Such articles as dresses, house-coats, undergarments, and smocks will be designed and made by the girls. Along with this classwork, the girls also are undertaking various home projects.

The sophomore girls are studying foods, as well as, child care and home sociability, which is a course in entertaining in the home. The junior girls will spend most of their time on clothing. They will make such apparel as silk dresses, evening dresses, and suits. They will also study units on family and social relationships, vocation and home economics in the business world, and activities for leisure time.

HOUDINI MOVIES TO BE SHOWN

The greatest of escape artists, Harry Houdini, will "do his stuff" on the screen in the High School Auditorium, Friday at 8 o'clock. This is a "real old fashioned movie thriller," presented for the benefit of the Sophomore class. The admission is five cents.

As the original movie is in serial form with fifteen chapters, it will be impossible to show the entire story. However, as many as possible will be shown in the time allowed. If the public likes this show, more will probably follow.

The story concerns the International Patents Corporation, which obtains patents from unsuspecting inventors, and then suppresses them. The thriller is provided by the deeds of the terrible "automaton," a mechanical man with a human brain, who appears now and then to terrorize the people of the corporation. This automaton even causes two of the men to catch the terrible "Madness Madness" a type of insanity.

Throughout the whole picture are the remarkable feats performed by Houdini himself, squirming out of a straight-jacket, saving himself from a watery grave in the ocean, and many others.

There is a chance to see the real Houdini in action, and also to see a genuine, old-fashioned, silent movie. Music will be provided between reels of musicians from the Sophomore.

DEAR DIARY

Thursday, February 2 Dear Diary, Oliver and I attended a comedy at Milesburg and what a good laugh. The leading character was Mr. Holt, he should be in Hollywood. The chorus girls made a big hit; they made the people sit up and take notice—my dear Oliver especially. The comedy was so good that I had to remind Oliver that he was with me, and that he was not allowed to go back stage.

DEAR DIARY

Friday, February 3 Dear Diary, There was a party held at Purcell's, but I didn't go because it was for the boys only. I sat at home that night, because Oliver went, and I felt like an outcast. It was my first Friday night at home for years. Oliver wouldn't tell me what they did, but I shall give him the third degree. He will come through, I hope!

DEAR DIARY

Saturday, February 4 Dear Diary, Boy, these freshmen basketball players certainly don't fool. They held a party at Anne Grove's and invited our star football and basketball players. It was some party. The guests played checkers, a new game, and danced to the radio. The party was such a success that plans for many more have already been discussed. The boys went home with their pockets full of candy. I think I should like that kind of party.

DEAR DIARY

Sunday, February 5 A surprise birthday party was held for Anne Peters on Sunday night at Milesburg. What a joke! Every one arrived at a different hour. She was taken by surprise for the last thing she expected was a birthday party. She received many nice gifts. Wouldn't I love to have one too!

DEAR DIARY

Monday, February 6 Dear Diary, Bing! Bang! Boom! Mr. Wion had better watch his hand, for some of the boys seem to be organizing a band of their own. Tonight I heard a terrible commotion outside, so I peeked out the window and there was Bob Wehr, Paul Eberhart, Bob Forstner, and Lynn Heverly going up the street playing their instruments. I couldn't quite understand the tune they were playing, but they certainly made enough noise.

DEAR DIARY

Tuesday, February 7 Dear Diary, I had a score: 41-12. I arrived at the gym in time for the boys' game, and I heard that the girls had put up a good fight in the preliminary. The boys never played better. I was on the edge of my seat all the time and now I can hardly talk, because I yelled so much. I am glad now I haven't have to recite in class tomorrow.

DEAR DIARY

Wednesday, February 8 There is always something to worry me. Today Bellefonte High School's pupils received their report cards and mine was one of them. Gosh! If it would only stand for excellent, I certainly would be a star pupil.

fully some Oriental customs, which Mr. Grathwell explained rather than we think are queer, but which really aren't when the real reason for their existence are known. His purpose was to try to acquaint us better with the Chinese and Japanese and thus prevent any possibility of war between the United States and Japan. It is evident that those who were present didn't begrudge the small sum of five cents which they contributed to hear Mr. Grathwell.

SENIOR CLASS ACTIVITIES

During the past few weeks the senior class have been discussing the possibility of undertaking a trip to the nation's Capitol. At this time the class shows great enthusiasm, the only discouragement being the lack of funds. In order to overcome this handicap, plans are being made for a roller skating party to be held in the near future.

THIS 'N' THAT

How does it happen that Bill Nolan and Francis McKinley know so much about cooking? Last week Bill gave his English class directions for cooking macaroni, and Francis told them how to fry eggs.

The Girls' class of the Episcopal Church, which is composed chiefly of high school girls, gave a supper February 8. The supper was a great success according to everyone present.

Miss Wolke, a popular teacher in the Allegheny Street building, has recently resumed her work in the school. She secured a nine weeks' leave of absence in order to take work toward a degree from Penn State. Miss Boss, a student at the College, substituted for her.

Miss Ebert, a commercial teacher of the high school recently severely hurt in an automobile accident, has returned with her parents to her home in Fiechtwood for a short stay until further examination by her physician.

Miss Carr and Miss Rosini spent the weekend of February 3 at their respective homes in Brookville and Dunlevy.

B. H. H. RAIDERETTES

BOW TO MILLHEIM The Bellefonte girls lost a hard fought game last Tuesday night to the more experienced Millheim who completely dominated the play in the first half. In the second half Bellefonte fought gallantly but could not overcome the early lead plied up by the leaders from Penns Valley.

GIRL SCOUTS ADOPT PROGRAM

The Girl Scout troops of Bellefonte have been contemplating a new program to be adopted in the near future. It consists of different interest groups, some of which are arts and crafts, music and dancing outdoors, and sports and games. The girls will be divided into these different groups according to their rank, whether second class, first class, or seniors.

BOOK REVIEW

"I Wanted Wings" by Beirne Lay, Jr. In this book the author tells of the making of an aviator and gives the reader some true experience of a pilot. The very feel of the air is in the book—the training, daily thrills, and the sensations of flying. When reading this book you re-live the experiences and thrills of the author, who began flying at Rindolph and Kelley Fields, Texas. Certainly all book lovers who enjoy a book full of excitement and thrills will want to read "I Wanted Wings."

MOVIE REVIEW

Movie fans, here's your chance to see that rowdy, rollicking, Romeo of the West, Jesse James, at the Plaza Theatre on the 15th, 16th, and 17th of February. Jesse James emerges brilliantly in Technicolor, as a friendly brigand, genuinely devoted to his aged mother. Jesse (Tyronne Power) and his brother Frank (Henry Fonda) rob trains in a clever persistent manner. Two-bit Jesse James excels modern movie gangsters in horse-back riding, marksmanship, and chivalry. Jesse treats his gun-moll (Nancy Kelley) with devotion, and is shot by a traitor while fondly regarding an embroidered vest motto that reads: "God Bless Our Home." After seeing this Hollywood version of the colorful Jesse James, we are convinced that you will agree it is one of the greatest pictures of the year.
