by each employee under his name and Social Security Account Number, and the employer is charged further with the duty of seeing that each employee has a Social Security Account Number," Mr. Jemison continued.

"Usually one of the first things an employer will ask a prospective employee is his Social Security Number. If the employee does not have an account number, he may obtain one in five or ten minutes by applying in person at any Social Security Board Field Office. If he mails an application for an account number card, the card will be mailed to him the same day the application is received. Application blanks may be obtained at any Post Office."

"If an employee has more than one account number card the Social Security Board's Field Office will assist him in having all but one number cancelled and all wages reported in his name under the cancelled number; recorded to his credit under the single number which he retains."

Armed Colored Man Holds Up Clerk

from his sleeve and snarled: "This is a hold-up." Jamming the gun in the clerk's ribs he forced him back of the desk where the bandit scooped $100 from the Hotel change drawer; $10 from a newspaper cash drawer, and $11.95 from the Fullington Bus Company's ticket window. He over-looked $15 in change.

Warning Anthony to remain quiet, the robber backed out of the lobby and made his exit through the same door by which he had entered. As soon as the door swung closed Anthony phoned W. R. Reeves, hotel manager who was asleep in his apartment in the building. Reeves immediately notified police who made a thorough patrol of the area, but without success.

See Local Tie-up Although the robber was described by Anthony as being a total stranger to him, police last night were inclined to believe that some Phillipsburg resident had a hand in the job.

According to the story, the woman, whose name was not revealed, was sitting by a second floor window when she saw a car bearing two men and a woman pull up to the curb. She heard them plan the robbery of the hotel and saw the two men leave the car. A short time later one of the men returned to the machine and drove down the street with the lights out. As he drove away, the woman's story goes, she saw a piece of paper flutter from the machine and fall to the street. A few moments later, she continued, a man walked along the street, picked up the paper and disappeared.

Anthony described the man as being of short stocky build, of light tan complexion, and weighing about 150 pounds. He had a moustache, had his hat pulled down over his eyes, and wore a light tan coat.

To Continue Fight Against Paralysis

National Foundation Will Establish Permanent Local Organizations

Marking another great advance by the American people in the unified fight against the "malignant death," the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has adopted plans to establish a vast field organization.

After January 30th, or upon conclusion of this year's campaign for funds, the National Foundation will establish permanent chapters, embracing every county—each chapter to be made up of representatives from all of the communities who have played a part in the fight.

The successful county chairmen of the Committee for the Celebration of the President's Birthday will be invited by the Foundation to assist in the establishment of these new chapters.

The trustees of the National Foundation, in voting for the establishment of the permanent chapter plan, recognized the need for planning funds in the hands of the chapters with which to combat the local problem, with immediate aid to those suffering from this terrible affliction.

Therefore, the trustees of the National Foundation have authorized that the funds received are to be divided on a 50-50 basis.

One half of the proceeds will go to this committee and one half will be held in trust for the national foundation until the new chapters are set up, then turned over to the chapters.

The chapters will constitute the "National Guard" of the foundation, quick to act in time of epidemics, ready to aid those afflicted, and working constantly to disseminate proper knowledge regarding quick diagnosis and treatment of the disease.

The fear in the heart of every mother and father that their youngster might be stricken with this terrible affliction, has solidly united the nation in our fight to stamp out the dread disease of infantile paralysis.

This great step was taken by the trustees of the foundation after months of study.

The foundation, established last year by President Roosevelt, has unified the fight against infantile paralysis. It is working to combat the disease on four fronts:

- 1. Scientific research.
- 2. Epidemic first aid.
- 3. Proper care. Disseminating to doctors and parents present knowledge which may prevent such after-effects as crooked spines, curvature of the spine, twisted bodies, contracted limbs.
- 4. Dollars to orthopedic centers, hospitals, clinics for combating bug man wreckage.

To assist the foundation in its work, a general advisory group and 22 eminent physicians and surgeons has been set up.

Funds for the foundation are being allocated to all of the four divisions.

7 Appeal to Pardon Board for Clemency

Allegheny county, and was sentenced to serve from 16 to 32 years. Transferred to Rockview he and a fellow inmate in August 1929 overpowered Guard Orrin C. Smith and three inmates, locked them in a combustion chamber and fled in a car stolen from the prison garage, after cutting a hole through the stockade. By chance another inmate opened the combustion chamber a short time later, saving the four men inside from probable suffocation. Bogenstutz was captured the following day, and was sentenced to an additional 16 to 32 years.

Ralph Manning, serving from 5 to 10 years from Allegheny county, and three other Rockview inmates on September 8, 1934, took a car from the prison garage, cut through the stockade and roared away. They were captured a short time later and Manning got an additional 5 to 10 years.

Wayne Daugherty, another convict sent here from Allegheny county, and an accomplice were employed at the State Police barracks on prison grounds on August 25, 1935 when they took police revolvers, the police car, and journeyed to California where they were apprehended on September 12 of that year.

