would extend the WPA program and thus make available new funds for the proposed building. It was pointed out, however, that by the time Congress has taken action it may be too late to complete the local financing of the program, so the Board has tentatively decided to hold the special election as early as possible so that if the Board can finance its share of the cost, WPA funds can be accepted immediately and the entire program speeded.

While the special election could be held in conjunction with the Primaries in September, the Board feels that to delay action until then would seriously jeopardize Bellefonte's chances of securing WPA aid in financing the new addition.

At the February meeting, it was indicated Monday, the recently elected borough solicitor, Musser W. Gettig, will be asked to launch preparations for the special election. Whether the amount to be asked for on the ballot will remain at $85,000 or whether that figure will be altered has not been revealed.

A representative of the Mills Mutual Life Insurance Company appeared before the Board to explain the features of a policy being issued by that company. Under the terms of the policy, if the school district gave the company at least a third of the total insurance, the company would make a complete survey of the value of buildings and contents, and would keep the survey up to date each year, providing a constant inventory of insurable property.

The Board granted permission to about 20 students of the State Farm agriculture to attend the State Farm Show one day next week. The youths will provide their own transportation and will be accompanied by the Vocational Agriculture instructor. It was reported that Paul Krape has won third prize in the state for his project book in dairy cattle in judging held before the opening of the State Farm Show, and that his project book will be on display at the show.

COUNTY COSTS REMAIN HIGH

Not that there's anything wrong in the procedure, or not that it isn't entirely legal. The only point upon which taxpayers may raise an eyebrow is that the Commissioners, through the reallocation of funds, claim substantial savings which exist only in their own minds.

The problem of breaking down the entire statement is no job for the layman, but fortunately it is not necessary to go that far to get a fair idea of the "savings" claimed by the Commissioners.

In 1937 the General Fund of the county contained the following expenditures:

Mothers' Assistance and Old Age Pensions	$10,637.89
Mothers' Assistance and Old Age Pensions	7,247.26
Non-County Institutions	4,319.30
Juvenile	1,895.90
Total	$24,091.35

In the "financial statement" released last week, the only expenses of the kind included in the General Fund were:

Juvenile	$ 90.75
Non-County	351.25
Institutions	422.00
Total	$822.00

Last year all Mothers' Assistance and Old Age pensions expenses were either paid by the State or by the Institutional District, with the exception of the items totaling $422.00 which were carried over from 1937, and which could not be charged to the Institutional District in 1938.

The inaccuracy of the Commissioners' statement becomes evident when it is seen that they included in 1937's expenditures a total of $24,091.35 for Mothers' Assistance and Old Age pensions, while in 1938 these expenditures were paid by the State or by the County Institutional District. In this manner the 1938 expenses of the county are shown by the Commissioners to be $23,669.34 less than in 1937.

A further difficulty in comparing costs in the two years arises from the fact that a separate statement is issued for the Institutional District.

The District account included many new items, many of which were formerly paid by the local poor districts. Without a complete breakdown of the District account, it is impossible to compare poor costs of last year with the cost of administering aid to the youths under the former township system.

13 Get Jail Sentences At Court Here

Thomas, of State College; William Earl Foxman, aged 20, of Lemont, and Blair R. Markle, of Pleasant Gap.

Thomas, whose residence is in Milton but who is working in State College, was arrested the day before Christmas in Harris township by Private J. J. Mignogna, of the State Motor Police at Pleasant Gap. The arrest was made about 3:30 o'clock when the officer noticed Thomas' car driving in a zig-zag fashion. The officer said that he noticed Thomas had an alcoholic breath, and that the man was pronounced intoxicated by a State College physician who examined him. Thomas told the court he'd never been in trouble before.

Poglem, the man who began 1938 in a bad way by running his car into a machine driven by Chief of Police Harry Dukeman, of Bellefonte, early on the morning of New Year's Day, was examined by a local physician and was found intoxicated. The Chief's car was not damaged in the collision which occurred on South Algherty Street.

Markle was arrested September 10 by State Motor Police officer E. E. Bailey, of Pleasant Gap, after the officer had received a complaint that Markle was operating his car while intoxicated. The officer drove along the road from Pleasant Gap to Bellefonte, and passed Markle going the other way. The police car turned into the driveway of the Markle machine to Hornstown, Pleasant Gap, where the arrest was made. A Bellefonte physician pronounced the driver under the influence of alcohol.

