Banish the Wrinkles

To take the wrinkles out of a garment when in a hotel, hang it over the rack in the bathroom, close the door and windows, and turn on the hot water. Let it run until the room is filled with steam. Leave the garment hanging in this vapor for an hour, then open the room and let the article dry in the fresh air. The appearance of the garment will be freshened surprisingly.

A Cracked Dish

If a cracked dish is boiled for about forty-five minutes in enough sweet milk to cover it, the cracks will glue together and become invisible. The dish will stand almost as much ordinary usage as when new.

Winter Window Washing

A little salt added to hot water will permit you to wash windows even in the coldest weather without any danger of their freezing.

Rust Stains

Rust stains may be removed from washable garments as follows: Rinse the soiled garments in cold water, sprinkle the stains with lemon juice, then cover the stained area with a thin layer of salt. Let the garment or material lie in the sun for two days before washing it again.

Glazed Pie Crust

A glazed appearance can be imparted to the pie crust by painting it over with a pastry brush with cream or with beaten egg and water. Then bake in a hot oven for 20 or 40 minutes, according to the contents of the pie.

White Clothes

White clothes that have turned yellow can be whitened by putting boiling water in a vessel, and adding one teaspoonful of cream of tartar to each quart of water. Dip the garments into this solution several times, but do not let them remain. Rinse in two or three changes of water and hang in the sun to dry.

Seasoning Prunes

A much more delicious flavor will be the result if a small stick of cinnamon and several slices of lemon are added to your prunes while they are simmering.

Rough Dry Hands

Persons with rough dry hands will benefit greatly by soaking their hands in warmed olive oil for ten or fifteen minutes, about twice a week.

Soot on Hat

Don't attempt to rub soot off a light hat, or wet it. Just cover it thoroughly with dry salt and then brush off with a stiff brush. This will avoid any smear which is caused by other methods.

Care of Face and Hands

The face and hands will be whitened, and kept soft and smooth, if they are washed once a day with pure white soap and warm water, then washed in warm (not hot) buttermilk, or sour milk. Wipe lightly on soft cloth.

Cooking Odors

If the odor of cooking permeates the house, as it so often does, make a small cushion of pine needles and place it on a heated radiator in one of the rooms. In a short time a faint fragrance will replace the cooking odor.

Cleaning Picture Glass

Picture glass may be cleaned by using a cloth wrung from hot water and dipped in alcohol. Polish at once, until dry and glossy, with a chamois or tissue paper.

Black Ribbons

If the black ribbons are beginning to look wilted and shabby, stretch them out flat and sponge thoroughly with vinegar. Roll for a short time and iron on the wrong side. They will be stiff and fresh.

Stubborn Glass Stoppers

When a glass stopper has become stuck and fast, pour a little glycerine around the neck of the stopper and let it stand until it lifts out easily. This may take from half an hour to a couple of days.

TO Clean Sponges

Sponges can be thoroughly cleaned by first rinsing in very weak, warm, caustic-soda lye, then with clean water, and finally leaving the sponges in a solution of bromine in water until clean. They will whiten sooner if exposed to the sun in the bromine water. Then repeat the rinsings in weak lye and clean water, using the latter until all smell of bromine has disappeared.

Hardened Shoe Polish

A few drops of turpentine dropped into shoe polish which has become hardened will soften it.

Military Significance: The Super-Highway would be a major transportation artery in time of war. Men, munitions and the other materials of warfare could be moved across the State with the speed and efficiency that are so necessary in times of national stress. It should serve as a forerunner for other super-highways that may ultimately parallel the entire country, all of which will be indispensable in times of emergency.

Cost: The Super-Highway will cost roughly $61,000,000. It is financed by a grant of the P. W. A. for $25,000,000, and $36,000,000 in Turnpike Revenue Bonds. The latter are guaranteed by the R. F. C., thus placing no burden on the State funds that are earmarked for improvements and construction of existing highways. Through the tolls to be charged the highway will in time pay for itself and become the property of the State.

Account Books Provide Check on Farm Business

With the approach of another year, many Centre county farmers are making plans to close their present account books and open another reports. County Agent R. C. Blaney.

Keeping detailed financial records of the farm business provides information for a complete analysis at the end of each year. It shows which enterprises are proving satisfactory. A program can be planned for increasing the possible income by using more approved methods.

The first step in opening a farm account book is taking an inventory of the business. If this is done early in January, the farmer has ample time before the beginning of spring work to make necessary adjustments in his plans.

The inventory gives an excellent picture of the financial status of the farm. It places the farm on a business basis. It shows the value of the property. In case of fire, for settling an estate, for preparation of a credit statement, or in similar cases, it provides a list of all property. The farmer can determine from his inventory whether he is getting ahead financially.

Severe Cold May Injure Trees Pruned Too Early

If we could forecast accurately winter weather, we would know much more about the advisability of fall and early winter orchard pruning, says County Agent R. C. Blaney.

The two severe winters which we have recently experienced have shown that early pruning may seriously increase winter injury to fruit trees. This is particularly true with peach trees.

Observation following these severe winters indicate that it is wise to delay pruning until late winter, provided the work can be completed before the beginning of the growing season. However, large growers frequently find it necessary to start pruning in the fall to insure completion before the rush of spring work.

When early pruning is necessary, it is important to begin on trees least likely to be injured. This means pruning apples first and peaches last.

For Long Service Give Furs Special Care

Furs, like our own skins, need regular and specific care, Miss Helen S. Butler, home economics extension representative of Centre county, points out. Fur trimmings and fur coats collect dust, and because of their very nature, hold the soil and let it accumulate.

Heavy soil or soil collected from a season of wear, should be removed by an expert. Slight soil may be removed by rubbing coarse wool into the fur and brushing it out briskly. It is dangerous for inexperienced persons to try to use inflammable cleaning agents.

Observe these few important don'ts if you want your fur to give long service, Miss Butler urges. Don't rub fur against sharp objects, such as a purse, hat brim, or heavy jewelry.

Don't sit on your coat without loosening it so that there is no strain. Don't let your furs get soaked. If this should happen, take it to a furrier at once. Never dry a fur near heat; dry it in a current of air. Shake a fur coat by the hem and a fur scarf by the head to loosen damp fur and fluff the hair.