Charles Weaver, of Greensburg was sentenced here January 16, 1933 for escaping from Rockview, and his 10 to 20 year term was doubled. Irving Gillingham, of Bushampton, N. Y., appeared in the local courts on March 21, 1931 for escaping from Rockview and had his 4 to 8 years term doubled.

On August 15, 1925 William J. Hanley was sentenced to serve an additional 4 to 10 years for escaping from the local institution. He was originally sentenced from Luzerne county.

May 18, this year, Judge Walker sentenced Cyrus G. Houser, of Williamsport, to serve from 2 to 4 years in the Western Penitentiary on a charge of passing forged checks. He is to go before the Pardon Board with a plea of clemency.

PLEASANT GAP SPORTSMEN SEE WILD LIFE FILMS

The Pleasant Gap Sportsmen Club held its regular monthly meeting in the Logan Grange Hall, Monday, at which time wild life pictures of the Game Commission were shown.

At the meeting in January different wild life pictures will be shown, and the public is urged to attend.

Miss Alice Gilliland of Oak Hall, became the bride of Herman J. Colyer of State College, Thursday evening, December 1, in the Presbyterian manse in Centre Hall. The bride's pastor, Rev. J. M. Kirkpatrick performed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Colyer were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Eliza Gilliland, and James Whitman, both of Oak Hall. The bride is a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James C. Gilliland and for the past several years has been a teacher in the schools of College township, and is at present teaching the Branch school. Mr. Colyer is employed as a salesman for the Storch Motor company. Immediately after the ceremony a small reception was held at the home of the bride, where her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Campbell, were married December 1, 1846. The young couple will make their home in the Storch apartments, State College.

Escape Death In Truck Crash

head and body, is expected to remain for about a month. Corl, suffering from cuts, sprains and numerous bruises, was discharged from the institution this week.

The Shoemaker truck, loaded with brick, was enroute from Snow Shoe to Harrison, N. J. At a point on the Lincoln Highway near Thornapple the conveyer truck, driven by Gordon Dodson, 30, of Jonesboro, Columbia county, crossed three lanes of traffic and ran into the Shoemaker truck. Corl was thrown clear of the wreckage, but Poor-man could not get out of the cab until after the gasoline tanks of both machines exploded. Dodson, an employee of Benjamin E. Grove, of Danville, was cremated in the cab of his wrecked truck.

The tangle of fire-blackened wreckage blocked the highway halting traffic for almost two hours. Hundreds of automobiles, unable to pass, lined the highway on both sides of the wreck.

Borough School Plans May Be Abandoned

plans, it is reported, comes from the fact that the question of increasing the bonded indebtedness of the school district was not correctly stated on the ballots at the primaries last May. Although the board resolution and election advertisement called for an increase in the bonded indebtedness of $55,000 the question as stated on the ballot, by the Board's former attorney, was for the approval of an increase in the total indebtedness from $100,000 to $127,147.28. The first figure represented gross present indebtedness and the latter figure the net indebtedness in the event the increase was approved.

The $127,147.28 figure was determined after certain legal deductions had been made, but these deductions should also have been made from the $100,000 figure. If this procedure had been followed the question on the ballot would have indicated a debt increase of $55,000.

Under the wording of the ballot, the voters approved a debt increase of only $27,147.28.

Another major error contributing to the downfall of the Board's plans is found in the manner in which the election for approval of the bond issue was advertised.

The law provides that such advertisements shall be made at least once a week for not less than thirty days preceding the date of the election. Such advertisements had been placed in the local papers for the weeks beginning April 11, 18, 25 and May 2, but had not appeared during the week of May 9. The State Supreme Court has ruled in previous cases that such advertisements must occur during the thirty days immediately preceding the election. Hence the advertising in this instance was not legally and properly done.

Bids for the construction of the building were opened on November 19 and the contracts were awarded—the total amount of the contracts being $27,555.

A copy of all proceedings to date was sent for review to Burgin, Scully & Churchill, noted Pittsburgh bond attorneys, who offered their opinion that the two errors referred to were probably fatal to the issue. Conference with officials of the Department of Internal Affairs at Harrisburg, by whom all municipal and school district bond issues must be approved, resulted in discovery by them of the same errors. Deputy Edwards sought in every way possible to nullify the effects of the errors, but was forced to conclude that the issue could not be approved and consequently could not be advertised and sold.

Inasmuch as the School Board is left without means of financing its share of the building project, it is necessary to advise the P. W. A. authorities that acceptance of its offer of aid was withdrawn. With December 31 set by Congress as the deadline for starting projects under the present appropriation, it becomes a physical impossibility to make any provision before that date whereby the building program might be salvaged.

Future possible action has not been determined by the Board beyond expressing an intention to make as soon as practicable such changes relative to fire and sanitary regulations as have been ordered by the State Department of Labor and Industry and the Department of Health.

School officials yesterday held some hope that the Thompson plan building might yet become a reality. While negotiations are at a virtual standstill throughout the state there is some hope that the incoming State Administration might salvage at least part of the plan to aid distressed school districts.