Walter Sidney Spackman, Port Matilda young man who saved his way out of the State College Borough lock-up December 17, and amazed the housewife turkey by appearing in his cell as usual the next morning, entered a plea of guilty to escaping and was sentenced to 30 days in jail.

Spackman, a personable young chap, fell foul of the State College law when he failed to answer a summons for parking overtime on State College's metered streets. Officers went to Port Matilda arrested him and took him to State College, where in a fine of $10 he was sentenced to serve five days in the lock-up.

Obtaining a saw from a fellow inmate, who Spackman identified in court as James Fulton, he escaped from the lock-up and got back in his cell some way the next morning.

In passing sentence on Spackman, Judge Walker told him that his apparent "prank" had increased not only his own record, but had also cautioned him against further violations of the law.

Andy Panik, Clarence beer garden proprietor, was before the bar of justice on two counts; one for selling more than 6 bottles of beer at a time, and the other for selling whiskey without a license.

The prosecutor was James A. Dutra, of the State Liquor Control Board, who was represented in court by a fellow officer, T. R. Tubbs.

Tubbs said that on November 6, he found Panik with a bottle of beer at 10 o'clock, and that on November 12 Panik sold them 2 drinks of whiskey. He was sentenced to pay the costs of prosecution and a fine of $100 or serve 30 days in jail on each of the two counts.

ROVER CREW HOLDS MONTHLY SOCIAL AT STATE COLLEGE

The Central Pennsylvania Rover Crew held its monthly social at State College last Friday night. Meeting at Rover Marshall Gates' home the group comprised a theatre party to the Catham theatre.

After the show they went to the Autoport for dancing and refreshments.

Among those in attendance were Roverettes Ruth English, Ann Hoops, Mary Turnbull, Geraldine Bener, Dalene Coble, Gunnel Blajme, Jane Shuey and Betty Shuey; and Rovers Foster T. Augustine, Leonard Friend, J. Robert Manery, Clair Stover, Bob Jones, Ted Bilger, Marshall Gates, Charles Coble, Guy Poorman, Joe Kofman and Reynolds Van Buskirk.

BLAINE BEATY, OF CLEARFIELD, CHARGED WITH DEFRAUDING MRS. MARY HARM, OF STATE COLLEGE, OF A $28 BOARD BILL, ENTERED A PLEA OF GUILTY AND WAS SENTENCED TO PAY THE COSTS AND SERVE 30 DAYS IN JAIL.

Blaine Beaty, of Clearfield, charged with defrauding Mrs. Mary Harm, of State College, of a $28 board bill, entered a plea of guilty and was sentenced to pay the costs and serve 30 days in jail. Beaty, 34, was arrested at Philadelphia, December 24.

Mr. Lutz, manager of the store, reported that he's been trying for some time to break up the practice of a group of men who take articles from the store and sell them at cut rates to secure money for liquor.

Brown, however, was arrested by chance. He had asked Officer Gustafson for a night's lodging, and the officer, while going back in the man's clothing, searched him. He found an electric toaster, gloves and pencils, and upon visiting stores to have them identified, called at the McCroory store where Lutz told him they had not been paid for.

Brown told Judge Walker that he had never been in trouble before, and that the property was returned to the owner. He was sentenced to pay the costs and serve 30 days in jail.

Paul C. Hazel, of Mt. Carmel, pleaded guilty to two charges of issuing worthless checks to State College residents, received a suspended sentence upon payment of costs and making restitution on one count, and was sentenced to pay the costs, restitution and serve 30 days in jail on the second count. A check issued to Leroy Eby was in the amount of $22.06, and the other, for $3.10 was issued to Shoemaker brothers. Hazel said he conducted a small restaurant in State College in 1937.

John Swineford, aged 19, and Glenn Keister, aged 27, both of Hubersburg, entered pleas of guilty to breaking and entering, and receiving stolen goods, respectively, in connection with the robbery of an October 29 of the Max Markle cottage near Hubersburg.

Those who are reported to have signed for the service are as follows: John P. Milligan Lucas, William McClure, Mike Fry, Edward Hayes, Orris Lucas, Raymond P. James, Fye, Charles Flax, Milford Fetzer, Charles Brown, Clair Shawley, H. L. Brown, Martha Burns, Mr. Phil C. Hall, Mrs. Phil C. Hall, and Charles J. Briggs.

Autumn conditions were excellent for handling sheep. Now breeding ewes should receive special care to insure a good healthy lamb crop. The average farmer expects a fleece and at least one good lamb from each ewe. If he loses that lamb through lack of feed and proper care, his income will be reduced by about 20 per cent, says County Agent R. C. Blaney.

A nourishing ration fed liberally will help the flock fender avoid about 75 per cent of the sheep troubles during winter and spring. The kind and amount of grain fed depends upon the condition of the ewes. Legume hays provide the best roughage, although timothy hay harvested at the proper time is very satisfactory.

Corn silage or roots fed in addition to a good legume hay is a satisfactory ration for breeding ewes. Do not feed more than 2 to 2 1/2 lb. of corn silage per ewe until after lambing. Oats and bran will help take the ewes through the winter in a strong condition.

Prosecuting Officers James Griffith and W. C. Myers, of the State Motor Police at Rockview, said that Swineford broke into the cabin and removed goods valued at about $10, giving them to Keister for safekeeping. Most of the loot was recovered at Keister's house, it was reported. Neither men has a previous criminal record, it was reported.

The Court sentenced each of them to pay the costs, make restitution for goods not recovered, and to serve 30 days in the county jail.

Capture Youths Who Fled School

Pennington. "They were too cold to talk."

The three who fled to the woods were identified by Pennington as Henry Tabroski, 17, of Sharpburg; Milton Roberts, 18, of Ingham, and George Pischke, 17, of Ingham. They had made a fire and were trying to get warm when the searchers came upon them. They offered no resistance.

All were returned immediately to the home.

Pennington said the boys had picked up an automobile on the highway to get away. When the searchers found them they all ran, but the "apparently colder" run as fast as the others, said Pennington, and was captured first.

The "minimum security block" is outside the institution's walls and is occupied by boys who have only a short time to serve. Pennington said the escape was the first from the block in several years.

Noting that the home "is very much over-crowded," because there are 1,300 youths confined in 1,000 cells, Pennington said:

"We'll always have escapes unless we run this place as a penitentiary—and we're not."

The new state industrial home under construction near Harrisburg at White Hall, Cumberland county, will alleviate overcrowding, he added.

the deceased. Members of the jury were: Robert Parnell, James Hoy, Michael Baker, Jr., C. P. Henzl, M. C. Musser and S. A. Hoffman, all of State College.

Miss Sarouy said her father had been in good health and in the past had received medical treatment for only minor illnesses. The power plant employees sketched Sarouy's work in the plant, told of the operation of the coal hoist, and enumerated the safety guards in place around the coal bin where the accident happened. They were at a loss to account for Sarouy's plunge into the coal chute.

After testimony had been heard, members of the jury visited the scene of the accident and then returned to the Koch home where the verdict was reached.

Funeral services for the deceased were held in St. Andrew's Episcopal church, State College, Saturday afternoon, with Canon Edward M. Frear officiating. Interment was made in the Phillipsburg cemetery.

Sarouy was a native of Morristown and is survived by his wife, Allice, and the daughter, Clemence, a teacher in the Harris Township High School, Boalsburg.

Congregation Honors Pastor On Birthday

On Friday night, January 6, a group of members and friends of the Seven Stars church gathered at the home of their pastor, Rev. Phil C. Hall, in Tyrone, and tendered him a pleasant surprise on the occasion of his forty-first birthday.

The evening was spent in playing games, singing hymns and choruses, after which Mr. Hall was presented with a purse for the purchase of a Bible. Refreshments consisting of sandwiches, pickles, cake, coffee and ice cream were served.

After many happy greetings and felicitations the crowd left for their homes, wishing Mr. Hall many more happy birthdays. Those present were as follows: Mr. J. F. Rossman, Minnie Rossman, Sarah Waring, Mrs. C. J. Briggs, Mrs. Anna Rossman, Mrs. G. G. Hutchison, Mrs. Mae McClvair, Mrs. Carns, Mrs. B. A.
